with the use of expensive fertilizers by using nature's method of supplying nitrates. Lime, potash and phosphates are comparatively cheap and in many cases there is an abundant supply of these in the soil which can be made available for plant food if right methods are used—and the "Farmogerm Method" is the right method. If you wish to improve the condition of your land and grow bigger crops, send for book on "Farmogerm Method." What it has done for thousands of people during the past two years it will do for you. WEATHER BULLETIN

FORECAST OF STORMS TO CROSS THE CONTINENT.

THE NEXT DISTURBANCE

Temperatures Will Average Lower than Usual and Rough Weather Will Be the Rule with Principal Rains in the Eastern Sections.

(Copyrighted 1910 by W. T. Foster.)

Washington, April 30.—Last bulletin gave forecasts of disturbance to cross the continent May 1 to 5, warm warm April 30 to May 4, cool wave May 3 to 7. This disturbance is expected to be more radical than usual. High temperatures will be followed by a great drop and rains will occur, principally within 300 miles of Springfield, Ill., and eastward from Columbus, Ohio, to the Atlantic. Southern Florida and parts of Canada will get moderate rains.

The next disturbance will reach the Pacific coast about May 5, cross Pacific slope by close of 6, great central valleys 7 to 9, eastern states 10. Cool wave will cross Pacific slope about May 8, great central valleys 10, eastern states 12.

Temperatures of this disturbance will average lower than usual and rough weather will be the rule with principal rains in eastern sections. Rough weather may be expected on the Pacific slope about May 5, and the disturbance will continue as a rough storm across the continent.

The disturbance to be described in next bulletin will cross the continent to 15, and will be the most dangerous storm of the month. Sailors have long held to the belief that when the eclipse node occurs severe storms may be expected and that disturbing position of the moon occurs May 8. Let us watch that date and try to learn whether the sailors know anything about weather matters.

But you should not be so silly as to adopt the methods of orthodox scientists in determining this matter. They would count it a failure if severe storms do not occur at every place on earth. These severe storms can occur only at a very few places.

Wherever there may be disturbances moving around the earth on May 8 those disturbances will greatly increase in force. The lows or storm centers drift around the earth about 3000 miles apart with highs or cool waves between them.

The Weather Bureau maps give the locations of these drifting highs and lows every day, and if you will watch them, from May 10 to 14 you will see that they greatly increase in intensity and that will prove to you that the moon does have a large effect on weather features.

Probabilities are that the storm center on May 8 will be in the great central valleys and that it will grow more severe as it drifts eastward. A more dangerous storm period will occur near May 12 when severe storms may be expected in eastern states, great central valleys and on Pacific slope.

THE COMET.

The comet will be the great attraction for the coming week. If you get up at about 4 a.m. you can see the visitor in the east, if the weather is clear. Some claim that it is the bright star which the wise men of the east saw about 1910 years ago.

REPLANT WITH CORN

Georgia Agricultural Commissioner Has Optimistic View of the Situation.

Atlanta, Ga., April 28.—"Every planter whose cotton has been injured should replant in corn and not attempt to grow a second stand of cotton," said State Commissioner of Agriculture Hudson. Mr. Hudson was discussing the effect of this week's cold wave on the cotton crop, at least 50 per cent of which had been ruined. "Cotton never grows well where it has been killed by the cold," he said. Mr. Hudson is inclined to take an optimistic view of the situation in the South. "What the planters have lost in quantity will be counterbalanced by the increased price of cotton which its scarcity will cause and the South will suffer little financially by the cold wave," he said.

REPUBLICANS IN TENNESSEE.

The Republicans in Tennessee have determined on naming a State ticket in opposition to the Democrats. The Republicans propose to have strong men for candidates who will appeal to the independent voters as well as to Democrats should Governor Patterson become the nominee of the Democrats for Governor.

THE TRACTION COMPANY

It Has Moved One Step in the Right Direction.

A few days since the Traction Company moved on step in the right direction, for which it has received and is being given full credit.

The midnight car service was one of the stipulations or promises offered by this company in the proposed extension of franchises and other privileges.

The public viewed this proposition with disfavor for the reason that as a business proposition the company should establish this service in response to the people's needs.

In all cities and towns of the first class the midnight and the early morning car service is esteemed a necessity.

However, this move of the company in providing car service to midnight, beginning today, will be appreciated by the public.

The next move should be in the grant of general transfers as prevail in New Orleans. The general transfer system should be suggested strictly from a business view. Instead of decreasing the receipts of the company would be increased through the system of transfers. More people would ride and ride frequently, that do not now use the cars, if transfers were in vogue.

In all cities and towns of the first class transfers, as are applied in New Orleans are effective, and why not in Shreveport?

The Traction Company has much more to gain by a system of general transfers than in withholding such a privilege and such a right from the people. Whatever feeling or prejudice may exist or be entertained against the company by reason of its past opposition to such reasonable demands of the people would be removed.

After all, while money and power are potent, the good will of the public is greater than all these.

The Traction Company's opportunity of winning and holding the lasting good will of the people by a system of transfers such as prevail in cities and towns progressive.

Why not in Shreveport?

GEN. E. P. ALEXANDER

Chief of Artillery in Longstreet's Corps, Army of Northern Virginia.

In the Picayune of April 29 is chronicled the death of Gen. E. P. Alexander, which occurred at his home in Savannah, Ga., on Thursday, April 28.

The soldier, distinguished on many bloody fields of battle, was a Brigadier General in the Confederate Army, and chief of artillery in Longstreet's Corps of the Army of Northern Virginia.

