

West and East Feliciana, it would appear, is forever more to bear the brunt of that inveterate hatred existing in the breasts of a number of Radical conspirators both in this State and at the Capitol, in Washington. Now, whenever the people of the Northern or Western States become disgusted with the over zealous and sectional action of their Representatives in Congress and repudiate them for better men; when a Northern State reverses the order of things and sends Democrats instead of Republicans to represent them in Congress, Mr. Hayes, like the big boy who has been chastised in the school room for an offense, but daring not seek redress from the one inflicting the chastisement, wreaks his vengeance on a younger companion who is powerless to resist him. The fraudulent President was very much hurt that his "southern policy," (if possible a greater fraud than himself,) did not bring about a reaction and send a "SOLID SOUTH," of the Radical persuasion, to Congress. In the midnight hour of his discontent he gave ear to the temptings of the viper, and the first chapter of the teachings of old Zack Chandler, was read in the unreadable document placed before Congress in December last, and known as the "Southern Outrage Clause" of the President's message. The second chapter, we were informed by the telegraph a few days since, is ready for the re-opening of Congress. This body will be called upon to employ their valuable time in, considering a lot of statements made by Deputy Marshalls and others, who, in turn, claim to have got their information from parties who had been denied a free voice in the election of the State of Louisiana in November last. Among these documents is one relating to the election in West Feliciana and signed by one Bancroft, which we publish below:

Under date of November 14, Deputy Marshal Bancroft reports to the Marshal of Louisiana regarding the intimidation in West Feliciana parish. He writes: "I find that the men who have been corresponding with you in regard to these cases dare not do anything that will implicate themselves in any persecutions. Not one of them dare go into a court and testify. They say it would endanger their lives, and when it comes to getting the negroes to testify, that is entirely out of the question. The negroes who have been whipped know every man, but are afraid to say so."

"The whipping of Brockhart and Coats was done to make them drop politics. In the case of Brockhart, a short time before being hung and whipped, he was stopped on the road by T. Ogden, and H. Stockert and told that if he did not stop his electioneering he would be attended to, and was advised to announce in the paper that he would not have anything more to do with politics. After he was hung and whipped he was told to go home and have nothing more to do with politics."

"Coats was also informed by Lewis Smith and Charles Davis that if he was supporting the Barron (Republican) ticket, he would have to look out for himself. "After this conversation took place Coats says: 'They came to my house and asked for me. My wife informed the parties that I was not at home, whereupon they seized Mrs. Coats and beat her over the head with their pistols and whipped her. Mrs. Coats recognized C. Davis as one of the parties who beat her.' On the following day Coats was informed by Davis and others that if he would drop politics he and his family would not be interfered with again. Being afraid to refuse he agreed, and Davis promised to notify the people to that effect."

All the negroes who have had any trouble have been warned by the planters who employ them that if they told anything they would be killed or have to leave, and in consequence all the negroes are afraid to be seen talking to a stranger, if he is a white man. I believe the parties to whom you referred me could put a stop to all this bulldozing if they chose to do so. They are the men who did the same kind of work in 1874 and 1876."

"At the ninth ward poll in this parish intimidation was carried on on election day by a lot of armed men, who compelled negroes to vote as they told them, or not at all. Mr. Stewart, supervisor of registration, at Mr. Barron, clerk of the parish, were present and witnessed the proceedings. The following is a list of the men who have been engaged in whipping and hanging negro voters: [Here follows a long list of names.] A white man, a preacher who was preaching to the colored people, was whipped, and he afterwards told Gov. Nicholls. J. Carter knows all the men who were engaged in this, but is afraid to testify for fear of being killed."

Marshal McConnell names a number of persons who informed him they were afraid to vote, having been intimidated. He concludes by saying:

"The negroes in West Feliciana parish are in dread of the white people. The black man has no voice, and is entirely controlled by his employer."

This report says that certain parties were prohibited from voting the Republican ticket. The extreme absurdity of this assertion is made plain when the fact is known that the majority of candidates on the ONLY ticket opposing the regular Democratic nominees was ELECTED. The assertion that there are men in this Parish who could go into Court and testify to outrages being committed on persons opposed to Democracy, is a lie of the whole cloth. The construction of this pathetic document induces us to the belief that the same is stolen literature; nothing more or less than one of Weber's old '76 documents warmed over and new names inserted, for the occasion. It is a lame document at best.

A CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION.

The vote cast by the people of Louisiana last November, forces upon all the conviction that the voters of this State demand, at the hands of their Representatives, the calling of a Constitutional Convention immediately. The rejection of the proposed amendments to the constitution submitted to the voters, at the last election, clearly shows that nothing short of a Constitutional Convention will answer their purposes. Retrenchment and reform is, and ever will be, the war cry of the Democracy, until this is accomplished to the entire satisfaction of the tax-payers of this State. The judiciary of our State is the most expensive and most unsatisfactory ever known in any State of the Union. The money now paid to the tax collectors throughout the State would support and give to the State a judiciary far more efficient and satisfactory than the one now with which the people are cursed. The abolition of the office of tax collector, to which the Democracy are sacredly pledged for more than two years, was neglected by the last legislature, much to the disappointment of the people. Why the Legislature did not abolish that useless and costly office they, and they alone, can answer.

Now, let the present Legislature do only the work imposed upon them by their constituents: Pass a revenue bill, abolish the office of tax collector, remit the duties of that office to the sheriffs of the respective Parishes, call a Constitutional Convention, and return to their constituents. Then perhaps, the Constitutional Convention will call them, the present members, to legislate under the new Constitution, which will be framed within twenty days after the meeting of the convention if the delegates elected are the right men in the right place,

Alonzo Garcelon, of Lewiston, has just been elected governor by the Maine Legislature. He was the Democratic nominee at the late election, in which the people of that State failed to name their choice, owing to the almost even popularity of the Republican, Greenback and Democratic candidates for this position, and the clause in the constitution of that State requiring a majority of the votes cast to elect. The choice of the General Assembly in this matter is a crushing blow to the political aspirations of the bloody shirt Senator from that State, especially as the State Senate by whom Garcelon was confirmed, is overwhelmingly Republican. Perhaps Mr. Blaine will now follow the course of his compeer in hatred for the South—Conkling, of New York—and declare in favor of Grant.

The daily mail line has now been fully established. Capt. G. L. Kouns has replaced the steamer Willie with his fleet little Mary Ida and is making regular trips, daily, from Donaldsonville to Bayou Sara, arriving at Baton Rouge at about half past 8 p. m. The mails are sent from New Orleans by the Texas Railroad to Donaldsonville and are received there by the Ida at about 1 p. m., when she starts on her upward trip. On her return trip the Ida arrives here at about 6 a. m. As well as accommodating our business community with the daily mails the Ida is offering superior inducements to the traveling public. Capt. Kouns has put down the rates of fare very low. Through tickets to New Orleans, including room and meals on board, are issued for $3.50. This line is also issuing tickets for the round trip—on which the passenger can return at will—for $8.25, not including room or meals.—B. R. Advocate.

The Kouns daily mail, and railroad steamer is now carrying passengers to New Orleans from this point, for $3.50.—ly.

Mr. Thos. McIntyre, of New Orleans, has been chosen Sergeant-at-Arms of the lower House of the present State Legislature.

THE LOUISIANA LOTTERY CO.

We learn another attempt will be made to repeal the charter of that gigantic monopoly, the Louisiana State Lottery Company, during the present session of the Legislature. A Mr. Arnaud, member of the lower House, gave notice on the second day of the present session, of his intention to introduce at an early day a bill looking to the abolition of this tremendous monument to the reign of fraud, when such men as Warmoth, Kellogg, Wells and others of such ilk ruled the destinies of Louisiana. Should he be successful in his effort he will long be remembered as a great benefactor to his people and State. It is this gigantic monopoly is not protected by that rotten concern, the Constitution of 1868, and we are satisfied it is not, every Democratic member of the legislature should vote for the bill to abolish it. The people of West Feliciana will look for her Representative to use his energies for the passage of the bill, and we are satisfied they will not be disappointed.

The people of Louisiana are not opposed to Mr. Howard's lottery particularly, but they are opposed to his running one while it is a penal offense for others to engage in the same undertaking. The Democrat, which has made such a hard and persistent struggle for the abrogation of this unlawful organization, thus refers to the imprisonment of a citizen of New Orleans for selling other than Louisiana Lottery tickets.

