"WE WANT NO NEW SOUTH."

Wild enthusiasm greeted Mr. Lane when he said "We want no new South. We can not improve upon the old." The "vets" cheered lustily, waving by the convention as it had not been stirred before. He wanted to stop several times but each time there were yells of "Go on!" "Don't stop!" "We want you to talk to us." He continued for a short time, telling several anecdotes which caught the crowd. Courier-Journal.

Mr. Lane was addressing the Vets in Louisville when he declared "We want no new South. We can not improve upon the old." He is right. We want no new South; we can not improve upon the old with all its tender memories, and its glorious history recorded by George Washington, by Thomas Jefferson, by Andrew Jackson, by Robert E. Lee. What can the new South, so-called, offer which can surpass or excel these ideals which are immortalized in the love of their countrymen? The "new South" is an innovation, a catchword designed to pander to the prejudices of the North. It was dictated in a spirit of commercialism and is a reproach on deeds of the men—the heroes of the South—who struggled for the great principle of States' rights. There can be no "new South" until the South (not the old South) is obliterated from the face of the earth.

One of the serious phases of the present resolute endeavor to root out crime and drive the criminal classes from this city is the leniency with which the judges of the inferior courts are prone to treat offenders who are brought before them.—New Orleans Picayune.

Indeed, it is more than serious, as such criminals become emboldened when assured the leniency of such magistrates. The magistrate who will blink the eye at such criminals, or impose nominal fine, with the view of making himself popular with criminals and their associates is a dangerous man in a community. His influence for evil, under the guise of law and justice, is demoralizing to law and order and emboldens the class inclined to defy the law.

The recent assassination of Mr. Delany, the Greek Premier, is deplorable. He was stabbed fatally at the threshold of the Parliament building, in Athens. He was the victim of a madman or crank who entertained a personal animosity. The loss of the premier at this time is a severe blow to Greece. He was generally popular.

The reunion of Confederate Veterans held in Louisville, Ky., was a success in which the Corn-feds and their friends rejoice. These reunions afford great satisfaction to those who attend and renew the friendships of years ago. If these annual gatherings are sentimental, they are incentives to high endeavor. In the cause of the South was centered all that which is dear to man, and the man without sentiment is a man without lofty aspirations. We trust the reunions will be held annually until the last Confederate shall be called to his heavenly rest. It is through these reunions that the younger generations are taught to recall the glorious deeds of their sires.

The Caucasian is pleased to note the prosperity of the Bossier Banter as evidenced by its size which has been increased to seven columns. The Banner is one of the best edited in what is called the country.

A Georgia boy led the West Point graduating class this year. The South will be heard from again when another war comes in this country.—Mansfield Journal.

This is in keeping with the record of the past. It is simply history repeating itself.

Will France and Germany collide over the issue involved in the Moroccan dispute? Doubtless diplomacy may avert a war, and the relations between the two nations may continue to be amicable if not loveful. A conflict between France and Germany would, perhaps, precipitate other nations in the settlement of the dispute by force of arms.

The Plain Dealer, published in Plain Dealing, Bossier parish, is authority for this statement: An observant Georgia editor has discovered that the churches are all built too large for prayer meeting and too small for weddings, which reminds us that a tramp once said that he was too light for heavy work and too heavy for light work.

The Hague has finally been chosen as the place at which will be held the peace conference between the representatives of Japan and Russia. It is to be hoped there will be no flash in the council and that an armistice will have been reached before Oyama and Linovitch engage in battle, which appears to be imminent.

A pistol toter in Texas was fined $200 and costs. But he was not a "prominent citizen."—Mansfield Journal.

He was, doubtless, a nigger or some poor white trash.

NEWS IN BRIEF

A Budget of Interesting Items Gathered by a Caucasian Representative.

A firm misunderstood while living was that unique character, Henry D. Thoreau. Of Jim Elliott Hubbard says: "Henry David Thoreau's place in the common heart of humanity grows forever and more secure as the seasons pass, and his life proves for us again the paradoxical fact that the only men who really succeed are those who fail. Thoreau's obscurity, his poverty, his lack of public recognition in life, either as a writer, or lecturer, his rejection as a lover, his failure in business, and his early death form a combination of calamities that make him as immortal as a martyr. Especially does an early death sanctify all and make the record complete, but the death of a naturalist while right at the height of his ability to see and enjoy—death from tuberculosis of a man who lived most of the time in open air—these things array us on the side of the man against unkind fate, and cement our sympathy and love. Nature's care forever is for the species and the individual is sacrificed without ruth that the race may live and progress. The dumb indifference of nature to the individual—this apparent contempt for the man—seems to prove that the individual is only a phenomenon. Man is merely a manifestation, a symptom, a symbol. Nature does not care for him—she produces a million beings in order to get one that has thoughts—all are swept into the dustpan of oblivion but the one that thinks; he alone lives, embalmed in the memories of generations unborn. The Thoreau race is dead. In Sleepy Hollow cemetery at Concord there is a monument marking a row of mounds where a half dozen Thoreaus rest. The inscriptions are all of one size, but the name of one Thoreau alone lives, and he lives because he had thoughts and expressed them."

