The Progressive League.

Every business man and public spirited citizen, who has the growth and prosperity of Thibodaux at heart should join the Progressive League. The object of this association is to unify the energies, influence and capital of our town so as to establish such new industries and enterprises as will promote our commercial and industrial progress in the world. The dues are nominal, being only twenty five cents per month to meet contingent expenses. While it is hoped that the members will try and attend all regular monthly meetings—to further the interests of the League and our city, yet no fines are imposed for absentees. Let all business men join and give their influence whether they can attend regularly or not.

That the telephone has its advantages, and is one of the greatest of modern blessings, no one will contradict, and that the long-distance 'phone should possess guardian angel qualities of the highest order the following story goes to prove; John—I will call him John—is the most devoted of husbands in the world and, while being a thorough good fellow, never, no matter when or where, forgets the dear little woman who has been his firetender and sweet heart these many years. Every day John telephones her from the office, and if business take him out of town he continues the 'phoning custom, or when that is not possible, sends her a message by wire. Last week John had to leave the city on business, and at the small town in which he found himself was made to have a regular royal time. However, at about 4 in the afternoon, his life's habit impelled him to make, I am afraid, a pretty unsteady way to a telephone station of long-distance connection. The number was obtained, and in due course of a few minutes John's wife called cheerily into his ear, "Is that you, darling?"

"Yes, m'love; I sh, well?" "When are you coming home, dear?" "Can ahay, m'love (hic); guesh it be cup, daysh (hic). Chit'en all well?" (Hic.) "John," cried his better half sharply, what's the matter with your voice? It sounds to me just exactly as if you had been drinking."

"Nawshence! Nawshence, m'love; long distance tel'fone; your voice sounds shame way your voice sounds shame way, m'love."—Eve in Times Democrat.

Prof. Hargis School. In company with Judge L. P. Caillouet the editor of the Sentinel visited Thibodaux College—and the Convent on Wednesday morning and received a most cordial reception at both institutions. The college opened its session with an enrollment of 82 pupils on Monday. The convent will begin its term, on Monday the 10th. inst. Read description of new convent building in another column.

At Peking. All is reported quiet at Peking. Formal entry of the palace grounds was made at 8, o'clock a. m. on August 28, by the International troops—a salute of twenty-one guns being fired at the south and north gates. The palace was vacant with the exception of about 300 servants. Bitter feeling is said to exist among the powers.

Magistrate Court. Ben Butler, colored, was brought up before Judge O. L. Caro on Tuesday last, charged with the theft of a revolver, and by reason of the evidence being "dead to rights" against the accused, his case was sent before the District Court in a bond of $75. Not being able to furnish bond he now languishes in jail. This is the second case of the same kind against Butler, and the probability is that he will be given a term in the penitentiary.

Be Cautious. Language is a potent factor in moulding human character and human destiny. Hence the necessity of bridling the tongue and keep back trailing and slanderous words. Individual character depends on the influences that surround it, not less than their impressions made on others.

Necrological.

Rev. Alfred E. Clay, president of the Louisiana society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, died last Saturday night, of Bright's disease, in New Orleans. In his death orphans and waifs have lost their best friend and it will be a difficult matter to replace his noble services.

Successful Opening. Misses Elvie and Edna Webre made a very creditable display of Millinery goods on last Saturday, the greatest merit being that almost every thing was their own artistic handiwork. They are rushed with orders for various lines of work, and start out in business under auspicious prospects for the future. Their display of hats etc. will be in about the 20th inst.

Splendid Opening. It gives us unfeigned pleasure to announce that Thibodaux College opened on Monday with an enrollment of 81 students. This augury of a largely increased attendance during the month and of a successful term during the current school year. Professors Hargis and Lafargue are competent and experienced educators and deserve a liberal patronage from parents and guardians.

The Gulf Storm. A slight touch of the gulf storm, which diverged to the Florida coast on Thursday, was felt here on yesterday in the prevalence of stormy north winds, followed by a heavy shower of rain in the afternoon.

Cuts and Bruises Quickly Healed. Chamberlain's Pain Balm applied to a cut, bruise, burn, scald or like injury will instantly allay the pain and will heal the parts in less time than any other treatment. Unless the injury is very severe it will not leave a scar. Pain Balm also cures rheumatism, sprains, swellings and lameness. For sale by Roth drug store.

Phillipino Islands. Military matters in the Phillipino islands remain in statu quo—there being occasional skirmishes in which about 100 insurgents are killed to one American. Is this not butchery?

South Africa. Despite the fact of alleged defeats and surrender of many commandos of Boers to the British forces in south Africa—the plucky and patriotic Boers continue their resistance to the foreign invaders.

At Peking. All is reported quiet at Peking. Excerpts from Bryan's Deer Park Speech, Sept. 4.

If Bryan distinguished himself by sound logic and broad statesmanlike ability in his speech on Labor Day and on the Populist Notification day, he certainly has shown that his moral philosophy is of the highest order by his recent utterances at Deer Park and Cumberland, Md. What strikes one most agreeably is the pure human sympathy, the real philanthropy that pervades his thoughts and language.

There is something of the spirit of Him Who spoke the Sermon on the Mount in such remarks as these: "I never visit a summer resort and see the refreshing shade and beautiful things without thinking how few comparatively of the people of this country are able to enjoy a summer home. "Would it not make the rest of those who can rest, sweeter to know that more were able to rest? I believe it would increase the enjoyment of those who now enjoy summer resorts to know that every year increases the number of those who might partake of the recreation and recuperation necessary for the active performance of the duties of life."

"To my mind moral courage is as much above physical courage as man is above the brute. It requires physical courage to stand before the bullets of an enemy, yet when life and drum inspire, few have been known to retreat before the foe. But moral courage is often wanting when physical courage is present; and what this nation wants is the moral courage of the citizen who would rather die than live wrong."

Negro Shot. Dr. L. E. Meyer was called early last Sunday morning to attend a wounded negro man by the name of Barney Morris, who works on a plantation between here and Schriever.

According to the negro's statement he met a white man in the public road, at Johnson's Ridge, near Schriever about 1—o'clock a. m. on Sunday, who, without any provocation fired upon him the ball penetrating the neck and lodging in the opposite shoulder. The negro did not recognize his assailant. Dr. Meyer says the man will recover although the wound is a painful one.

Soiree Dansante. A very enjoyable dance was given by the young men at the opera house on Wednesday evening at which the following participated:

Misses Maud Williams, Lillian Roth, Alice Malliot, Almira Frost, Lea Chauvin and sister, Misses Coignet, Alice and Louise Fazende, Miss Narcaire, Lea Knobloch. Leonce Morvant, Gaston Aucoin, Octave Coignet, Ed. Cherault, Ernest Roger, S. L. Bergeron, Van Beary, Emile Chol, James and Walter Sealy, H. Chauvin, Nobby Roth, Henry Bergeron, Octave Troclair, Maurice Celestin, Tames Bourg, Henry Lagarde, Clovis Daigle, Eugene Robichaux, Gaston Coulon, L. Horridge, Dr. J. L. Ragan and Fulton Rogers.

Magistrate Court. Ben Butler, colored, was brought up before Judge O. L. Caro on Tuesday last, charged with the theft of a revolver, and by reason of the evidence being "dead to rights" against the accused, his case was sent before the District Court in a bond of $75.
