

European News.

By the Bremen and Anglo Saxon we receive European advices to the 12th June.

The Paris correspondent of the Independence Beldge, writing under date of June 10, says:

I told you that Mr. Rost, deputy to Europe from the Southern seceded States, appeared to have returned very well satisfied with his trip to London.

According to the impressions brought away by Mr. Rost there was no understanding between France and England in regard to the simultaneous recognition of the Southern States.

Recapture of one of our Vessels with Six of the Enemy as Prisoners.—We learn that Captain Adams' sloop, which the enemy captured several weeks ago, with a load of bacon from Smithfield bound to Norfolk, was yesterday recaptured by some of our friends up James River.

Lincoln Sends Arms to Our Volunteers.—We hear a rumor to the effect that a lot of muskets shipped by the Administration at Washington for Dresden, Tenn., and designed for the Union men of Weakley county, consigned to a commission merchant at Paducah, Ky., were, by accident, forwarded to Union City.

A Good Name.—The name of Jackson seems to gain an enviable distinction in the present war. First James W. Jackson, of Alexandria, Va., slew Col. Ellsworth for interfering with a flag, private property, when he knew his own death would follow.

Serious Disaster on the Northern Division of the Mobile and Ohio Rail Road.

Collision of Trains—Two Men Killed and Twenty-five Wounded.

Says the Mobile Register and Advertiser:

We subjoin such particulars as we have been able, after diligent inquiry, to obtain, and doubt not the information is reliable as far as it goes.

It appears that on Thursday night a special train with a company of cavalry, comprising sixty men and their horses, bound north, came in collision with a regular freight train, southward bound.

The locomotives were stove against each other—or, as our informant expressed it: "the smoke stacks stood hugging," defying all efforts at separation.

The above are all the facts we could obtain, which are meagre and imperfect, necessarily so, as our informant was not at the scene of the catastrophe, and received his information second-hand at Corinth.

Alleged Abolitionists.—A man named Lorenzo Minot reached the city on Saturday, being consigned to Mr. or Monroe by the Committee of Safety in Memphis as an Abolitionist who should be dealt with here.

Powder Capture.—Lincoln is anxious to secure the services of the Union men of West Tennessee. He accordingly caused to be shipped to a settlement near Eastport, a lot of guns and ammunition.

I. O. O. F.—The Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows of the State of Georgia have invited the Southern Grand Lodges to meet in Montgomery, Alabama, for the purpose of dissolving the connection existing between the Southern Lodges and the Grand Lodge of the United States.

Affairs at Manassas Junction.—The Richmond Examiner of the 29th ult. has the following:

We learn from a gentleman who left Manassas Junction yesterday, that General Beauregard was steadily advancing his forces towards the Potomac.

Resolute.—Mr. George Hutchins, of Concord, New Hampshire, and his abolition followers, have threatened to destroy the Standard office, because that paper denounces the war, and opposes an invasion of the South.

It is this civil war, brought upon our devoted country by the political abolition party existing among us, suspending the rights and liberties of the people, and introducing the reign of anarchy and mobocratic violence in the place of laws.

The following are the officers elected by the members of Noth Lodge, No. 21, I. O. O. F. to serve for the ensuing term: P. H. Keyes, N. G.; John Dickinson, V. G.; B. Jacobs, Treasurer; S. Seligman, Secretary.

From present appearances we may expect to receive intelligence of tremendous fighting. Every day's intelligence portends in that way.

Gov. Clarke of Texas, is a candidate for re-election.

For the Seat of War.

We are requested to say by Messrs. Hollingsworth and Wharton, that any thing placed in their charge, for Richmond, Va., will be promptly delivered by them, as they are going to that point.

Mr. Le Rosen, Daguerrean Artist is taking likenesses for the small sum of one dollar; which affords every body an opportunity of getting a good picture.

We have received a beautiful specimen of photograph likeness of Jeff. Davis, from the above gentleman; just the thing to make rosettes out of. Sentinels attention! Price only twenty-five cents.

The Milwaukee Riot.

Milwaukee, June 24.—The riot today caused a greater loss of property than was first supposed. The attack has been ascertained to be a regularly organized thing.

