

Shaking! Aching!! Shivering!!! Quivering!!!!

THAT'S malaria. Malaria is murderous. It kills the vital powers. To cure malaria you must do more than stop the shaking and aching. You must stamp out the last spark of disease and put back into the body the strength and vigor that disease has destroyed.

OXIDINE

—a bottle proves.

does this so quickly and surely that it stands alone among malaria medicines as a perfect cure. It drives out Chills and Fever, and then begins its tonic action, rebuilding and revitalizing the entire system.

The tonic body-building properties of OXIDINE make it the most effectual of all remedies for disorders of Liver, Kidneys, Stomach and Bowels when these organs are failing in their functions.

If you want to cure malaria, get OXIDINE. If you are weak, get OXIDINE and be strong.

Literary Accuracy.
"You write of your hero as stealing home in the darkness," said the editor.

"Yes," replied the author.
"Well, you ought to know better than that. He couldn't steal home in the dark. If it was dark enough to be worth noticing the game would have been called."

How It Happened.
He was limping down the street with one arm in a sling and both eyes in mourning.

"What's the matter?" queried a friend. "Automobile accident?"
"No," replied the other, sadly. "I met a man who couldn't take a joke."

A Woman's Privilege.
"What is the latest thing in weddings?"
"Generally, it is the bride."

No matter how long your neck may be or how sore your throat, Haindins Wizard Oil will cure it sure and quickly. It drives out all soreness and inflammation.

MUCH PROFIT IN PHEASANTS

Agricultural Department of Government Says Birds Can Be Raised With Comparative Ease.

The agricultural department of the government says that pheasants can be raised with comparative ease, and that there is a great profit in the business if properly conducted.

The demand for these birds is constantly on the increase and the rearing of pheasants is an occupation that can be followed by women on farms where there is plenty of free range.

Reeves Pheasants.

A brushy hillside makes an ideal place for pheasant raising. The ground must be dry and the sitting nests must be well protected and the temperature kept even.

The staple diet for pheasants is cracked corn, whole wheat and small seeds, such as millet. They are also fond of carrots, onions, lettuce and the other greens.

The average price per pair is as follows: English and Mongolian, $5 to $10; Golden, $18 to $25; Reeves, $20 to $30.

SOME DEFECTS TO OVERLOOK

Frosted Comb of Fowl Does Not Deract From Breeding Qualities of Pure Breeds.

When buying pure-bred fowl for improvement, one need not mind certain defects, provided the birds are healthy and vigorous, as all defects are not transmitted to their progeny, writes A. E. Vandervort in Country Gentleman.

When the comb of a bird is torn or frosted, or the bird is injured in any way accidentally, it does not destroy the quality of the stock for breeding purposes, unless, of course, the birds are disabled entirely. An injured or frosted comb will not grow out again, but new feathers will appear on the body when moulting takes place. Any defect, however, that is inherited, or appears voluntarily, such as loped combs, crooked backs, wrong colored feathers in the plumage, etc., may be transmitted to the next generation. Minor defects may be overlooked, but defects that are indications of the impurity of the bred should not be allowed.

DOULTRY NOTES

In old weather there is no better feed than corn.

Intensive poultry keeping on heavy soils is a gamble.

It pays to rake the litter into piles several times a day.

Keep the cockerels by themselves until the breeding season, if it can possibly be done.

Should the farmer still continue to neglect the hen? That is a good subject for debate. Try it.

A realization of the value of a well-kept flock of poultry is of the greatest importance to the farmer.

The poultry yard should not be a place of drudgery, but should be arranged for comfort when being built.

Take your best pigeons to the shows the coming season, and let the people see what is being done in the fancy.

Plenty of sunshine, fresh air and clean fresh water will furnish all that is needed to handle any flock profitably.

We rob ourselves when we overfed our chickens; we rob the chickens as well as ourselves when we underfeed.

Buckwheat, fed sparingly, is a first rate egg producing grain. Care must be taken not to feed too freely, as it is very fattening.

Hens will always level a mound if possible, and if a few grains of something they like is scattered through the pile they will work all the harder.

Fix the drinking vessels so that the chickens will not get in the water to become chilled or they are more than likely to die in consequence.

To harden the shells so that the eggs will ship well, the hens should have ground bone, crushed shell, or lime, or all three at different times and at frequent intervals.

The consumption of eggs and fowls is rapidly increasing on the farm. With the retail price of ham at 23 cents per pound farmers will eat more eggs and less ham and bacon.

It pays to bank the hen houses and make the floors warmer for the feet—then look to plenty of litter. The best layers are the comfortable hens, and you know how it is with cold feet.

The Plymouth Rock breed makes an excellent general purpose fowl. It is a good layer, of delicious flavor for table use and is hardy.

MAN WHO HELPS HIS BROTHER

His "Boys" Call Him the "General Adviser Without Pay"—He is Partial to None.

When a man loves to live he usually can go among men who care little whether they live or not and do good. Such a man is Augustus E. Vaughan, immaculate of dress and of heart, venerable in years and usefulness, whom one may see almost any day either on Boston Common or at the Young Men's Christian Union.

