Christmas-Tide, 1900.

Nineteen hundred years have circled around and find the world in very much the same moral conditions as at the dawn of the era of Christ.

Nineteen centuries since the Sermon on the Mount has been spoken, and the spirit of charity is yet unsoft by the majority of men.

Just as it was then, so it is now. Rivalries, ambition, greed for riches and social predominance animate the high and low.

No better picture of this human world can be given than this rather caustic satire of an English writer who compares it to "an Egyptian pitcher of tamed vipers each struggling to keep its head above the others".

Men and women may not be worse now than they were when the Divine Teacher was yet an infant in Bethlehem; but have they, under the holy influence of that new light, reached the degree of excellence which will be the seal of a new order of things?

Christianity, if it were understood, would mean peace, love, happiness. It would be just the opposite of the social order in which we live. Poverty would be ignored, Luxury contemned, Zealous distinctions would disappear, and War, cruel War would be forbidden by the universal fiat of humanity.

But the close of this long period of years finds us far away still from the goal of christianity. The Gospel has been taught; its lessons are understood, but its spirit is unheeded. In the rush for life, man overlooks his Destiny.

A hundred years more will have to pass before the millennium is reached. Will the Prince of Peace then really dwell on our earth? Oh! let us then at this renewal of his birth, pray that when a hundred more christmases have come, the world may be such that the Holy Infant can dwell in our midst and his angels may proclaim, that peace and good will do reign among mankind.

Ledet, Eva Adams and Mrs. Thomas Mattingly, from Houma. Messrs Junius Malbrough, Ed Wehre, F. Bertin, Felix Rosignol, Frank Tregle, Henry Fish, Walter Roger, Leon Naquin, Jos. Wagners, Paul Richard, Willie Dantin, Alfred Henry, Bentz Braud, Elmer Boudreaux, Victor Adam and C. P. Auslet. Prizes were won as follows: First Ladies Prize, won by Miss Josephine Beltau; consolation, Miss Ida Ledet; booby, Miss Nora Dantin. Gentlemen first prize, Mr. Alfred Henry; consolation, Victor Adam; booby, Bentz Braud. After the prizes had been distributed, a nice supper was served.

A Musical Treat.

The music lovers of this city owe a debt of gratitude to Manager V. J. The program was excellently rendered, and could not have failed to please even the most fastidious taste. There is in good music something elevating and refining, and in listening to the Christmas As Of Old.

Christmas, like it used to be! That's the kind would gladden me. Kith and kin from far and near Joining in the Christmas cheer. Oh, the laughing girls and boys! Oh, the feasting and the joys! Wouldn't it be good to see Christmas like it used to be?

Christmas like it used to be— Snow a bending bush and tree, Bells a jingling down the lane; Cousins John and Jim and Jane, Sue and Kate and all the rest, Dressed up in their Sunday best, Coming to that world of glee— Christmas like it used to be.

Christmas, like it used to be; Been a long, long time since we Wished (when Santa Claus should come)

You a doll and I a drum, You a book and I a sled Strong and swift and painted red; Oh, that day of jubilee! Christmas like it used to be.

Christmas like it used to be.

It is still as glad and free And as fair and full of truth To the clearer eyes of youth. Could we gladly glimpse it through Eyes our children's children do, In their joy time we would see Christmas like it used to be. —Nixon Waterman in Elliott's Magazine.

Young Women

The entry into womanhood is a critical time for a girl. Little menstrual disorders started at that time soon grow into fatal complications. That female troubles are killing graveyards proves this. Wine of Cardui establishes a painless and natural menstrual flow. When once this important function is started right, a healthy life will usually follow. Many women, young and old, owe their lives to Wine of Cardui. There is nothing like it to give women freedom from pain and to fit young women for every duty of life. $1.00 bottles at druggists.

Mrs. Della M. Sawyer, Tully, Kan. "I have suffered untold pain at menstrual periods for a long time, was nervous, had no appetite, and lost interest in everything. In fact was miserable. I have taken four bottles of Wine of Cardui, with Theodore's Black-Draught, when needed, and to-day I am entirely cured. I cannot express the thanks I feel for what you have done for me."

For advice in cases requiring special directions, address, giving symptoms, the Ladies' Advisory Department, The Chattanooga Medicine Company, Chattanooga, Tenn.
