SATURDAY, DECEMBER 12 1914.

The Celebration of January 8, 1915.

THE Louisiana Historical Society, under whose auspices the work is being carried on, is arranging for a splendid celebration in New Orleans on January 8, 9 and 10 of the One Hundred Years of Peace between English speaking nations which was begun by the success of Gen. Jackson in the famous battle on the field of Chalmette January 8, 1815.

A considerable number of delegates from foreign countries and the various states have answered the invitations of the governor of this state to join with us in this celebration and under the guidance of President Gaspar Cusachs of the Louisiana Historical Society and Hon. T. P. Thompson, chairman of the General Committee, extensive arrangements are now making to celebrate in New Orleans. The program will cover the unveiling of a tablet on the Jackson monument on the Chalmette battlefield, the opening of a Battle Abbey, the Te Deum at the Ursuline Convent, which has occurred regularly every 8th. of January since 1815, a big banquet, a Military Reception at the Athenaeum with dances of the period a grand parade and will close with a special celebration at Jackson Square, reproducing the event in 1815 when General Jackson was crowned with laurels by the ladies of New Orleans and his splendid victory at Chalmette celebrated by a grand pontifical mass in the great cathedral facing the square. Archbishop Blenk has consented to impersonate Abbe DeBourge who officiated in 1815. The details of this feature of the celebration are all being carefully worked up and will make as nearly as possible a replica of that great celebration of January 1815. It is also contemplated to have a big band concert and fireworks at Jackson Square during one of the nights of the celebration.

In this celebration the whole English speaking world is really interested. While peace was declared by the treaty of Ghent several days before the great battle of Chalmette, yet no news from Europe in those days could reach America for weeks and the battle and the American success in it confirmed the wisdom of the treaty of peace and the century that has followed between these English speaking peoples, as displayed by the rapid development of the earth insofar as it was under the control of these people, a development rapid in industrial results as well as in the general betterment of mankind.

We shall hope that the Parish of Plaquemines will overflow into New Orleans in these days of January 8, 9 and 10, 1915 and do its full part in this great celebration.

Pay Your Poll Tax.

THE electors of the Parish of Plaquemines should now consider the fact that only a few days remain during which they can pay their poll taxes for 1914 and thus become qualified electors for the election of 1915 and 1916, which cover the coming gubernatorial and presidential elections.

It has been singular to notice in New Orleans that some of the most conspicuous citizens of that great city overlook the necessity for paying this tax promptly and when held up at the polls for non payment they stand shocked at their own carelessness. The Parish of Plaquemines has always been conspicuous in the political life of this state and to maintain that conspicuity and to secure the incidental influence brought to it by the ability and energy of its people, the parish should cast a full vote at every election and now but a few days remain to cover the poll taxes that will qualify the electors for the coming year and the following one. A word to the wise ought to be sufficient.

The War in Europe.

WE are constantly asked what we think of the war in Europe; when will it be over; what will be the results? No man living can answer these questions. There are more factors involved in the present great European war than have ever been involved in any previous war of which we have any knowledge. The combats of the past fall into insignificance when compared with the millions of troops of our great civilized nations now in the field, engaged apparently in a life and death struggle, with thousands or hundreds of thousands of them killed or disabled and dying from wounds and disease.

The situation to every thinking person is one of the most deplorable of which our humanity can conceive and yet we recognize as laudable the ambition in man that leads him to seek higher individual levels, to seek the precedence over other people and their final control. It is the same with nations as with men and the early history of Europe gives the record of the invading armies from Asia which destroyed the ancient indigenous civilizations and brought new people into Europe from the great plains of Central Asia, whence it is presumed we have derived ours of the modern world.

As it is we can only look on in sorrow at the great conflict and await its final results which may not be developed for another year or may occur as the results of some great victory at any time.

Shipments of oranges and other California fruit will be delayed from two weeks to a month longer than has been the case in the past by a ruling just made in regard to the amount of sweetness the fruit must attain on the tree.

To prevent the interstate shipment of immature citrus fruit, which has been colored by sweating or exposure in warm, moist air to an extent that will conceal its inferiority, the Department of Agriculture has issued an announcement defining the minimum of sweetness that oranges must attain on the tree, if later sweating is not to be held to conceal inferiority.

In the past much immature fruit colored by sweating has been shipped. The law prohibits the coloring of any food product so as to conceal inferiority, and shipments of fruit so colored have always been prohibited. The announcement is as follows:

"The Bureau of Chemistry has received requests to define the terms immature and maturity as used in food inspection decision 133, relating to the coloring of green citrus fruits.

"As a result of the investigation carried out during the season of 1913 and 1914, the Bureau of Chemistry considers California oranges to be immature if the juice does not contain soluble solids equal to, or in excess of eight parts to every part of acid contained in the juice, the acidity of the juice to be calculated as citric acid without water or crystallization. Owing to the fact that opportunity has been given to study the composition of California oranges during one season only, the ratio set at this time is lower than that which is believed to be the minimum for properly matured fruit. It may therefore, be expected that the requirements will be made more strict after data from several crops are available.

A Clever Autobiography of a Popular Writer.

I was born November 28, 1858, in New York. That's why they had the blizzard. I lived abroad—England, France, Italy, Spain—until I was six. I had to learn English. A sudden slump in the family fortune left us very poor when I was twelve. I never went to school. My education was gleaned entirely from reading books I obtained from the public libraries, under the direction of William Dean Howells, my dear friend, who was the first person to discover I could write.

My, what a lot I read! I taught myself to read and to write. When I was eleven years old I wrote my first story, and won a prize with it. It was called "Chickens," and won a New York Herald prize competition. My family did not want me to write, even after this, and did everything to discourage me, even to destroying my work and keeping me without car-fare, because they knew I'd walk and buy pads and pencils with the money.

I was very poor from the time I was twelve until I was seventeen, during which period I worked for a time as a milliner to help support my family. It was at this time that I first became interested in women's work, and more especially women's clothes, and undoubtedly it was then my revolt about clothes began.

Then at last my family obtained some money—a lot, too—and, lo! I was wonderfully gowned and introduced into society. I had a year of it! A wasted year!

Then I married—at nineteen—and began to write like fury. Always, since I was eleven, I have written, and although the work was scattered, I am deeply interested in all sociological work, and have had my nose in almost every queer corner of little old New York. I know all kinds of people, mentionable and unmentionable, and I am their friend. I care about them—I have done the work of many of them, and I want most of all to know more. I can understand their positions a little, because I, too, have worked with my hands and have been hungry, without knowing where to look for tomorrow's food. Some day I'll write a story about them that will make folks sit up and take notice—because I know about this town.

The Impossible Boy is a tentative forerunner—and in it I have tried only to write about one phase of the city—the wonderful romantic glamour which I never fail to find in it and which people have wrong-headedly attributed only to Paris.

My intimate acquaintance with old Greenwich village was what led in part to my inspiration for the story, but the real reason, always, for my writing is that I feel I'd like to know certain kinds of people, who do such and such things, and if I can't find them, I simply write them—make them!
