Nov. 6.—tl.

Jake Simon was disappointed.—Bulletin.

You are mistaken neighbor, Jake is the proudest man in the Parish even if it is a girl.

Lost.

On Saturday night, Nov. 3d, 1883, between the Post office and steamboat landing a gold pin with imitation diamond setting. The finder will be rewarded by leaving it at this office.

Commercial.

Business yesterday was fairly brisk and the receipts of cotton was up to general average for the second day of the commercial week, the sales amounting to 77 bales. Total receipts to date 4,131 bales. Exchange remains at par on New Orleans and on eastern and Western cities 1 to 1 per cent premium. Bank collections good.

River News.

The river measures 8½ feet in the clear and is rising slowly—about 6 inches every 24 hours with fair prospects of its continuance.

The Timmie Baker left yesterday morning for the Bartolemew.

The John H. Hanna leaves New Orleans this (Wednesday) evening.

The H. Hanna Blanks arrived yesterday at 2:30 p. m., with a fair trip. She was somewhat behind time owing to the incongruous condition of the river at Catahoula shoals. She discharged a good freight here and passed up at 5 p. m. for Ouachita City from whence she will return this a. m., and leave during the day for New Orleans. Capt. Jack Blanks, the genial, is master, Babe Tarlton and Stonewall Hanna Clerks. Get your baggage ready.

The St. Francis Belle passed up at 7 o'clock last night without landing. She had been employed at the "gut" at the mouth of Red river helping to keep the channel open but will now resume, as soon as water permits, her old occupation as a tributary packet.

M. Simon has re-opened his Tailor shop opposite the new courthouse. Fashionable tailoring, cleaning and repairing done at reasonable prices and satisfaction guaranteed. He solicits a liberal share of the public patronage.
Nov. 6.—1 m.

The audience that greeted Ward, the talented Irish comedian, in "Top o' the Morning" last night was not such a one, in numbers, as he deserved, but all who were present accord him full merit as an actor. He captured the audience in his triple character of Roddy O'Flaherty, Doctor Felix Mc. Ginty and Lanty O'Fagarty. Miss Mary Davenport gave a splendid rendition of the role of the adventuress and little Lillie Ward was charming—especially in singing that popular song Peek-a-Boo. She will be starring some day.

The play is a good one, but as we saw stated in a criticism, a little judicious pruning would make it a better.