"To him no vain regrets belong, Whose soul that finer instrument, Gave to the world no poor lament, But wood-notes ever sweet and strong. O lonely friend! he still will be A potent presence, though unseen, Steadfast, sagacious and serene; Seek not for him—he is with thee."

BEAUTIFUL CHURCH WEDDING.

The First Methodist church was thronged Wednesday evening, with friends and relatives to witness the marriage of Mr. John Wise Flournoy and Miss Lucille Christian McAfee.

The chancel was beautifully decorated with woodland smilax and white roses. Panicles of pink hydrangea gleamed like the primrose sky of youth against the glistening greenery of graceful foliage, and on either side of the altar creamy magnolia blossoms empearled in their deep green leafage made the scene most effective and beautiful.

A quartette of handsome ushers, Messrs. Spence Flournoy, Ed Herndon, Hutchinson and Marshall were busy assigning seats, escorting relatives and special friends to the wings, while the seats facing the altar were reserved for the bride's mother and her immediate family. Seats of honor for the Caddo Rifles were also reserved, these being marked with small flags of the "star spangled banner" tied with the national colors. When Captain Davis with his fine body of men entered the church the military tread caused every head to turn and many compliments were bestowed upon the handsome bearwig of the company. The presence of the Caddo Rifles in a body was a special mark of respect to the groom, who is a member of the company.

Mr. Reams was at the organ. His music, always beautiful, was more tender and soul-stirring than usual. Finally the note of harmony and melting tenderness changed to one of triumph, and down the aisle on the right came the charming young matron of honor, the bride's sister, Mrs. Dan Herndon, and on the left came the best man, Mr. Bob Hanna. Then the lovely bride advanced leaning on the arm of Judge T. F. Bell, a life-long friend of her family, and was met at the altar by the proud and handsome groom. The troth of the happy lovers was plighted, Dr. Boggs, pastor of the church, officiating.

At the close of the ceremony and when the deeply solemn benediction had been pronounced, the bride's veil was thrown back by her sister, and the newly wedded pair passed out to tread life's pathway together "for better for worse, for richer for poorer, in sickness and in health, to love and to cherish till death us do part," said the preacher.

The bride was attired in a charming costume of white china silk, accordion plaited skirt. The long illusion veil was fringed with orange blossoms, the left-hand bouquet was of bride roses and maidenhair fern.

The bride is the second daughter of the late John W. McAfee, a highly respected citizen of Caddo parish for more than twenty years. She is well known and beloved and greatly admired by all for the sweetness of her unostentatious nature and her thoughtfulness.

The groom is the business manager of Hutchins & Brothers jewelry store, and one of the most popular of Shreveport's young business men.

Mrs. McAfee entertained in her home the bride and groom and particular friends, with the hosts of departing guests and they set out on their honeymoon trip for Niagara and Canada. On their return they will be at home to friends at 222 Stenger avenue.

THE SUMMER SCHOOL.

The first week of the summer school, which opened at the central high school building Monday, ended with an enrollment of eighty teachers. Nine parishes are represented in the attendance through the teachers are mainly from Caddo, Bossier and DeSoto. The corps of city teachers were in full force, with few exceptions; several have been kept away by sickness and several are attending schools in other places. Miss Peterson is at Knoxville, Tenn.; Miss Hughes at Oxford, Miss and Miss Owens is in Indiana doing special work.

The subjects taught and by whom are as follows:

Prof. W. Edgar Taylor, who is also the conductor, has the science course, consisting of pedagogy, nature study and geography.

Mr. E. B. principal of high school at Bunkie, is doing excellent work in history, arithmetic and grammar.

Mr. Jenkins of New Iberia gives instruction in physiology, reading, arithmetic.

Miss Flint of the State Normal has literature, music, language.

Miss Bessie Russell of the State Normal has charge of the practice school with an enrollment of forty children.

The last two weeks of the session Miss Grubbs, special teacher of the Prang drawing system, will be present and explain the course to the teachers. The Prang drawing books are among the new State adoptions and it will be of interest to have daily lessons and explanations from one thoroughly prepared to give them.

The work in the various branches is exceedingly interesting, and the attention and preparation of the student teachers are very best. With the thermometer at white heat these June days it is a somewhat difficult matter to keep up enthusiasm and interest in study, but a visit to the school will prove that it is done, and that the teachers are doing thoroughly the work required of them.

