FOSTER'S BULLETIN

FORECAST OF STORMS TO CROSS
THE CONTINENT

THE NEXT DISTURBANCE

Covers Time So Close to the Great
Storm Period That It Is Difficult to Determine Its Character—Radical July Weather Expected.

(Copyrighted 1913 by W. T. Foster)

Washington, July 21.—Last bulletin gave forecasts of disturbances to cross the continent June 16 to 20 and 22 to 26, warm waves 15 to 19 and 21 to 25, cool waves 18 to 22 and 24 to 28. About normal weather is expected to prevail during the two weeks covered by these two disturbances. No important weather event is in sight for that period and as a natural consequence less than usual rain is expected, leaving some sections with a shortage in moisture.

Relative to the normal temperatures a considerable fall was expected from June 12 to 27, but this would not mean an actual fall, because, as every one knows, the normal temperatures rise from about January 15 to about July 15. Some people who have no thinking machines misunderstood our chart temperature forecasts for May. We are compelled to use the straight treble line in the monthly charts to represent normal temperatures, but every thoughtful person well knows that normal temperatures go up about ten degrees a month from January to July and down as much from July to January. When reading monthly charts those well known facts should not be forgotten.

The next disturbance will reach the Pacific coast about June 27, cross the Pacific slope by close of 28, great central valleys 29 to July 1, eastern sections July 2. Warm wave will cross Pacific slope about June 27, great central valleys 29, eastern sections July 1. Cool wave will cross Pacific slope about June 30, great central valleys July 2, eastern sections July 4.

This disturbance covers time so close to the great storm period that it is difficult to determine its character. All weather features will be radical, of greater than usual force, but we have placed July 5 as the center and most extreme part of this great storm period. July 3, 4, 5 and 6 will be days of greatest stress. But where will these storms break? If we have the lows placed correctly one of them will be on the Atlantic coast July 3 and that storm will be at its greatest intensity on the Atlantic coast and for several days it will continue as a furious storm out on the north Atlantic.

Next disturbance will reach Pacific coast about July 3, cross Pacific slope by close of 4, great central valleys 5 to 7, eastern sections 8. Warm wave will cross Pacific slope about July 3, great central valleys 5, eastern sections 7. Cool wave will cross Pacific slope about July 6, great central valleys 8, and eastern sections 10.

This will be a furious storm for ten days, July 3 to 13, from just before it strikes our western coasts until it strikes the western coasts of Europe. Human lives, live stock, water craft and other property will be destroyed in that great disturbance.

An unusual planetary event will culminate a little before midnight July 3. We can not now locate the effects, but expect to read of earthquakes, tornadoes, hurricanes, electric storms and other extreme weather events within 24 hours of the midnight that falls between July 3 and 4. At that time the sun, moon, Jupiter, Uranus and the earth will occupy relative positions as great magnets that, if repeated with such magnets as are used to generate electricity in a dynamo machine, would cause an eruptive force.

The effect will probably be seen on the U. S. Weather Bureau maps resulting in a great change in the barometric readings from July 2 to July 4 and 5. Watch the results.

Killed by Lightning.

Grand Cane Item: On last Tuesday Charlie Small, a negro living on Herbert Sample's plantation, was struck by lightning and instantly killed. The negro was in the field plowing at the time, and the horse did not receive the slightest injury, and what seems most peculiar there was not a tree near where the accident occurred.

E. L. BLASSENGAME

Is on Trial for Murder—His Victim Was Ed Wilson Whom He Shot in Oil City.

E. L. Blassengame is on trial for murder. His victim was Ed Wilson, whom he shot and killed in Slim Winston's "near beer joint" in Oil City on October 8 of last year. The killing had its origin over a woman, Alice Moore, whom it is alleged Ed Wilson had whipped.

This is Blassengame's second trial. In the first, before Judge Sutherland, he was convicted without capital punishment. He was then defended by Attorneys Murff & Mabry. The State was represented by Hon. J. M. Foster, district attorney. At this trial W. A. Mabry, district attorney, was excused and the court named former District Attorney Foster to represent the State.

The case is being contested and defended with vigor. The State is assisted by Colonel Hardy and the defendant by Judge Murff and by Attorney Tiry of Texas.

