March in the Field, Vegetable and Flower Garden.

Steckler's Garden Manual for the Southern States gives the following instructions for March plantings. In the field sow sorghum, kaffir corn, hours, Mijo maize and Teosinte for green feed, also lespedeza and all varieties of clover and grass seed for hay and grazing, Irish and sweet potatoes should be planted, as well as field corn and broom corn, cow peas, Canada field peas, soja and velvet beans.

In the vegetable garden it is time to sow beets, radishes, early cabbage, kohlrabi, all varieties of lettuce, spinach, mustard, carrots, Swiss chard, leeks, celery for cutting, parsley, rocket, cress and chervil and towards the end of the month endive, bush and pole beans may be planted and towards the end of the month Lima beans, Squash, cucumbers, melons and okra should also be planted, waiting until the end of the okra, Peas may still be planted and tomatoes, eggplant and peppers should be set out and seed sown for a later crop. Sweet corn should be planted. In the flower garden sow balsam, zinnia, amaranthus, torenia, hahlia, cockscomb, cosmos, portulacca, brodiaea and sunflowers. Plant all bulbs as directed for January. Set out chrysanthemums for fall blooming.

Muskrats.

THE GAZETTE having received several inquiries from citizens of this parish concerning the trapping of muskrat. We furnish the law on the protection of Fur bearing animals, Act 79 of 1906.

Section 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Louisiana, That it shall be unlawful in this State to catch, trap or kill, or to pursue with intent to catch or kill, between the first day of March and the 15th day of November in any year, any other, beaver, mink, racoon or opossum.

Section 2. Be it further enacted, etc., That any person or persons violating the above provisions shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall on conviction thereof be fined not less than $10 nor more than $100, or imprisoned in the parish jail for not less than ten days, nor more than ninety days, or both at the discretion of the court, for each offense; provided, this shall not apply to farmers or others, killing minks, coons or opossums about their premises or cultivated lands to prevent depredation.

Section 3. Be it further enacted, etc. That any person reporting to any officer, authorized under the laws of this State, to institute a prosecution, any violators of this Act, shall receive as a reward for such report one half the fine levied and collected from the person so reported, and the remainder of such fine shall go to the public school fund of the parish in which the offense was committed.

There is no law forbidding the trapping or killing of muskrats. We are of the opinion that the destruction of the muskrat should be encouraged, in order to prevent the vast amount of depredation which they are doing to our lands and our farmers. The Police Jury of this parish has passed an ordinance protecting the alligator on that account being an enemy to the muskrat. We say to your good work, and as long as there remains a vestige of the muskrat, "Let us have his hide!"

River News

The great ball announced in our last issue to occur at Manuel Oscar Buras' on Mardi Gras night was pulled off in grand style despite the bad weather. Mr. Buras' new boat, the Standard was utilized by Mr. Buras in bringing the guests of the occasion all the way from Buras to Port Eads, the guests were all greatly delighted and didn't "go home till morning."

The school teachers from far down the river parts are reported to all have gone to New Orleans to meet Rex and his retinue.

Hon. Simon Leopold, who is always a hustler and now directing the closure of the Baptiste Collette Gap, reports that the work will be completed within ten days. The opening in the river bank has done much injury to the oystermen in that section and its closure is welcomed by them. "We are glad to say that the recent frozes and we have now every promise of an abundant orange crop this year. The success of the reinforced cement revetment used to protect the levees built by the U. S. Engineers in a few places on the Lower Coast is leading to its more general use here and we shall hope for many miles of it within a few years.

More Plaquemine Enterprise.

The steampacket boat, El Rito, made her maiden trip in the Lower Coast trade on Thursday of this week. Captain Charles Straud was seen on the bridge and we understand he is to have full command. Doc Shuppert the well known river man is to have charge of the books and clerical force and the new venture starts out under favorable auspices.

The new boat is about 100 feet long by 30 feet beam and contains comfortable quarters for passengers and fine large freight room. The motive power is got with 150 H. P. Fairbanks Morse gasoline engine. The enterprise has behind it some of our most active and able merchants, truck growers and oyster men and promises to be a success from the beginning. Notwithstanding this new venture we believe there will be a good business for all, and we must stand by our old friends while we welcome the new.

Advice. Give not vain hope a willing ear, Nor over idle fancy brood; To wise thought give your care, Lest despair be thy bitter food.

Think well before you act, Think twice before you speak; The sooner you grasp this fact, Sooner will peace you seek.

Should friends you forsake Or ideals be rudely shattered, Let not bitter thoughts awake; Still have faith--all's not flattered.

Remember, e'en though our way, Is strewn with many a thorn, There are roses in life's spray Which will greet us ere the morn.

Let our faith remain unshaken, Hope sustain us o'er 'r Night's wave; Then, in time, we shall awaken In the morn that we now crave.

Then who will care for past regrets, For sighs and tears and patience worn; Will not all of this be left When near the Spirit of the Morn, Marie Perylethe

ARTICLE VIII.

No stockholder shall ever be held liable for contracts or faults of said corporation in any further sum than the unpaid balance due on the shares of stock owned by him, nor shall any mere informality in organization have the effect of rendering this charter null, nor of exposing a stockholder to any liability beyond the amount due on his stock.
