A Good Cough Medicine.

It speaks well for Chamberlain's Cough Remedy when druggists use it in their own families in preference to any other. "I have sold Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for the past five years with complete satisfaction to myself and customers," says Druggist J. Goldsmith, Van Etten, N. Y. ## How He Became A Catholic.

"Cats have feelings like the rest of us, too," says a lady in the New York Tribune, "and show them in much the same way sometimes. My husband is a Protestant clergyman. A Catholic priest lives not far from us, in the same block, but we had never made his acquaintance. Some years before I got the cat I now have had an unusually large Tom, with yellow patches of fur on a white back ground. He was a great favorite with the children, especially with the baby, who was never contented unless Tom sat on a chair beside him at mealtimes and had a share of every thing the baby himself ate. "One day the children received a present of a little black and tan dog, and they were so delighted with their new pet that Tom was left in the cold. When dinner time came he got up in his accustomed place beside the baby, expecting to be fed. But baby would have nothing but the new pet, and so the dog occupied the place of honor.

and Tom had to be thumped to make him get down.

"It was an insult that called for blood, and watching his opportunity after dinner, Tom pitched into that dog and was giving him an awful licking when the children with shouts and blows fell on the cat and beat him soundly till he fled.

"When the novelty of the new pet began to wear off, however, as it did a few days ago, inquiries were made for Tom again. But no Tom could be found. Then it became known that nobody had seen him since the children beat him away from the dog. Tom was evidently lost. Perhaps the beating had broken some of his bones and he had crawled away to die. Great was the wailing, but no cat could be found. Two or three days after that I passed the Catholic priest's house, and there, inside the eash, seated on the windowsill, washing his face in the sunshine, I saw the big yellow and white spots of our Tom. He had deserted us and gone over to another faith. I told the children and they went and got him, but no coaxing or petting could persuade him to stay in our house an hour after they let him have his liberty. He could not get our desertion of him in favor of a rival, and so he stays still with the priest, who gives him an excellent character. We shall never succeed in making him a Protestant again.

A Magazine For Women.

The June DELINEATOR covers many varied interests of the home. It shows the latest styles for Ladies, Misses, Girls and Little Folks, several pages being illustrated in colors so as to give a correct idea of color combinations. The ever-practical dressmaking article describes the construction of the new Di Vernon waist. Other time comes in for its share and attention, by special articles being written on material for cycling skirts, summer dress fabrics and to a host of new and pretty surf habits or bathing suits. Summer Millinery is also illustrated in colors. The problems of Moving Day and after are dealt with very thoroughly by Margaret Hall and the etiquette required on the part of those who have moved into a new neighborhood is indicated by Mrs. Frank Learned in her Social Observances Department. Pastimes for Children, all sorts of fancy needlework for summer home, indoor decorations and other varied interests come in for attention. The wonderful benefactions of Baroness Clara De Hirsch, who aided her husband in giving away $100,000,000, are described and illustrated by Sara K. Bolton. The short stories of the month are by Elmore Elliott Peske and William McLeod Raine. A collection of antique silver is described in a special article devoted to the subject by N. Hudson Moore. The illustrated Cookery deals with birthday parties and is very beautiful. There is much else of interest in THE DELINEATOR, a publication that safely claims for itself that there is no magazine published that can meet the needs of all women at so many points.

Young Women

The entry into womanhood is a critical time for a girl. Little menstrual disorders started at that time soon grow into fatal complications. That female troubles are filling graveyards proves this. Wine of Cardui establishes a genuine and natural menstrual flow. When once this important function is started right, a healthy life will usually follow. Many women, young and old, owe their lives to Wine of Cardui. There is nothing like it to give women freedom from pain and to fit young women for every duty of life. $1.00 bottles at druggists.

Miss Della M. Strayer, Tully, Kan. "I have suffered untold pain at menstrual periods for a long time, was nervous, had no appetite, and lost interest in everything, in fact was miserable. I have taken four bottles of Wine of Cardui, with Theodore's Black-Draught, when needed, and to-day I am entirely cured. I cannot express the thanks I feel for what you have done for me."

For advice in cases requiring special directions, address, giving reasons, the Ladies' Sanitary Department, The Chattanooga Medicine Company, Chattanooga, Tenn.
