Poor Paint is Expensive at any Price

People who want things cheap generally get them—an honest, reliable and durable job of painting demands an honest price.

The lowest bid does not necessarily mean the cheapest job, since the first cost of a poor job is only the beginning—the necessary burning and scraping when it cracks, scales and checks is a second expense greater than the first.

We can give you a durable and truly economical job because we use the highest grade materials—Strictly Pure White Lead, Zinc Oxide, and Titanium Oxide. Our men are skilled mechanics. We know how to handle surfaces. See us before painting.

SEES FUTURE FOR WARSHIPS OF AIR

Major General Bell Thinks Ten Years Are Needed.

ADVANCE OF AUTO SIMILAR.

Development in Weight Carrying Power of Heavier Than Air Machines Needed For Effectiveness—Suitable Ordnance For Dropping to be Developed.

Major General J. Franklin Bell, who has just been relieved as chief of staff of the United States army after completing a four year detail, believes that the development of heavier than air machines will probably come as rapidly as did that of the motorcar and that within ten years at the most the aeroplane will be brought to a remarkably high state of efficiency, particularly as a military machine.

General Bell rather doubted the utility of the aeroplane for explosive dropping purposes.

Value Yet Indefinite.

"It is not possible in the present state of development of air navigation to determine definitely what value air craft may have in warfare," he said. "For transporting any considerable weight it would seem probable that dirigible balloons might be more reliable than heavier than air machines. Yet dirigibles are subject to a serious drawback in making headway against a wind blowing at a considerable rate. The whole science of aviation is still in such a state of development that only experiment and experience can work it out.

"However, those who will bear in mind the numerous difficulties which have been overcome by modern motor vehicles in their rapid development during the past decade will be inclined to believe that heavier than air machines will in the next few years be sufficiently developed to make them reliable in navigating the air except in winds that may be properly classified as storms.

"To just what extent heavier than air machines can be utilized in carrying weights it is, of course, impossible to foresee, but I personally have no doubt that aeroplanes will be perfected in the course of ten years at the most, if not in five, to such an extent that they may be relied upon to carry from three to five persons and possibly a small amount of explosive in addition.

Designs Will Be Invented.

"By the time this comes about ordnance for the purpose of destroying air craft will unquestionably have been developed, and ballistic tables designed to control the trajectory of such ordnance will also have been brought to the front.

"No figuring has ever yet been perfected upon the problem of hitting objects in the air by this or any other nation. It will probably be found that factors enter into the latter proposition that do not apply at all, or if so with much less or greater degree with regard to ordinary firing thus far perfected.

"Owing to the speed at which air craft can travel the problem of accurate firing at them would be considerably more difficult than with objects on a horizontal. But this selfsame speed would likewise make it difficult for persons in the air craft to hurl projectiles and strike the objects aimed at on the ground or to fire any kind of ordnance with any degree of accuracy at marks on the earth's surface."

COTTONSEED FLOUR POPULAR

Texas Discovery Used by Royalty and Common People.

Many claims are made for superiority of cottonseed flour over wheat flour especially to those who would abstain from eating meat. Of all the enthusiastic men who praise the new flour, John W. Allison of Ennis, Tex., who discovered it, is most enthusiastic.

Mr. Allison offered the first bread to the public last January, and since that time it has formed a dish at the tables of presidents, kings, emperors and various others of the world's leaders in all ranks of life. Demands for the flour have come from all quarters of the globe.

To make it palatable and give it the consistency to hold together the cottonseed flour must be mixed with from one-half to two-thirds of ordinary wheat flour. Those who advocate the wide use of cottonseed flour claim that it is not only cheaper, but that it is far more healthful, than the ordinary wheat flour.

Champlain Memorials Certain.

Two memorials to Samuel de Champlain, the explorer, the tercentenary of whose discovery of the lake that bears his name was celebrated last summer, will be erected in New York state, the commissions appointed by the Vermont and New York legislatures to consider the matter having so decided. The memorial to be erected at Crown Point will be the joint offering of both states. The other will be at Bluff Point.

Mothers Seek Portfolio.