The Bank of Milwaukee was also stoned, but little damage was done. Altes & McGregor's real estate office was completely gutted.

This evening the mob are in force in the Second and Sixth Wards, where inflammatory speeches are being made. They have one cannon and threaten to attack the jail to-night unless their friends are released.

A Band of Robbers Broken Up.—Arrest of a Thievish Leader Worth $200,000.—The Cleveland (Ohio) Herald, of the 17th, states that as City Marshall Mueckly was passing along the street, he suddenly noticed a familiar face, and, turning to look again, identified the man as Jackson Levi, the chief of a gang of thieves whose operations have extended over the whole continent.

Levi is the chief of a gang of burglars and pick-pockets of national reputation. He has been connected with many of the most extensive robberies in various parts of the country, and is now, it is said, out on $5,000 bail for robbery in New York City.

The way to Talk.—The following language was made use of in an editorial, which appeared in the Fulton (Ill.) Democrat, not long since. The editor of that paper speaks plain:

Seven Hundred Thousand Bales.—We have it upon the most reliable authority that the people of Alabama, through their Congressional Representatives, will subscribe 700,000 bales towards the $50,000,000 loan.

Perfectly Right.—A few days ago the Brooklyn, off Pass a l'Outre, captured the sloop yacht of Mr. C. F. Demandre, of Plaquemine parish.—Mr. Demandre was allowed to remain on board his yacht, which was kept under the guns of the Brooklyn for four days, when the latter put off to chase a sail seen in the offing.

The Rebuke.

The infant is sleeping. He prattles no more; The mother is weeping; Alas! and alas! The children are crying.

There is grief in the palace, And mourning and woe; All save little Alice, And her sorrow to show.

Her voice is unbroken, As letting her head, She turns to the living, From one that is dead:

With the voice of a prophet, The look of a seer, Her words of rebuke, Exchanged very soon;

With the shade of the willow They add to the woe; And they learn't from his going One lesson of woe—

A WIFE IN DANGER.

A husband, finding that his wife received splendid presents from an admirer, thought it would be unwise not to show her what dangerous ground she stood upon.

Suddenly she spied a beautiful box to hold her jewels, set in diamonds, and of a particularly beautiful shape. These jewels were much the fashion at that time, and the duchess of C. had displayed one at the opera-house, which had been the envy and admiration of all present.

"Oh, Mr. Chairville," she cried with childish joy, "see how magnificent, how lovely, all these things are! Do let me have them, I will give you a box!"

"Which, my love?" replied Mr. Chairville, with a smile, "the diamonds or the opera?"

"Indeed I do, but you know I think nothing charging but you." "And was it to make me more so?" said Alicia, laughing.

"I am not rich enough to display the contents of all the jewelers' shops to you, and bid them court your acceptance," said Mr. Chairville.

The glittering bangles fell from the hand of the appalled Alicia, mechanically she retreated from the table, which now only inspired her with alarm and horror; she put her arms behind her, and continued to walk backwards, until she reached the extremity of the apartment in which she stood, then leaning against the wall, she raised her eyes, with an imploring expression to her husband's face, as if she feared the very sight of these presents had sunk her in his esteem, although she had a confused idea of his meaning.

den way because I doubted you, but because I thought it the simplest way of disclosing to you the P—'s views. Now, will you return the diamonds?"

"Oh, no!" exclaimed Alicia, "do you return them. It would make me ill to look at them again."

"You would regret parting with them?" he asked her with an indulgent smile.

"Indignation is a very great improvement to beauty," said Mr. Chairville; "but my Alicia is becoming under every emotion!"

Gen. Joseph Lane.—An Oregon paper says that this gallant soldier accidentally shot himself, near his residence, in Douglas county. The ball entered the lower part of his breast and came out of the shoulder. The wound is not considered mortal.

The Right Spirit.

We are informed by our fellow citizen Mr. J. F. Morrill that he is making arrangements to establish in our city, a tannery and shoe manufactory. Our friend deserves much praise for this step, and should not only be encouraged, but patronized as we think, he will.

For the past eight years we have been endeavoring to prove to the Southern people the great necessity of home manufacture; but with no perceptible good effects.
