

Call for Conrad's Budweiser at all wholesale and retail grocery, liquor and drugstores and saloons generally.

Why is it the "deputy clerks" suffer more with heat than the other clerks? This has got to be a serious question with diminutive humanity.

Mr. John Miller, Southern agent of C. Conrad & Co's celebrated Budweiser Beer, was in our sanctum yesterday, cheering us with his genial face and smiles.

Rev. Dr. Sawyer goes down on the White this evening to attend the camp meeting of the Methodists at Biloxi, Miss. He will remain away for two weeks.

We are requested to state that Capital Lodge, I. O. G. T. meets every Saturday night, and members will be better able to sustain the good work by a prompt and regular attendance.

Mr. J. B. Nachman is making large shipments of cabbage to the Western markets. The profit in this shipping is only in the early spring crop, and it behooves our gardeners to make a note of its advantages.

We can still brag on the crops of East and West Baton Rouge parishes. They are presenting a very fine appearance, especially the corn, which, it is thought by old farmers, will make a magnificent return to the toiling yeomanry.

A certain bigoted darkey exclaimed to another, who offered him a nickel to help carry a piece of timber about twenty yards: "No, sar, I works for nobody fur a nickel!" This fellow ought to be shipped to Kansas; we have too many of that kind in the State!

Mr. H. B. Samuels, of the 4th Ward, called on us last Saturday. The crops in his neighborhood are in splendid condition, despite the fact that rain is needed. He will please accept our thanks for the kind invitation to attend the picnic at the latter end of this month.

There was a dish of nice honey on the table, around which sat a number of guests, among whom was the "gray haired veteran," and he asked a blushing young lady, with dimpled cheeks: "Won't you have some of that, honey?" Now this is what we call "gobbling up sweetness!"

REMEMBER!—Those who intend to favor the Grand Entertainment at Poplar Grove with their presence should remember that this evening, at 8 o'clock sharp, the Ferry Boat will leave the landing for that place. To-morrow evening the tug, with flats, will leave at the same hour. It will be one of the most delightful occasions of the season.

We understand that in the second ward there is a house inhabited by twenty-eight living souls. This would indicate quite a good sized house, but such is not the case by any means; on the contrary, it contains only four small rooms. Such a mode of living is dangerous to the health of a community, and our health officers should investigate the matter.

See in another column new announcements by Joshua Beal, the veteran retail grocer. You can always rely upon getting fresh articles from him. It is an old saying, that "if Beal receives a bad article of any kind from his merchant, he boxes it up and ships it back." This is the way he deals with his customers. He knowingly sells you nothing but what he can recommend as good and palatable. Keeping no liquors on hand of any kind, he makes a neat specialty of family groceries, as his handsome stock strikingly attests.

CENTENARY COLLEGE.—Through the mail, we have been favored with a card containing the programme of the Commencement Exercises of this justly renowned institution, one where many prominent Baton Rougeans, in years past, received their education. From far and near, a large assemblage gathers annually at the lovely town of Jackson to witness the interesting spectacle afforded them of the progress made by our youths in acquiring knowledge. The annual sermon will be delivered on Sunday, July 4, by Rev. C. K. Marshall; on Monday, July 5, meeting of the Board of Trustees and exhibition of the Preparatory School; on Tuesday, July 6, meeting of the Alumni; address by John Jay Lane, Esq.; contest in oratory for the T. Sambola Jones gold medal; exhibition of the Literary Societies and address by Senator R. L. Gibson, of Louisiana; on Wednesday, July 7, exhibition of the junior class and address by Rev. B. M. Palmer, D. D.

Temperance Drink. The News, Salt Lake City, reports: "We wish to call the attention of our readers to Warner's Safe Bitters. We are satisfied from investigation that they are entirely free from intoxicating ingredients, and also that they are healthful, pleasant to the taste, a fine appetizer, a good stimulant, and the best known remedy for malarial troubles."

Beware of imitation. Call only for Conrad's Budweiser. If you find any imitation, please report the same immediately to C. Conrad & Co., St. Louis, or to John Miller, the general agent, No. 2 Jackson street, New Orleans.

AT POPLAR GROVE.

On Tuesday last, when the shadows of night had obscured the setting sun, as cheap poets would say, we took passage on board the staunch little Ferryboat in company with some fifteen or twenty ladies and a larger number of the gallantry of the Capital City. For awhile the northern sky had a cyclonish look, that seemed to weaken the nerves of some of the "fresh water salts" on board. It was but a zephyr though, when the cloud broke; the pale moon threw its soft light on the Great Father of Waters, the boat blew her shrill whistle to hurry up the strugglers, Rear Admiral Lito Picturow, of the Russian Navy, now spending a leave of absence among some distant relatives here, who, by a tacit understanding had been placed in command of the excursionists—with his sonorous basso contralto voice, in a stentorian tone was comprehended by the linguists of the party to have yelled out in his native tongue, words which seemed to have sounded as the common expression "all right." Far from us do we drive the thought that the Admiral's happiness would have been marred, had not the ladies arrived, whom he kid gloved aboard, in a style that would do credit to a Parisian salon before he saw fit to make known to the Pilot that "all was right."

To the Scandinavian who hinted that the madam wouldn't like it, he responded with a look of offended innocence that made the wretch sit down at the end of a bench near by.

But enough of this. We will pass hastily over the incidents attending the quick trip to Poplar Grove, where some gentlemen were in waiting at the edge of the river to light up the pathway of the visitors. The hill was stormed in double quick time, and the Baton Rouge delegation entered the hall in triumph. Seats were provided, when general attention was directed toward the stage.