Prof. Taylor is well known and is exceedingly popular as teacher and conductor. The members of his faculty, with the exception of Miss Russell who is one of the most charming and popular teachers in the State, are new to those in attendance, but they are instructors of ability and give entire satisfaction. The enrollment as taken from the register is as follows: Misses L. Williams, Keithville; M. Williams, Longstreet; Blandie Rogers, Grand Cane; T. Norman, Haughton; N. Luman, Leeville; A. Ragan, Surrey; B. Yarbrough, Teel; G. Rowe, Longstreet; L. Boland, Coushatta; G. Woodruff, Mansfield; B. Hudson, Red Land; Lewis Vaughn, Waskon; M. Hunt, Mansfield; Anna Henderson, Keithville; W. Cochran, E. Cansarphome, Plain Dealing; A. Huey, E. Wilson, Pelican; Fay, Holstine, Gibland; I. Thomason, Vivian; E. Buckner, Alden Bridge; E. Peters, Winnfield; M. Purcell, Bolinger; M. Newton, W. Barnes, Blanchard; T. Humphries, Mooringsport; N. O. Humphrey, G. Gardner, Plain Dealing; L. White, Benton; A. Thompson, Belcher; B. Hollis, J. Graves, Keithville; C. Johns, Frierson; E. Jameson, Haughton; B. Currie, Latex; B. Tillinghast, Mooringsport; E. L. Williams, Keithville; Miss A. Z. Murphy, Mansfield; E. Phillips, Flournoy; I. Means, Glosier; S. Jennings, Bienville; E. Shaw, Grand Cane; E. Pitts, Grappes Bluff; L. May, Marthaville; J. D. Barber, Ida. From the city schools there are Misses Howell, Soape, M. Dingle, M. Woodward, M. Scofield, B. Fowler, H. Barthoff, J. Wolf, M. Basch, G. Hutchens; C. Vestal, S. Owens, M. Her, M. Corbett, L. Harris, C. Scott, M. Bains, J. Gill, I. Leaton, J. Spearing, M. Gilmer, M. Trippet, Mattie Scofield, H. Schuster, Mrs. Tomkies, Mrs. Hicks, Miss Austin. Of the 80 teachers enrolled 77 are ladies. All honor to the three gentlemen that hang on to the profession, for a while at least. These are Messrs. C. C. Whisenant, B. Heard of Converse and A. S. Walton of Garfield.

The ranks of men teachers are thinning every year. The reason is plain. Teaching is poorly paid, and they will not go on year by year drudging for a mere living. So they teach for a while to make money to prepare themselves for their life work; and sooner or later the men leave and enter the professions or business. Thus the education of the children is almost entirely in the hands of the women. They look no higher, they want nothing better, they are patient, loyal, devoted to their work, yet whenever there are men in competition the preference is given to the masculine, though it may be certain that he is using the school as a stepping stone to his desires for other achievements. This is, and will be, so long as the end of man. Man's work is more highly esteemed and better paid than woman's, hence the men will not stay.

THE MOTHERS' UNION.

The annual meeting of the Mothers' Union, held on Friday afternoon at the High School. After the reading of the treasurer's report and acceptance of program of Year Book by the officers took place, and reported as follows: President, Mrs. Frank McGinnis; vice-presidents, Misses Hattie Wilson, Hattie Tomkies and B. H. English; recording secretary, Mrs. Arthur Eakin; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Nathan Tomkies; assistant secretary, Mrs. Betty Eakin; Mrs. H. J. Campbell; parliamentarian, Mrs. A. B. Avery.

The Mothers' Union is a new organization, having lived just one year of active life. It has, however, done much in this time, and can claim the credit of having put into practical operation industrial work for girls. The scope of the Mothers' Union is broad and helpful, and we are sure that much good will come to Shreveport by their efforts.

NOTES AND PERSONALS.

Mrs. Lulu Armstrong, Hildrette, was in Jefferson, Texas, last week, where she gave a song recital Thursday night. Mrs. Hildrette was showered with roses and compliments and scored a great success as she always does. While in Jefferson Mrs. Hildrette was the guest of Mrs. James Armistead.

St. Mark's choir has sent out invitations to a musical service to be held by the choir this evening at 8 o'clock. The contribution will be taken up as a free-will offering for the choir. The doors will be closed during the singing.

Mrs. C. Blanchard is the guest of her son, Mr. James Ashton Blanchard, and wife, Mrs. Blanchard's friends are rejoiced to have her at home again, and trust that the rest and enjoyment in her old home will result in entire recuperation of her strength.

Mrs. Zella Hargrove Gaither of Texas was in Shreveport last week. Mrs. Gaither is a writer of fine ability and is at present successfully editing the Twin City Magazine, a most attractive publication.