His specialty is helping his fallen and discouraged brother, whether he be a cigarette-smoking boy or a rum-soaked and disheartened drinker of a man. His creed is cheerfulness and his passion is books.

Often one may see him tall and straight, faultlessly attired in a frock coat, with his flowing white beard and his long and carefully trimmed white locks, standing with or sitting beside some ragged and unkempt victim of circumstances who has sought the only place where the police will not tell him to move on, the Common, and then one is sure to be struck by the contrast. Many a man he has met there has later become as clean of body and heart as himself, and all through his infectious good nature and brotherly comradery.

Among the younger men with whom this old young man of 75 unceasingly labors he is known as "the general adviser without pay," and he is as interested in their ambitions as they can be, and so youthful is he in their presence that he is always one of them.

Mr. Vaughan is not engaged in active business this summer, but he comes to Boston every day, rain or shine, to talk with his "boys" as he calls them. Some of these have never before known a real friend. He is highly educated and counts among his friends many college presidents and professors.

He was born in Middleboro, nearly seventy-five years ago, and traces his lineage back to Peregrine White of Mayflower fame.

"I love to live," said he to me, "and I want to help the boys to enjoy living, too."

Why Do They?

Why women like the baldheaded man it is somewhat difficult to define. It may be because he appears to be thoughtful and kind.

Trustworthy and confident. Whimsical. Past the follies and trivialities of youth.

Usually successful. A man of property.

Optimistic who women like the bald headed man obtained by the Daily Mirror are as follows:

He is not silly like young men. He accepts refusals of marriage so nicely that one is sorry one did not accept him.

The bald patch looks so clean and nice. One would like to kiss it.

A doctor welcomes baldness when it comes to him, as it is a sign of sedateness and dignified learning, which invariably increases his practise.

Sense of Taste.

From a series of experiments recently made at the University of Kansas it is evident that the average person can taste the bitter of quinine when one part is dissolved in 52,000 parts of water. Salt was detected in water when one part to 640 of the liquid was used. Sugar could be tasted in 228 parts of water and common soda in 48. In nearly all cases women could detect a smaller quantity than men.

DON'T TAKE HARSH PURGES

They Are Very Harmful, Bond's Pills Are Gentle, and They Cure!

Bond's Pills are in no way similar to the cheaply made, irritating purgatives that are scattered broadcast over the country with all sorts of "guarantees" by unknown and untrustworthy makers.

Russia's Growing Population.

This year's census of the Russian empire adds another five millions to the population as enumerated in 1908. The czar's subjects now number 100,000,000 and increase every year by 2,500,000 despite wars, epidemics and internal disturbances. As there is no lack of cultivated soil in Russia there seems no reason why this big annual increase should not continue.

Progress in Railroadroading.

"Yes," said the lady whose dress case is covered with strange foreign labels, "the way railroads are run nowadays is a great improvement over what it was 50 years ago."

"But surely you had no experience as a traveler 50 years ago," says her friend.

"I don't mean that. But nowadays, don't you notice, when there is a wreck it is always had at some point convenient to a cluster of farm houses where the victims can go for coffee and to get warm?"

Does Your Cat Cough?

Don't pussy! As if the tumorous charges against her of keeping us awake at nights and of eating canary birds when we get the chance were not enough, the doctors have just discovered that for years she has been responsible for the spread of diphtheria. Dr. G. J. Ashburn of Manchester, England, having traced an epidemic of this disease in a suburb of that city to a pet cat belonging to one of his patients, has found, after much clever investigation, that all cats are peculiarly susceptible to diphtheritic affections of the throat. He has therefore recently been warning all families who own cats to watch them carefully, and if they develop coughs to forbid their being lugged and petted. Dr. Ashburn further recommends that if the cough persists and the cat begins to grow thin to have the animal destroyed at once. The only really safe way, he says, is to let the first whoeeze be puss's death warrant.

SAVED OLD LADY'S HAIR

"My mother used to have a very bad humor on her head which the doctors called an eczema, and for it I had two different doctors. Her head was very sore and her hair nearly all fell out in spite of what they both did. One day her niece came in and they were speaking of how her hair was falling out and the doctors did it no good. She says, 'Aunt, why don't you try Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment?' Mother did, and they helped her. In six months' time the itching, burning and scalding of her head was over and her hair began growing. Today she feels much in debt to Cuticura Soap and Ointment for the fine head of hair she has for an old lady of seventy-four."

"My own case was an eczema in my feet. As soon as the cold weather came my feet would itch and burn and then they would crack open and bleed. Then I thought I would flee to my mother's friends, Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment. I did for four or five winters, and now my feet are as smooth as any one's. Ellsworth Dunham, Hiram, Me., Sept. 30, 1909."

Tribute to Painter's Skill.

One of the still life paintings by Jan van Huysen in the museum at The Hague was recently injured, but it is believed the perpetrator was neither vandal nor thief.

The picture represents a basket of fruit on which a number of insects have gathered. On a pale yellow apple, which is the centerpiece in the cluster of fruit, is a large fly, painted so true to nature, so say the officials of the gallery, that the canvas was injured by some one who endeavored to "shoot" it and brought his cane or hand too close to the canvas. "A tribute to the painter's genius," says the letter recording the fact, "for which the work had to suffer."
