WEATHER BULLETIN

FORECAST OF STORMS TO CROSS THE CONTINENT.

COLD WAVE IS EXPECTED

Not Far From October Eleventh—Tropical Storm or Hurricane Anticipated about That Time—Heavy Rains Will Be one Feature of the Storm.

(Copyright, 1907 by W. T. Foster.) Washington, Oct. 5.—My last bulletin gave forecasts of disturbance to cross the continent 4 to 8, warm wave 3 to 7, cool wave 6 to 10. The next disturbance will reach the Pacific coast about 8, cross west of the Rockies country by close of 9, great central valleys 10 to 12, eastern states 13. Warm wave will cross west of the Rockies about 8, the great central valleys 10, eastern states 12. Cool wave will cross west of the Rockies about 11, great central valleys 13, eastern states 15.

All disturbances of this month will be of more than usual intensities. Tropical storms may be expected at any time, and the dates of this disturbance will probably be close to the dates for a tropical storm. When a hurricane is developing in the Caribbean sea south of Porto Rico or Hayti a great cool or cold wave usually develops west of Manitoa. I expect such a cold wave not far from October 12, and will be on the lookout for a tropical storm or hurricane about that time.

This disturbance of October 11 is expected to bring unusually severe weather on the continent and, following a great high temperature wave, the cold wave following will make us feel like putting on winter clothing. Some heavy rains will be one of the weather features of this storm and in northern parts heavy snows for the season.

But the cold will not long continue and high temperatures will soon return. The third disturbance of October will reach the Pacific coast about 14, cross west of the Rockies country by close of 15, great central valleys 16 to 18, eastern states 19. Warm wave will cross west of the Rockies about 14, great central valleys 16, eastern states 18. Cool wave will cross west of the Rockies about 17, great central valleys 19, the eastern states 21.

The principal features of this disturbance will be the great rise in temperature following the frost wave of the last disturbance. This warm wave will continue several days and the cool wave following will bring mild, not freezing, weather. Not much rain or snow with this storm.

I am expecting better weather in November for cotton picking and corn gathering, and whoever neglects to make good use of that good weather will be the loser, because of bad December weather to follow.

Those who must sell their old grain and cotton soon should dispose of them before November. The good weather of that month will depress prices, but the bad weather of December will strengthen prices. Don't be in a hurry about selling the new crops. Nothing in sight to depress prices if you can hold till the beginning of the next year.

I will soon have my 1908 crop-weather forecasts completed and then we will know more about it. We have had a long run of fairly good crop years, and it is but natural for us to be on the alert for a crop failure. But I rely wholly on what the figures, taken from the weather records of a hundred years, will say. No other forecaster uses those old records, and therefore no other forecasts can be so reliable.

NEWS IN BRIEF

A Budget of Interesting Items Gathered by a Caucasian Representative.

Mr. Walter L. Fleming, professor-elect of history in the Louisiana State University, is engaged in writing a biography of the late President Jefferson Davis, and desires to obtain as much information as possible about every phase of his public and private life. He asks that persons who have any such material as is indicated in the following list will allow him the use of it: Names and present addresses of relatives, neighbors, former slaves, etc., of Jefferson Davis who can give information about him. Letters, scrap books, diaries and other documentary material relating to Mr. Davis' life. Privately printed books, pamphlets, newspapers, and other printed matters containing information about Mr. Davis. Pictures of Davis and relatives, of his homes, and of places connected in some way with his career. Any souvenirs, relics, etc., of which photos may be made. Reminiscences, authentic anecdotes, etc., of Mr. Davis. Any information about Mr. Davis or his relatives in Wales, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana and Mississippi. He will be glad to obtain the loan of any documentary or other material and will guarantee its safe return. For any assistance given to him he will be greatly obliged.

SENIOR CLASS CLUB.

The senior classes of the central high school, at a full meeting Friday afternoon, organized the Senior Class Club. The club will meet monthly, or oftener if desired, for pleasure and profit. The club is composed of five A seniors and twelve B seniors with a preponderance of girls, but the boys make up in "quality" what they lack in "quantity." The officers are as follows: President, Alan Reed; vice-president, Kate Monroe; secretary-treasurer, Clarence Erickson.

THE FAIR.

At noon Saturday the State Fair was formally opened. The management is to be congratulated on the completeness of every division. The State building with flags flying looks like a full-masted cruiser on a voyage of conquest. The grounds are in excellent condition—speaker's stand for the silver-tongued orators, and seats for the audience, are in readiness near the south gate. Since the fine rain, the dust has been fully settled and the grand tour of the grounds can be made with comfort and pleasure. The space assigned to the educational department is amply covered with beautiful work from kindergarten to university. Misses Bousson and Flournoy, the general assistants to Mrs. Williams, in the educational department, captain Tanner in charge of the L. S. U. exhibit, Prof. Deaton and Barnett of the experiment station exhibit, are ready to welcome visitors and show the points of excellence in the articles displayed. Facing the public school work which proudly wears its colors, purple and gold, is a beautiful room furnished with elegant mission style furniture, made by the boys in the Shreveport manual training department under Prof. Hal Bond. Stop and examine every piece and see what the trained hand well directed can do. Our State institutions for the deaf and dumb and the blind are well represented in a complete line of school and industrial work. Even the casual visitor will be interested in noting the skill and intelligence displayed in the teaching of these children. Dr. Walker of the institute for deaf children, and Prof. Bynum for blind, have proved by their capable superintendence how well they are fitting the children in their care for life. The women's department with McKibbin and Miss Thurmond in charge, is overflowing with new and beautiful art needle work, so varied in character that a description is out of question. Go to the fair and see for yourself the excellence and beauty of everything.

