You Send

Money to distant points? Of course you do. You can do this cheaper through the Bank of Thibodaux.

Order or Express. Bank draws its own MONEY ORDERS. Money is in the bank and all through the bank.

Electrical Railway.

The proposed Electrical Railway system along Bayou Lafourche is still meeting with encouragement. The people are beginning to take more interest and now realize the vast benefits that will accrue from the establishment of such a line and are extending their hearty support and co-operation.

Saddlery and Harness.

If you need a fine saddle or a set of good harness. See H. Riviere & Co., they can suit you. Large assortment just received.

Ladies Can Wear Shoes

Communication.

Lafourche, La. May 29th. 1901. Editor Thibodaux Sentinel.

There appeared in the last issues of your estimable paper, communications dealing on the matter of a "Free Bridge" at Thibodaux. I take the liberty to comment upon the substance of a few extracts:

"Why should we not have a free bridge?" Because it would deprive the Parish and the Town of Thibodaux of a goodly income.

"Why not unite and take action?" Send an influential and representative committee before both the Police Jury and the Town Council. I imagine that it would not require any iron-clad committee to appear before the town council. The toughest part for success would be before the Police Jury, I am inclined to believe.

"A free bridge would, in proportion, no more deprive the school funds of revenue than the insignificant consideration that established the bridge at Lockport in lieu of the ferry from which the parish never derived less than One Thousand Dollars a year." Evil for evil, brother. If the Police Jury has erred in regard to the Lockport bridge and sacrificed $1000 a year of the poor children's money to give it to a private corporation is bad, why try to influence that body to give a larger amount of the children's money to the corporation of Thibodaux? But I am one of those who believe that the members of the Police Jury try to do what is right, and whatever wrong has been done by the Police Jury can be rectified at any time.

"Now, who would be benefited? The benefit would inure to the public, identically the same ones upon whom it is now devolving." If this is true for crossing at Thibodaux it is true all along Bayou Lafourche.

The people have, from time immemorial, been paying toll on the Thibodaux bridge for the benefit of private and privileged individuals without any returns, as the case is now at Lockport. Then, why should the people object to pay toll on the Thibodaux bridge—when with many it is the only tax contributed—especially when all revenues derived therefrom come back to all the people of this Parish.

The people of Thibodaux are not directly injured by the toll of the bridge as it is, but its merchants would materially be benefited by a free bridge, I understand. Then, such being the case, let the merchants "unite and take action," and buy the bridge from the Parish authorities, for an amount equivalent to the present revenues, and establish to their hearts content a free bridge. This could be effected without injuring the much needed revenues of the Parish.

Yours etc. FAIR PLAY

Lafourche May 31st 1901. Editor Thibodaux Sentinel.

A good cause is never too well defended, and as two of your correspondents have already entered the lists, grant us also, we pray, a little space to come in as a partisan if not as an effectual champion, of the proposition in behalf of the public, that the Thibodaux Bridge should be free. The Bridge should be free, or at least, the toll should be reduced to a mere fraction of what it now is. When we consider the extent of travel which is carried on daily through that bridge, it is easy to conceive that under existing rates, the amount derived from it must be considerable. Far above what may be necessary for repairs and the salary of the keeper. Whatever may be the purpose to which the funds thus raised are devoted, it is generally conceded that this tax upon a particular section is an onerous one and is calculated to mar the traffic of that section with the town. Let the Thibodaux merchant look to it if he does not want to see the much coveted country custom slip away from his grasp. Bartering the few holiday attractions which the town offers, it would not require much more than $100 or three largely supplied stores to change the direction of a trade which has until now, drifted naturally to the town as a natural result of its position.

the olden times, or perhaps because it suits particular views and interests without regard to the general good is an error to be avoided.

On an average, there is hardly a week when a family or an individual may not have frequent calls to town. Let us suppose, for instance, that for shopping or other purposes, one may make three visits a week. If one owns a horse and buggy—and almost every body does in this Parish—it means an expenditure of 60c—nearly half the fare to New Orleans. Does it not seem enormous? The wonder is that no one has ever thought seriously enough about it to enter a protest, and we owe thanks to "Sonny" and "Sissy" for being so public-spirited as to bring up the subject and start the ball a rolling.

As "Rural Sissy" wisely suggests, the future of Thibodaux may be involved in the question, for to a prophetic eye, there looms up in no very far off horizon the possibility of a rival, should unwise legislation be persisted in. Already the T. & P. has a very handsome depot on the opposite side. Might it not be the nucleus of?—but—a word to the wise is sufficient.

"PLURIBUS".

Monsieur l'editeur de l'Aigle de Lockport.

Annoncez sil vous plait a vos nombreux lecteurs que grace a la generosite de Mme. Vve. Ferdinand Barillet nous aurons une banquette qui reliera desormais le village de Lockport avec l'Eglise St. Sauveur. Cette bonne dame a generosamente concede 5 pieds de son terrain pour faciliter les fidelles a frequenter l'Eglise malgre le mauvais temps. Je tiens a lui temoigner publiquement ma reconnaissance par votre Journal et je suis persuade que les paroissiens qui usent de cette facilite pour se rendre a la maison du Bon Dieu ne l'oublieront pas dans leurs prieres ni elle ni sa famille.

C'est une avantage tres-precieux qu'elle nous a accordee et certainement elle en recevra la recompense meme ici-bas. Ayez la bonte de publier ma lettre et priez la Sentinelle de Thibodaux de vouloir bien la reproduire. E. A. VIGOUX, Curé de St. Sauveur, Lockport, La.

Mr. Roland Williamson will leave this morning via the T. & P. for Houma, La. to spend a week with relatives.

A Sprained Ankle Quickly Cured.

"At one time I suffered from a severe sprain of the ankle," says Geo. E. Cary, editor of the Guide, Washington, Va. "After using several well recommended medicines without success, I tried Chamberlain's Pain-Balm, and am pleased to say that relief came as soon as I began its use and a complete cure speedily followed." Sold by Roth's drug store.

Surprise Party.

Appreciating the kindness and good will always manifested by Mr. and Mrs. Henry Molaison whenever a demand was made upon them to chaperone the Twentieth Century Social Club, the members of that popular and entertaining organization assembled together on last Tuesday for the purpose of giving this worthy couple a surprise party. Accordingly the met at the residence of Mrs. Ernest Beauvais, and when the appointed hour arrived wended their way to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Molaison on Cider street where they took them completely by surprise. The surprise lasted only a moment however, for the doors were soon open and the gay visitors given carte blanche in the premises. Mr. Gaston Aucoin, the president, in a few appropriate remarks thanked them on the part of the club to which Miss Sadie Gande responded on behalf of Mr. and Mrs. Molaison. The rest of the evening was devoted to games and dancing. Dainty refreshments were enjoyed and the happy couples left charmed with the way in which they had been entertained. Following were the participants: Miss Ida Toups and Mr. Ernest Roger, Miss Rita Lagarde and Mr. Albert Aycock, Miss Olympe Toups and Mr. Gaston Aucoin, Miss Lula Aucoin and Mr. Oliver Engerran, Marie Dansecau and Mr. E. N. Aucoin, Jr., Miss Bertha Richard and Henry Lagarde, Miss Sadie Gande, Mr. James Bourg, Miss Maggie Over and Mr. Jack Toups.
