

The Daily Comet.

BATON ROUGE, FEB 6, 1856.

GRATIFYING INTELLIGENCE.—The fools are not all dead. Somebody stole our Catholic Almanac else we should have noted the fact yesterday, that it was fat Tuesday, or Mardi-Gras. We owe the public an apology for this remissness. Had we not heard a shout in the streets about two, yesterday, from a motley crowd of boys black, white and blue, and the appearance after of several fools on horseback we should not know now, that the last day of Carnival, is at its end.

STEWED, FRIED AND DONE BROWN. Such is the singular title of a new firm just opened on the corner of St. Louis and North Boulevard streets. Our local reporter, has not yet put his head in, to see what kind of business is carried on, but relying on his nasal organ—a safer reliance than a man's eye—ventures to say that oysters may be found there.

O'CALLAGHAN & MUEVHILL.—It will be seen that this firm near the Court House, are in receipt of another stock of the staple commodities of life. See their advertisement to-day.

MRS. N. MAY.—This lady is still at the Harney House, and although she has as much as she can do, still we like to keep the fact before the eyes of our lady readers, that as an elegant and accomplished cutter and fitter of ladies garments, she is without a rival in this latitude.

Valuable Property at Auction.
WILL BE SOLD at public auction, on Saturday the 23d of February, next 1856 in front of the Court House door, in this city, at 11 o'clock a. m., the following valuable property, part of the estate of the late Constance Ternoir, deceased:
Louisa, negro woman, aged 42 years, Mercelette, her daughter, " 9 " James, negro man, " 40 " Jacques, " 58 " Charlotte, negro woman, " 56 " Lots 7, 8, 9 and 10 in plat B. of Beaugard Town, fronting the river. A full plan will be exhibited on day of sale.