In due time the manager appeared to the left of the footlights to announce the Stereopticon. Many interesting views and portraits were shown to the audience, the subjects being ably explained before each tabeau, with a tone and manner denoting that the "Judge" was something more than an amateur on the boards. Several very pleasing choruses were sung, followed by recitations, and the programme concluded by the "Hungarian March," which was handsomely executed by a number of brilliantly costumed boys and misses.

The hall was then cleared for dancing and the devotees of the "heel and toe," impelled by the sweet music of Pages' string band, captivated the attention of the spectators for the remainder of the evening.

Hovering around the tastefully decorated stands, and among the fair sex, like a butterfly among the latter and a bee among the roses—the sparkling bowl—could be described, the joined editor of the Sugar Planter, who, as soon as he approached us, whispered in our ear the startling intelligence that the first quarter of one hour had flitted by ere the thought struck him that the Governors of the Carolinas would consider that a very long time, had elapsed between drinks. In imitation of Burr's piper, who, "louder and louder blew," shorter became the intervals separating one draught from another. By one heroic effort, we shook off our weak brother, and joined the gay dancers.

Time flew rapidly while admiring the many fair dancels of West Baton Rouge. It was now a brunette, then a blonde, whose beauty filled our imagination with the most charming thoughts. We wished that they were prizes in a lottery; that we held a dozen tickets and that the boy drawing from the wheel, subsidized by our humble self, had our numbers in his sleeve, to be brought out when we tipped him the wink, so that we might cheat knowingly, deliberately and with malice aforethought. Like a scamp or a common pick-pocket, we would have despoiled some happy mortal of his sweetheart. That's all.

A change came o'er the spirit of our dreams, when the Admiral gave the signal to retire, a movement which, though with reluctance, was effected in good order.

After exchanging a lock of hair with Brother H., who by this time looked as rosy as a cherub, we reached the boat in time to answer "here" to the stern command of "all aboard," leaving home with us the recollection of one of the most pleasant evenings spent for many months.

The attendance was large and the managers had spared no pains to render the entertainment what it proved to be—a grand success. Nothing was missing. A splendid supper spread in the open air, lights on every side, among which were the pleasant faces of whoresouled friends. We reached our "cottage by the sea" at half past 2 o'clock, as happy as the typical sunflower that everybody reads of.

To Capt. Holt, of the jaunty craft "Irene," we are indebted for the very kindest treatment. In our gratefulness we venture to extend him a vote of thanks for the courteous manner he displayed toward the excursionists, who, we are sure, will second our motion and adopt it unanimously.

The finest tonic in the world is the Home Bitters.

GOURRIER & McNAIR.—It should not be forgotten that these go-ahead insurance agents came to the rescue of Baton Rouge in the hour of her most pressing need. Through their efforts, the staunch companies they represent took up $2,500 worth of Capitol Bonds, and were ready to take several thousands more, if necessary. It is but proper that our people should look to their own interests by patronizing men who have demonstrated that they will use their profits to develop the prosperity of the community wherein they live. In a word, encourage liberality and public spirit by your support if you would prosper yourselves.

Home Bitters are endorsed by a legion of physicians and chemists.

One of our policemen had his suspicions aroused the other day, by seeing three shabby individuals look very hard into several of our dry goods and clothing stores. One of them would go in while the others waited outside. This maneuver was repeated in some six or seven places. When the officer was revolving in his mind the propriety of arresting the trio, he saw them enter Feibelman's store in a hurried manner and disappear under the escort of Mr. Coody. After awhile three of the best dressed and most stylish looking men he ever saw, came out, when one of them smilingly remarked to him: "Don't you think, after all, that Feibelman's good clothes got a long way towards making the man?" The policeman wilted and walked on to "pastures new and green."

Conrad's Budweiser bottled beer is an invigorant to the invalid.

HON. M. D. LAGAN, the head of the staunch firm of Lagan & Mackison, whose store is at the foot of Common and Canal, New Orleans, has returned from a tour to the Emerald Isle. From his private letter we guess him to be as jovial and wholesouled as ever. It must not be forgotten, this firm is one of the most reliable in the South, where planters and others can obtain boilers, steam trains, mills, strike pans, sugar house and all other machinery and a full line of farm and plantation implement, nails, spikes, bar and sheet iron, lead, zinc etc. At short notice all articles in his line are manufactured or delivered. The most competent workmen are sent out by this house into the country to set or repair machinery. We would earnestly recommend our readers to give this house a call. Their figures are as low as the lowest.

Messrs. Ed. Davis and Emmanuel Carmona, two energetic and thrifty young planters of the Third Ward, visited our office on Tuesday. They report good prospects in their vicinity. We extend thanks for an invitation to attend an affair on Sunday, where yellow-legged chickens are condemned to suffer at the hands of the Knights of the Knife and Fork. Joshua Beal, a la Lumdy's Lane, is at 'em again, offering a fresh selection of choice groceries, which he sells on the ragged edge of market quotations. He has just received a lot of magnificent lemons and "Curried Oysters" as a novelty in the grocery line.

Mr. John Skipwith, of Clinton, was here in the early part of the week. He formed a good many new acquaintances, with whom he seemed to get along most pleasantly. Their verdict is that he is a clever and sociable gentleman, just as our East Feliciana neighbors are as a class. Baton Rouge's thirty-five thousand dollars will be deposited in the State treasury within a few days, showing that the Capital city comes to time when its people get it in their heads to accomplish a purpose.

Mr. David Carlisle, of that live settlement, New St. Louis, called Thursday morning. Though his crops need rain, everything looks promising in the extreme. Prentice Speaks. The Louisville Courier Journal speaks as follows: "Why are you billions? glares an interrogative headline in our bright and esteemed contemporary, the Keokuk Gate City. Read and referred to H. H. Warner & Co., who replied: 'Always keep by you, ready for use, Warner's Safe Pills.' This advice followed, the above query need never be propounded."
