The total number of deaths, as shown above, is six hundred and thirty-nine whites and one hundred and twenty colored.

Many a person tries to shun his responsibility of a public evil by shutting his eyes to the sight of it.

The person who will not believe is particeps criminis in a crime repeated.

Watch the State Central Committee: Yea, verily, we say unto you, watch!

Rev. W. S. Penick.

To-morrow Rev. W. S. Penick will preach his farewell sermon to his congregation and friends at the First Baptist Church; and no doubt a large congregation will fill that sacred sanctuary.

It is to be regretted that Dr. Penick is to leave Shreveport. THE PROGRESS feels that in his departure morality will have lost an able champion, the church a strong preacher, the Gospel here an earnest, eloquent advocate.

Dr. Penick is naturally a man of great force; his impress will always be found in any community to which he connects himself. He is a scholar, a student, a teacher, rich in stores of knowledge, cultured in the dispensation of these gifts to the betterment of society and the psychological forces of the human family. A polished gentleman, genial, courtly, charitable in the two great senses of material gifts and love of the family of man, he has endeared himself to the citizens of Shreveport, who love him for what he is, for the good that he has done.

It will seem strange that Dr. Penick is no longer a citizen of Shreveport; that his commanding figure will be seen no more on our streets; his cheery laugh and handshake greet the young men in their places of business no more. The young men! Yes, he is a friend of the young men. He can be and is their companion and counselor in one. They love to have him call around and talk with them. They feel better when he has done so. Aye, truly, the young men love, admire, reverence Dr. Penick, and it is a sad thing to them that he must go.

Rev. William S. Penick will leave Monday for his future home in Elizabeth, North Carolina, and he and his family will carry with them the high esteem of our people generally, all of whom rejoice that their new home will be a pleasant one, among a cultured people and a splendid church membership.

Mrs. Penick will also leave a void that will be noted with pain and her friends will sadly miss her in her mother's sphere, and as the pastor's wife, she has well and ably filled the position. The lady church workers know her and appreciate her great worth. In the religious-social circle she was a prominent character, and as a meek, earnest, consistent Christian worker she was most invaluable.

May the God of Grace ever watch over Brother Penick, wife and children, wherever they may go, is the earnest wish of the writer, who believes he is a better man intellectually and spiritually for having known Dr. Penick.

Important to Horse Owners.

The foot is the most important member of the animal's body; the value of a horse depends upon the condition of his feet. Hence no foot, no horse. As the remedy lies with the owner it is for him to decide who shall do his shoeing.

COTTON.

Present quotations of Cotton are low, regarded by experts as being near cost of production; hence the preference of some, perhaps many, to hold rather than selling at present prices.

Being assured of this fact by correspondence reaching me daily, I take this method of giving notice to the public, and especially those who have addressed me, that I am prepared to advance Cash or Groceries, or both, on all Cotton that may be shipped me with request to hold; will take pleasure in liquidating maturing obligations of planters or merchants in the interior that may be payable at Shreveport, or by exchange on New York, St. Louis or New Orleans. Or cash may be drawn on drafts attached to bills of lading covering cotton.

My charges are reasonable, and storing facilities unsurpassed, and the lowest existing rate of insurance in Shreveport is secured.

Will be pleased to further correspond with shippers of Cotton, either for sale on arrival, or for storage for an indefinite length of time.
