TELEGRAPHIC.

Nashville, Oct. 11.—The Louisville Journal of the 8th says: Sherman has superseded Sumner Anderson, in command in Kentucky.

Large bodies of troops are passing through Louisville to Mulbrough's Hill.

Fifteen Southerners whipped seventy-five of the enemy, east of Cave City; killing three and capturing thirty horses. One Southerner was mortally wounded. Postmaster-General Blair has gone to St. Louis to look into Fremont's case.

Lynchburg, Oct. 9.—The freight train, conveying clothing for the 1st and 2d Regiments Louisiana Volunteers, and other goods, in charge of Mr. Price, fell through a bridge about one hundred miles distant from here, and all are in the water.
W. S. PIKE.

The Baltimore Sun, of 5th inst., contains a dispatch from Seward, denying that Fremont has been either recalled or court martialed.

Gen. Wool has arrived at Washington.

One hundred mutineers sent by McClellan to Fortress Monroe, on their way to Tortugas, were released by Wool and returned to the service.

Huger, commanding Norfolk, and Maguder, have been promoted to Major-Generals.

Mobile, Oct. 10, 1861.—The special correspondent of the Mobile Advertiser, writing last evening (Wednesday) at Pensacola, sends the following details of the night attack of our forces on Santa Rosa Island:

There were 1100 men in the expedition, under Brigadier-General Rummels. They crossed over to the island at 2 o'clock on the morning of Wednesday. At 20 minutes past 4 the first gun was fired, and in 46 minutes all that was left of the numerous camps, the extensive commissary buildings that had been erected there, was but one mass of smouldering ruins. The hospital structure is the only building now standing on the Island of Santa Rosa.

Wilson's (New York Zouaves) camp was the first one reached. The Sentinels, completely surprised, were either killed or captured, and the whole regiment, with its chief, found safety only in a rapid flight beyond the eastern walls of Fort Pickens. The scenes which occurred when this camp was invaded are described as being ludicrous beyond description or belief.

The gallant Colonel took to his heels, with nothing but a brief skirted nether garment to cover his nakedness, and the race between him and his valiant braves presented a struggle for precedence, more closely contested than any ever witnessed over the race course. Bull's Run was as nothing in comparison with it.

Our men pursued the fugitives with determination, pausing now and then to fire a building or encampment, or to drive a rat-tail file into the touchholes of the huge cannon that met them at almost every step. They advanced to within a mile of Pickens. Not a gun from the ramparts was fired to check the advancing column; the very mound that goes down to the heavy swinging gates of the fortress, were sent to their long account.

The expedition having succeeded beyond the hopes of the most sanguine, our forces turned eastward. On their return, corpse after corpse of the enemy met their view, while many were badly wounded. Not a gun, all this time, had been fired from the fleet, whose presence and whose menaces have so long insulted us.

Our troops were on the island from two until six in the morning. The boats engaged in the expedition were towed back by the steamers Ewing, Tume and Neafie.

Of the Confederates a dozen or more were killed and twenty-nine were wounded. The latter are now in the hospital at Pensacola.

Among the killed are Capt. Bradford, of Florida, and Lieut. Nelms, of Georgia. The latter, an Adjutant of one of the Georgia regiments, died just as the boat, on its return reached the wharf. A braver or more chivalric gentleman and soldier never breathed. Lieut. Sayre, a volunteer aid to Gen. Anderson, was shot through the hip.

Some of our exhausted men were probably overlooked and left on the island. Maj. Vodge, U. S. A., and some thirty other Federals are prisoners in our hands.

Lieut. Slaughter, of the Mobile Continentals, who was taken prisoner while bearing a white flag to Fort Pickens, has been released.

Richmond, Oct. 10, 1861.—Col. W. E. Starke, of Gen. Loring's staff, has arrived here from Gen. Lee's camp in Western Virginia, with dispatches announcing the retreat of Rosecrant on the night of the 6th instant across Gauley river, proceeding rapidly in a northwestward direction.

It is supposed that want of supplies, impassableness of the roads, and lack of transportation, prevented Gen. Lee from making a successful pursuit of the retreating Federal army.

The War Department has received a dispatch from Gen. Bragg, officially announcing Major Anderson's exploit on Santa Rosa.

RICHMOND, Oct. 9, 1861.

Gen. D. E. Twiggs—Your dispatch is received. The department learns with regret that the state of your health is such as to cause you to be relieved from active duty. Your request is granted, but you are expected to remain in command until the arrival of Gen. Mansfield Lovell, who has been appointed to succeed you, and who leaves for New Orleans to-morrow.

J. P. BENJAMIN.

THE LATEST.

New Orleans, October 12.—Naval engagement begun at 3:45 o'clock this morning, at head of Passes, lasting one hour, and was again resumed at 9 o'clock and continuing.—Broadside are incessant. Further details soon.

New Orleans, Oct. 12.—Six gunboats commanded by Commodore Hollins, started down the river for the purpose of dislodging the enemy's vessels at the head of the Passes, which they did successfully to-day. The following dispatch from Com. Hollins has been received at the naval department announcing the victory last night.

Fort Jackson, Oct. 12.—Last night I attacked the blockaders with my little fleet and succeeded after a very short struggle to drive them all aground on Southwest Pass bar, except the sloop of war Preble which I sunk. I have captured a prize from them, and after I got them fast to the sand peppered them well. No casualties on our side. A complete success.

[Signed: G. N. HOLLINS.]

Our fleet carried sixteen guns and three hundred men, while the enemies' force was about forty guns and one thousand men.

Nashville, Oct 11—A special dispatch to the St. Louis Democrat, from Jefferson City on the 6th, says that it is generally conceded there that General Price is on his way South with the main body of his army.

Fredericksburg, Oct 11—Firing was heard up the Potomac at 3 and 9 o'clock this morning. The first fire was caused by our batteries opening on a tug, which, under cover of darkness, burnt a boat. The damage to the tug, is unknown. The firing at 9 o'clock, which lasted thirty minutes is unexplained.

Detroit, Oct 11—Col. Rankin, a member of parliament, who was lately authorized by the federal government to raise a regiment of lancers, has been arrested for acting in violation of England's neutrality.

Washington, Oct 11—Nothing but imperative demands of the public interest induced the government to supersede Fremont. The Attorney-General is unmoved in the expression of his opinion concerning Fremont, and he does not hesitate to pronounce his retention in office public crime.

Publicity has been given to the violation of the Savannah blockade, by the British steamer Bermuda.—This news is said to have proceeded from the dinner table of Lord Lyons. From the information received there is reason to believe that a part of the freight of the Bermuda consisted of 70 tons of powder, 7000 Enfield rifles, 10 rifled cannon, 60,000 pair shoes, a large quantity of blankets, clothing, quinine and morphine.

Remonstrances against the completing of the cargo and sailing of the vessel were made in London, by Minister Adams, but the foreign office did not feel at liberty, or did not its obligations to arrest the unlawful voyage.

It is a great deal better to say less than half what you think, than to think only half what you say.

Many public men consider themselves the pillars of the State, reaching their high position only by crawling.