Mineral Wells claims guests from Shreveport every week. Among the recent departures for that popular Texas resort is Miss Claud Atkins, one of Shreveport's belles and beauties.

Among the teachers attending the summer normal that are located in pleasant homes are Misses Rogers and Slaw of Grand Cane with Mrs. Stanley Adams; Messrs. Bush and Jenkins of the faculty at Prof. Byrd's home.

Miss May of Arkansas is the guest of Miss Julia Flournoy on Stoner avenue. Miss May was a special guest at the Flournoy-McAfee nuptials.

Mr. T. T. Land, Jr., is visiting Dr. and Mrs. Serpell of Arcadia.

We are indebted to our friend Prof. A. S. Dale, for the interesting programme of the closing exercises of Montgomery Bell Academy, Nashville, Tenn. Prof. Dale completed his second year as science teacher in the academy with the close of the session. In addition to this he has been advanced in his work and has been assigned the classes in French with increase of salary—a deserved recognition. Montgomery Bell is one of the finest boys' preparatory schools in the South, and those who expect to leave home to attend school can not find a better, higher graded all-round institution anywhere.

Dr. Glenn of Georgia, general secretary of Penology fund and ex-school commissioner, will deliver a lecture at the courthouse Tuesday at 8 p. m. Dr. Glenn is a noted and eloquent speaker. All are cordially invited to attend.

LUZENBERG AND O'MALLEY.

New Orleans States: "It was only natural that Chandler Luzenberg should be opposed to O'Malley. His father, long since deceased, had done all he could to put an end to the power which O'Malley exercised in certain directions. There is it was natural that when Mr. Luzenberg should be nominated O'Malley should oppose him. He feared Chandler L. Luzenberg while the latter was in office. O'Malley has right to hear his side, and influence and the influence of his name to prevent Mr. Luzenberg being placed on the regular Democratic ticket. Mr. Luzenberg favored on the nomination, but it is feared that it was not due to the election of O'Malley, but to the election of Governor Blanchard, named District Attorney Darson and to the majority of the ward leaders who are holding. While O'Malley was conducting a campaign of vilification against Mr. Luzenberg he made charges which he finally confessed himself unable to prove, asserting that O'Malley was attempting to establish in the district attorney's office, with no intention to reduce upon the integrity of Mr. Luzenberg. Mr. Luzenberg had promptly challenged O'Malley to make good his charges, but the defendant maneuvered. Mr. Luzenberg entered suit for damages and now the matter will reach the highest tribunal in the State."

JUST BEFORE THE BATTLE.

MOTHER.

Just before the battle, mother,
I am thinking most of you,
While upon the field we're waiting,
With the enemy in view,
Comrades brave around us lying,
Filled with thoughts of home and God,
Farewell! they know not what on to-morrow
Some will be beneath the sod.

Chorus:
Farewell, mother, you may never
Clasp me to your heart again,
But, Oh! you'll not forget me, mother,
If I'm numbered with the slain.

Oh! I long to see you, mother,
And the loved ones at home,
But I'll never leave our banner,
Till in honor I can come,
Tell the traitors all around you
That their cruel words we know
In every battle kills some soldiers
By the help they give the foe.

Farewell, mother, you may never
Clasp me to your heart again,
But, Oh! you'll not forget me, mother,
If I'm numbered with the slain.

Hark! I hear the bugle sounding,
'Tis the signal for the fight;
Oh! may God protect us, mother,
As He always does the right,
Hear the battle-cry of freedom
As it swells upon the air,
But, Oh! we'll rally round our standard,
Or we'll perish nobly there.

Farewell, mother, you may never
Clasp me to your heart again,
But, Oh! you'll not forget me, mother,
If I'm numbered with the slain.

THOMPSON, MOSBY & CO.

When it was announced Thursday morning that Thompson, Mosby & Co., proprietors of The Toggery, located in the Simon building on Texas street, had filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy and had closed their store, there was expressed surprise and regret by their many friends. The gentlemen of this firm had been engaged successfully in clothing and gentlemen's furnishing and had won great popularity by their frugal way of dealing with every one coming to their store. The firm in Shreveport was not embarrassed but was affected by the failure of Thompson Brothers at Yazoo City and Jackson Miss., and therefore it was deemed prudent, from a safe point of view, to take the action they did. In a short time all difficulties will be adjusted honorably and satisfactorily to all concerned and it is to be hoped the day is not far distant when the gentlemen will be actively engaged in business in Shreveport.

HOW THE VETERANS ARE HELD TOGETHER.

We go to our graves feeling that we were right. We are sure we did our duty. We have through all our lives and under every condition maintained our self-respect, and in old age now, we see we have the respect not only of those who fought against us, but of the whole world.—General Stephen D. Lee in his opening address.
