

PARISH NEWS.

Pointe-a-la-Hache.

The thirty-eight miles of shell road in Plaquemine parish was inspected this week by Engineer W. E. Atkinson in charge of the highway division of the State Board of Engineers.

The trapping season will come to a close on Saturday. From every standpoint it was the most unfavorable in a number of years, the majority of those engaged in the business having lost money this season.

President Alexander, Commissioner Dayries and others connected with the State Conservation Commission, made an inspection trip on the lower Mississippi this week on the yacht Daisy.

A telephone message received here on last Friday afternoon announced the death of Mr. Leon P. Peterson, of New Orleans. He was a son of Mrs. Chas. E. Erath and a brother of Mrs. E. A. Favret of this town. Much sympathy is expressed for the relatives of the unfortunate young man in his tragic death.

The Gazette is requested to announce that a fair will be given at Arnoie's Hall at Doullut's Canal on Feb. 14th for the benefit of St. George's Chapel, given by the ladies of the Altar Society. A New Orleans band will furnish music.

Hon. John T. Michel, of New Orleans, was among the visitors to Pointe a la Hache last Sunday.

The Favret hotel is being improved and repaired. An addition to the dining room will be the main feature.

The Burrwood and Other Schools.

The subjoined letters explain themselves and show the progressive spirit of Judge G. W. Desledernier and Mr. J. D. Coleman in regard to the Burrwood and in fact in regard to all the schools in this parish and we hope all the honorable members of our Parish School Board will display the same keen interest in these matters and that we shall soon have Plaquemine parish up to the highest standard of any country parishes in the state.

Addressing Mr. J. D. Coleman, School Trustee at Burrwood, Judge Desledernier said under date of January 14, 1914.

Dear Friend:—I am sending you under separate cover a magazine giving details for sanitary fixtures in schools and would earnestly request your cooperation for the installation of same in the J. D. Coleman school building at Burrwood, La. I know you to be a progressive friend of education and sanitation and anticipate the pleasure of having the school there install the first sanitary fixtures in the parish. Thanking you for an early reply I am Yours very truly,

Geo. W. Desledernier, 4th ward Member of School Board.

To this Mr. Coleman responded under date of January 19, 1914, as follows:

Dear Judge:—Your letter relative to installation of sanitary fixtures in schools of this parish received, and I wish to commend you ever ready and active interest in all matters pertaining to comforts and education of the little ones of the parish. Your suggestions along line of hygiene in our schools are very good and worthy of special notice, and I wish to assure you that my best efforts will be brought to bear to help you in your very laudable work. Very respectfully, J. D. Coleman, Trustee.

LOUIS INGRAHAM.

Hingle-Cosse.

A social event of unusual interest was the marriage of Miss Elise Cosse to Mr. Wiltz Hingle, which was celebrated on last Saturday evening at half past five o'clock at St. Thomas Catholic Church, Rev. John Eyraud officiating. The ceremony was witnessed by a large number of friends and relatives of the happy young couple. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ovide Cosse Sr., and is a young lady of many charming endowments. The groom is a son of the late Henry Hingle, of St. Rosalie plantation. The Lower Coast Gazette extends congratulations and wishes for them a long, useful and happy life.

The Consolidated School as a Community Center.

The great adaptability of the good consolidated country school for community service and rural life regeneration cannot be too strongly emphasized. Wherever it has been established, in practically every instance of the two thousand cases now on record, this attribute has been illustrated. The fear is usually entertained that the consolidated school will break down community feeling through the removal of local district schools but this is exactly what it does not do. The consolidated school builds up the country community as no other institution of rural life has yet done. It even defines community boundaries and establishes a community sense where none has existed before. It overcomes petty jealousies, swallows small differences, and enlarges and intensifies the community idea into something significant and tangible. It brings neighbors on opposite sides of the hill together, introduces those who live on different roads, forces the civil meeting of families "that haven't spoken since the war," and in every way furthers the progress of the brotherhood of man among country people. All this the consolidated school accomplishes through its marvelous possibilities for every form of education and enlightenment.

The consolidated country school in its complete and fully adapted form is the best solution of the country school problem yet devised. Not children only, but adults as well are reached by its future development in the days of hard roads, electric car lines and automobiles can scarcely be appreciated at the present time. Six million country children, it is estimated, will eventually come under its influence. Though good today, the consolidated school of the future, which shall arise to meet the needs of these children will be better still. In the first place it will have worked out its salvation in terms of the life about it and will be neither an ungraded group, like many of the one teacher schools of the present, nor a lock step machine like the average city school. It will be beautifully housed and charmingly located in the very heart of God's out of doors. Its music will be the song of birds, the murmur of trees and the laughter and shout of happy childhood.

Notice.

I hereby give notice that I will apply to the Police Jury of the Parish of Plaquemines for a license to operate and conduct a colored barroom at English Turn in this Parish.