Very interesting and enticing are the merchants' rest room, the cooking by gas booth, and the magnificent display of the Carter-Allen Jewelry Company, on every side are novelties and things of cunning workmanship.

Go out to the fair, it will inform you and do you good every way.

Too much credit can not be given to the retiring assistant secretary, Mr. L. N. Bruengerhoff, and his capable stenographer, Miss Amand, who are besieged hourly by eager busy people, and courteously satisfy all. The fair is a success.

NOTES AND PERSONALS.

The public schools are overflowing with pupils, the attendance is the largest ever enrolled. Grades one and two of the central school are so crowded that Prof. Byrd, to relieve teachers and pupils, has made two daily sessions, dismissing the first grade at 12, when the second grade comes for the afternoon session. This plan has been fully tested in large cities and has given satisfaction.

Miss Sarp, teacher of history in the high school, Mr. Ball of English and Mr. Saunders of science are agreeable additions to the faculty.

Cadet J. Thomas Tanner of the L. S. U. will represent the corps of cadets at the State Fair and be in charge of the exhibit from the University. Captain Tanner's many friends will give him a royal handshaking on his return home. He will have the distinction of graduating in June from the University.

Mrs. J. Bryan Ardis is visiting Col. C. H. Minge's family at Mississippi City.

Miss Bessie Gilmer, a bright sophomore of our central school, writes that she is pleasantly prolonging her summer trip in Chicago.

Mrs. Richard Furman has returned from a month's visit to Mrs. C. H. Minge at her delightful home at Mississippi City.

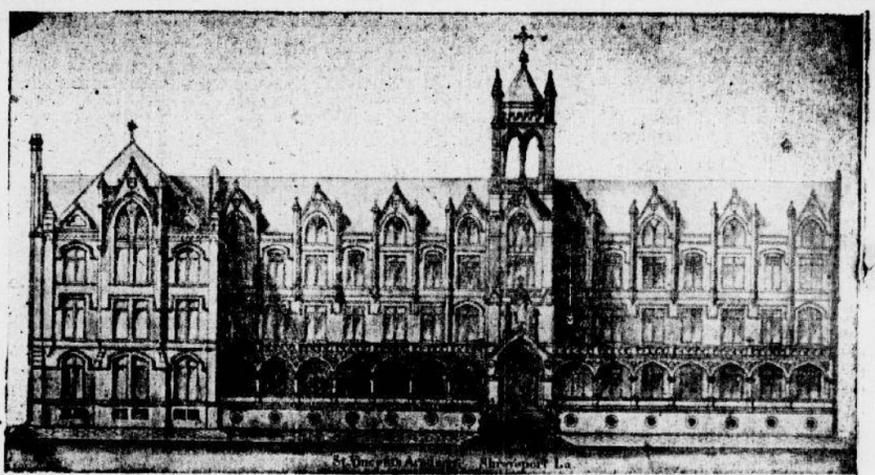

Mrs. J. W. Soady is visiting her sister, Mrs. Num, of Sherman, Texas.

A postal card showing the picturesque picnic grounds of Audubon Park bears greeting from three boys—Albert and Leonard Dreyfus and Andrew Querbes. They are now Tulane students, prepared to do good work.

Mrs. Loula Hibbett Armstead and Miss Mary Belle McKellar, who have been enjoying beautiful Washington City, Baltimore and New York, sailed the 5th instant on the Kroonland, Red Star Line, for France. Friends will anxiously await the good news of their safe arrival in Paris, where they expect to spend a happy and profitable year.

During the absence of Mrs. Bryan Ardis, president of the Park Association, all matters pertaining to the park will be attended to by Mrs. G. G. Nesbitt, 1045 Common street.

When one pins the Syndicate press down to facts it treats its readers to a large and interesting array of rot.

The conviction of a hoodler and grafter is difficult enough as it is without adding the death penalty, as has been suggested.

EDITORIAL PARAGRAPHS.

"Kinney" Reed's announcement for reelection for sheriff of Calcasieu parish will cause gubernatorial aspirants to step high and wide in that section, and it is quite likely to pull the D. stop to some of the local but esteemed organs.

J. Y. Sanders will make a peach of an ex-official.

The "Syndicate press" has begun to realize that if "Sanders has been slandered" some one had better come out and cite the slanders and name the slanders. A bomb of the "slander cry" generally explodes with a loud sigh.

The Baton Rouge State seems to be grieved and shocked in about equal proportions because the Caucasian won't swallow ten thousand, as the size of the Franklin meeting.

Out in San Francisco good society, the swell clubs and the swell churches have organized a law and order league to keep Pat Calhoun, the rich street car magnate, out of the penitentiary. Calhoun did nothing—that is, he only bribed Mayor Schmitz and Ruef, and they have been convicted. What more do muck-rakers want?