Mr. Agusti, the prisoner, has committed no crime. Mr. Howard has over a hundred men in New Orleans, and many others throughout the State, actively, openly and constantly doing just what Judge Billings, of the United States Circuit Court, at the dictation of the Lottery Company, has imprisoned this man for doing, and will imprison others for doing—for selling lottery tickets. Thus the remarkable fact is presented that, under the laws of Louisiana, what it is a crime for one man to do, it is the legal, innocent and protected business of a favored few to carry on.

THE EIGHTH OF JANUARY.

On Wednesday last the citizens and soldiers of the city of New Orleans celebrated with their usual pomp and circumstance the sixty-third anniversary of Jackson's victory on the plains of Chalmette—the greatest and most remarkable of modern times. On this day, more than half a century ago, the rude hunters and frontiers-men of Kentucky and Tennessee, with a few battalions of Louisianians, met in battle the veterans of Wellington's army, men who had fought through the Peninsular war against Scult, Massena and Napoleon, and defeated these veterans more severely than any army of modern times has ever been beaten.

The New Orleans Democrat in speaking of this great battle says: The campaign that ended in the victory at Chalmette has been the study of countless historians and strategists. The English expedition to our coast was the most thoroughly organized, the best furnished and equipped, ever sent forth from that Island. The whole plan of the campaign had been fully arranged in advance, every movement determined upon. Success seemed inevitable. To the surprise of the world, a few rude hunters, an ill-furnished and poorly-equipped force, met this army and defeated it.

But it is not merely as a military victory that January 8 has been honored and celebrated in this country. It is not the soldier alone who does homage to it by a march or parade. Jackson's day has always been regarded as a sort of grand fete day for the Democracy. On the eighth of January, as regularly as on the fourth of July, the Democrats of New York, Ohio and other States assemble to do honor to that great Democrat as well as general—Andrew Jackson and to pledge their faith and allegiance anew to the Democratic party.

It is of all days, therefore, the one that can be most properly and fitly celebrated by all. In it we celebrate one of the greatest victories of modern times, the prowess of our own fathers, and the memory of a man whose deeds in peace equalled his victories in war.

Hon. J. C. Monro, of Caddo, has been elected Speaker of the House of Representatives of this State.

The cheapest and best line of travel between Bayou Sara and New Orleans is the Daily Mail and Rail Road Steamer, MARY IDA. Passage to New Orleans only $3.50, with room and meals. Round trip, $6.25.—ly.

On the 31st day of December last, Mr. Alex. Skipwith, of East Feliciana, while on his way to Arcola, a station on the N. O. & Jackson Railroad, had a fine male drowned in crossing one of the streams which intersects that section of country, the same having become swollen by the recent heavy rains.

THE OLD POLICE JURY.

EDITOR FELICIANA SENTINEL: Will you allow a tax payer through your paper to express his thanks to the late Police Jury for the manner in which they discharged their duties to this tax paying and over-burdened people? As a tax payer, I tender them my thanks and grateful acknowledgements. It is to be hoped the present Police Jury will follow in the foot-steps of true retrenchment and reform. A TAX PAYER.

The capital question is not by any means settled. On the contrary, there is every indication that Baton Rouge, and not New Orleans, is the choice of the people for the head centre of State affairs, Mr. L. Jastrenski, Mayor of Baton Rouge, who has been for some time in New Orleans watching the interests of his city, in a telegram, says: Secretary Strong authorizes me to telegraph our friends that he will refer the question to the legislature. He admitted that I held, according to tally sheets, proof that Baton Rouge had won the capital.

Kouns' Daily Mail and Railroad steamer "Mary Ida," leaves Bayou Sara every day except Sundays, for New Orleans at 2 o'clock in the morning.—ly.

We have received a copy of the Governor's Message, submitted to the two houses of the Louisiana Legislature on Monday last. The extreme length of this document precludes the possibility of our producing it in full but in our next issue we will furnish the most important items thereof. The Governor, after making due mention of the pestilence which spread affliction and woe throughout our sunny Southern land during the past summer, makes an exhaustive defense against the charges of insurrection and lawlessness proffered by the Radical conspirators.