Born in Georgia in May 1835, and graduating in 1857 from the United States Military Academy at West Point into the Engineer Corps of the Army, and later after service on the Western plains and in the territories on the Pacific coast, he resigned his military position on the breaking out of hostilities between the sections of the Union and offered his services to his native State. He was appointed captain of engineers in the Confederate States Army and was ordered to duty with the troops in Virginia.

From the first dramatic battle at Manassas, or Bull Run, where he did service as an engineer and signal officer, until he was ordered to active artillery in the field, commanding the artillery of Longstreet's Corps, General Alexander was in the most noted of the Virginia army's operations, including Chancellorsville, Gettysburg, the wonderful Wilderness campaign, in which Lee against immense odds repelled Grant's repeated assaults upon his lines and forced the greatest of the Union generals to abandon his attempted march on the Confederate capital for an indirect approach by a siege which lasted a year.

In all of Lee's splendid strategy, backed up by desperate fighting, General Alexander participated, and nearly forty years after the close of that terrible warfare, when heated passions had cooled and blind prejudice had given place to sense and reason, the records of both sides being attainable, General Alexander published a volume, "Military Memoirs of a Confederate," in which those campaigns are plainly and professionally reviewed, constituting a most important commentary on some of the most remarkable military movements of the modern age.

Get All That's Coming to You

You don't get it when you buy loose or bulk coffee, or coffee by the pound wrapped up in a paper bag. The least exposure to the air lets strength, aroma and flavor escape—all that makes coffee worth while. You get what is left and you get badly left if you think you are getting all you pay for. Buy the coffee of double strength, crisp and fresh in its air-tight can, a little higher in price, perhaps, than the loose article, but really cheaper and infinitely more satisfying. Every good grocer sells it.

CANDIDATE MURFF

His First Visit to Dodson—A Favorable Impression.

The Dodson Times: Judge Murff of Shreveport, who is an avowed candidate for Congress from this district, was here a short while Tuesday for the purpose of meeting the people of Dodson and getting acquainted personally with them. He had been to Winfield and decided to take advantage of the opportunity of extending his trip to this place, and had about two and a half hours here.

The judge says he is not out making political speeches yet or trying to extract promises from any one, but being a stranger to the people of this section he deemed it but fit and proper to stir among the citizens of such localities whenever an opportunity afforded.

When Congress has ended its present session and Judge Watkins returns home, Candidate Murff says that he will pay Dodson another visit and will then discuss the issues of the campaign in due form.

This was Judge Murff's first visit to Dodson, but many of our people informed him that while they had not met him previously in person, they had learned of his record as a judge in Shreveport, where his efforts to enforce the prohibition law has been stubbornly opposed by certain interests, but rigidly enforced by him just the same. The glad hand was extended to him by our people and many warm congratulations tendered him on his record as a judge. That Judge Murff made a favorable impression on those he came in contact with while in our little town goes without saying.

KERN NOMINATED.

The Democrats of Indiana in convention held at Indianapolis on Thursday nominated John W. Kern for United States Senator. Tom Taggart was an active aspirant but failed in this ambition. The endorsement of Kern will lead to harmony in the party, whereas with Taggart there would have been irritations and complications which would have intensified the entanglements threatened by the endorsement of Taggart, as was urged by his friends who were in the minority. Taggart has joined in the hearty support of Kern, one of the strongest of not the strongest of clean men offering in the Democracy of Indiana.

BASE BALL

And Other Sporting News—Gold Ticket for Teddy—Ruston Wins Pennant.

The Louisiana Industrial Institute Base Ball Team of Ruston has a very fine record this year. The college base ball season opened on March 22 and some good games have been played between the college teams. The Industrial team by winning 14 out of 16 games has won the pennant. This is a very fine record for any college team. They have shut out their opponents five times, the scores being 2 to 0, 15 to 0, 6 to 0, 1 to 0, and 2 to 0. W. B. Hale is manager of the Ruston team and B. F. O'Neal is captain, P. S. Prince is coach. B. F. O'Neal is a Shreveport boy and has many friends here who are glad to see his team win the pennant. He has made a fine captain, and has also played a great game. The Ruston team has made a record to be proud of.

The first ticket for the fight between Jeffries and Johnson at San Francisco on July 4 will be presented to Theodore Roosevelt on his arrival in New York. The ticket will be solid gold and appropriately engraved.

Thursday evening the Junior S. A. A. team defeated the second Centenary team by a score of 10 to 4. Cyrus Helm pitched a fine game for the Athletics, fanning eight of the Centenary boys and allowing nine hits. He received good support, and his team mates batted well.

Batteries: Centenary, P. Brown and Hearne. S. A. A., Helm and Glassell.

The S. A. A. would like games with any amateur team in North Louisiana. Address Prof. Briggs, care Shreveport Athletic Club.

PERSONAL.

The Caucasian on Friday afternoon received an appreciated call from Mr. J. W. Zylks, postmaster, and Mr. J. E. Stewart, a brother of Mr. A. C. Stewart of Rodessa. Our visitors were in Shreveport on business. They are numbered with the progressive citizens of Caddo and are held in the highest esteem by their friends who are numbered by the score.

Mr. L. N. Crisp of Mooringsport, for years a resident of Shreveport, complimented the Caucasian with a pleasant call last evening. Mr. Crisp is in the lumber business and is doing well. He is a good citizen and entitled to the fullest measure of prosperity.