The jurors are Walter White, J. F. Ivey, H. Lavigne, W. D. Whitby, R. M. Garlick, J. A. Quigles, Lem Gustine, T. E. Perry, Lee Church, P. C. Corbitt, James Wiley and Geo. E. Gilmer.

From the number of witnesses it is probable that the case will not be ended before Tuesday next.

The case was remanded from the Supreme Court on a technicality.

N. M. Abney Dead.

While out fishing near Oil City N. M. Abney died suddenly of heart disease. He was aged 37 years and was a good citizen. His home was at Dixie. The burial will take place at about noon today in the Cottage Grove cemetery. He is survived by two brothers, W. A. and J. A. Abney.

LANING IN JAIL.

Is Held on Three Charges of Embezzlement—Bond Fixed at $4,000.

Deputy Sheriff Gillespie reached Shreveport Saturday morning with W. C. Laning, arrested in Biloxi, Miss. Laning was jailed and failing to make bond for $4,000 is being kept in the parish prison. Three charges have been filed against him by District Attorney Mabry for embezzlement, one being for $1,000, one for $600 and one for $400.

The arrest of Laning at Biloxi is due to the efforts of Sheriff Flournoy, who had advised the chief of police at New Orleans and officers at Biloxi and other points. A clue obtained by chance developed that Laning had left and finally led to his arrest. Laning was in New Orleans several days where he pawned a $800 diamond for $400. Sheriff Flournoy has secured the pawn ticket which will secure the return of this diamond Laning bought from Hutchinsons paying $300 on account.

A GOLDEN WEDDING

Celebrated in New Orleans Wednesday, June 18—Congratulations for Col. and Mrs. Blayne T. Walshe.

On Wednesday, June 18, Col. and Mrs. Blayne T. Walshe celebrated their golden wedding at their home in New Orleans. In attendance were their eight children and ten grandchildren and with these were relatives and friends. During the day Colonel Walshe and his wife were the recipients of many substantial tokens of esteem from their friends and well wishers. Indeed a golden wedding is an event which awakens the liveliest of interests which is not confined to kindred and friends.

Of the numberless who are married only the few reach their golden wedding, when there is renewed the pledge of Love, sanctified in the long years of association and comradeship.

How supremely happy must be the husband and the wife on the day of their golden wedding.

Having been tried in the crucible of life, with all its tribulations, its responsibilities and its joys, the celebrants at their golden wedding may rejoice in the fullness of their years of usefulness when about them are their children and grandchildren and their friends who love them.

Colonel Walshe is an esteemed friend of the Caucasian. He is Irish by birth. He came to New Orleans in 1853 with his parents when a boy. He grew up to be a man of worth and who is honored by the citizens of New Orleans irrespective of creed or class. He is ranked with the Veterans of the Confederacy, who are distinguished for their active service and their loyalty. The Confederacy has no truer champion nor has any city a better or more worthy citizen than Colonel Walshe, who as civilian or public official has fulfilled his duty faithfully and creditably.

It is the Caucasian's wish that he and his good wife will be spared to celebrate their diamond wedding.

Weather Forecast.

Local forecast for Shreveport and vicinity: Unsettled, probably local showers tonight or Sunday; not much change in temperature.

FOSTER'S JULY WEATHER CHARTS.

Temperatures of July will average about normal. Probably a little above normal on Pacific slope and a little below east of Rocky ridge. Draw a line from Bismarck via St. Paul, Milwaukee, Detroit to New Bedford, Mass., and all northeast of that line will have less than usual rain, and all southwest of it more than usual rain except the southern tier of cotton belt States will get less than usual rain. Middle Canada will get about normal rain. Many dangerous storms will occur on the continent and off our southern coasts in July. Shaded parts above treble line in chart indicate time of most danger and below treble line time of least danger. See weekly bulletin. Heavy broken line in above cut represents great central valley rain, and light broken line eastern sections rain. The treble line represents normal precipitation and temperature. As temperatures and precipitation lines rise probabilities will increase for more precipitation and higher temperatures. Dates are for meridian 90. Count one to three days earlier for west of that line, and as much later for east of it, in proportion to distance from that meridian which runs north through St. Louis.