The National Mothers' Congress, recently in session at Denver, adopted a resolution urging a federal department of home and child, with a cabinet member at its head.

MRS. WEBB'S FUNERAL

Southland Poetess Followed to Flower-Decked Grave.

New Orleans Picayune June 27: The body of Mrs. Laura S. Webb, known as "The Southland's Poetess," after having been exposed to the view of relatives and numerous friends, were tenderly placed at rest yesterday afternoon. The funeral services were conducted in the presence of a rather large gathering, despite the fact that the funeral arrangements were private. Father Malone of St. John's church conducted the services. He spoke a beautiful eulogy.

Mrs. Webb was the unfortunate victim of a street car accident in Memphis nine days ago. The lady was crushed to death beneath the wheels of a trolley car. The body was brought to New Orleans and was exposed at the residence of Mr. John J. Daly, Jr., 824 St. Mary street. The daughter of Mrs. Webb arrived Saturday night from New York, where she was playing an engagement with the Charles K. Harris Company.

There were a number of magnificent floral offerings sent by friends, and several from the Confederate organizations of New Orleans.

MANAGUA IN DANGER

Castroillo Believes the Town Will Be Taken Shortly.

Washington, June 26.—News of the capture by the Estrada forces of two towns within a day's march of Managua, the seat of the Madriz government, has reached General Castroillo, representative in Washington of the Estrada government in Nicaragua.

The dispatch stated that yesterday General Arsenio Cruz, at the head of a division of the Estrada army, had taken the cities of La Libertad and Juigalpa, and that the surrender of the cities of Acoyapa and of San Ubaldo, the latter a port on Lake Nicaragua, was expected at any moment. The towns captured are within twelve miles of Lake Nicaragua. The successful forces crossed the mountains from Rama. General Castroillo expressed the belief that Managua will be taken shortly.

PROMISE AND—

Mer Rouge Democrat: Sanders in his canvass before the people, claimed that he favored retiring the State's bonded debt and stop the payment of $445,000 interest annually, but, what has he done to carry out this promise? There is a bill before the Legislature now that proposes to refund the State's bonded debt, by issuing bonds that will mature 50 years after 1915, and there is no provision in that bill that will provide a fund to retire one dollar of the State's bonded debt, and this bill was prepared under the eye and direction of Governor Sanders.

Sanders in his canvass before the people, claimed that the Confederate Veterans and their aged widows should be amply provided for, and what has he done for these? It is up to him to show what he has done. The soldiers in the "Home" at New Orleans, are receiving less than enough to provide comforts in the Home. A number of aged, infirm and indigent veterans who are not in the Home are petitioning the Pension Board to place their names on the pension list to be taken care of by the State, but it is a fact, that the Board declines to put their names on the pension list because, there is no money in the treasury to pay them after their claims are allowed. These are facts that are lamentable.

It is a notorious fact that there is no surplus in the general fund, and there will be after the adjournment of the present legislature, a deficit. To provide a fund to supply the deficit that is in sight there is a bill before the Legislature to sell two of the State's convict farms and to mortgage the Angola convict farm for one quarter million dollars to buy machinery to convert it into a sugar farm. In our judgment, this is bad financing. If Louisiana has a valuable asset it is her convict farms were bought on credit and by judicious management these farms have paid for themselves and ought to in the future be a source of revenue. To sell these farms, reminds us of a son that inherits from his father a large and unincumbered piece of property, but, by living a fast life, the son sells off piece by piece his inheritance that he may continue to live the life that he has commenced to live.

WEDDING FEE COUNTERFEIT

A well-dressed stranger entered the office of Justice William B. Williams, Montclair, N. J., and after shaking hands, astonished the justice by saying: "I'm here to redeem that counterfeit $10 bill I passed on you. Two years ago I called on you with my girl and two witnesses and you married us. I handed you a $10 bill. I had a counterfeit in my pocket that I had carried for several years. I never missed it until yesterday. Then I remembered that I'd accidentally handed you the bill." The caller produced a good $10 bill, but the justice refused to take. "Don't let that worry you, my dear fellow," he laughed. "I never knew it was counterfeit. No kind of money sticks to me over night. I'm married myself."
