

Reed's Gilt Edge Tonic cures Chills and Fever.

The city treasury will be inflated to the amount of eighty five dollars from fines imposed by the Mayor yesterday.

Messrs. E. A. Burke, State Treasurer, and W. A. Strong, Secretary of State, were in attendance at the recent meeting of the Capitol Commissioners.

An invigorating norther arose last night, and swept away the clouds that had given several abundant showers. The weather to day, cool and bracing as it is, is just the kind that our sugar planters need at this moment.

"E. O. M.," in the N. O. States, wants "the washing of a few gentlemen or a small family to take home." The small families roundabout Baton Rouge can't well be spared; but some of the gentlemen—don't all speak at once!

We were pleased, on Wednesday, to receive a call from our old townsman, Mr. R. W. Knickerbocker, who now resides in New Orleans. Mr. K. is in attendance upon the District Court.

We are indebted to Mr. L. W. Conery, Instructor in Agriculture at the State University, for a cluster of mammoth Brazilian yams, which are a fair sample of what East Baton Rouge lands can do.

One hundred and five is the number of Cadets in attendance, this date, at the Louisiana State University and A. & M. College. The prospect is very flattering for a large attendance on or about January 1st, 1882.

Mr. Frances E. Trudeau, of Hermitage, has launched the Gov. Wiltz, a steamer seventy-five feet long, that is to run in the False river of Pointe Coupee, carrying freights and passengers from the river terminus to New Road and intermediate landings.

Gov. McEnery and the members of the Capitol Commission are expected by to-day's train, for the purpose of devising ways and means for putting the Capitol in condition to receive the General Assembly on the occasion of the forthcoming extra session.

Dr. J. T. Davidson, of Homer, a minister of the Presbyterian Church, who served as a member of the Constitutional Convention, we regret to learn, died recently at his home. Dr. Davidson was a worthy man, who fearlessly voted in that body for what he conscientiously believed to be the interests of the people of Louisiana. He was a zealous advocate of the removal of the Capitol to Baton Rouge.

The street railway company, we are happy to state, is preparing its organization under the stipulations of its published charter, with a view of commencing operations at an early date. The gentlemen who compose it have the interest of the community deeply at heart, and they know that they are engaging in an enterprise which cannot fail to do Baton Rouge immense benefit in various ways. Everybody should take stock according to his means. Forward all the time, should henceforth be the motto of our citizens.

A CUTTING AFFAIR.—Through Mr. F. L. Reeks, we learn that on Saturday night last, at a colored ball, near Musson, a bully, one Charles Wilson, colored, entered the room in a defiant and provoking manner, which finally drew the attention of the colored Constable, Joe Harold, who endeavored to have him behave himself. This served to increase Wilson's misbehavior, who attempted to seize the Constable, around whom he brandished a knife, when at length the Constable fired at him, the ball grazing Wilson's cheek, who then stabbed Harold in the side, inflicting a serious wound. Wilson was arrested and taken to jail, at Plaquemine, by our informant.

"POUND CAKE" LIFTED.—On Wednesday, Aaron Johnson alias Pound Cake, was jerked up before the Mayor's Court. He is the "back rabbit" or race horse that has pranced around the police for many months past. There was a long file of witnesses, of both sexes, whom "Pound Cake," had hit with sticks, and skillets, after which occurrences he had "dusted" from the police who had never been able to catch him, until the other night when they cornered him by chance. He started to run away from the Chief and an assistant, but unsuspectingly ran into the outstretched arms of Mr. Andrew Finck, the young gunsmith, who is an ordinance department within himself, who happened to be acting as an officer. Mr. Finck, as can well be imagined closed down on Pound Cake, who was at last brought to jail to answer for his many offenses. The Mayor, seemed glad to see him and after a short examination unloaded on him the whole City Charter. It was so seldom that he had the pleasure of seeing Pound Cake, that he would retain him as long as he could. Pound Cake was jailed for twenty days and fifty dollars. Having made arrangements to pay his fine, the matter was compromised and Pound Cake set at large, somewhat wiser, it is hoped.

The Extra Session. A telegram received Tuesday, is to the effect that the Capitol Commissioners are to meet here to-day, Thursday, to take steps to have the Capitol put in condition to receive the General Assembly, which the Governor, it seems, has decided to convene in Extra Session, soon.

We would, in this connection, suggest to our citizens, that a committee be organized to make arrangements for facilitating our Legislators and State officers in finding quarters and board at reasonable prices, so that it may not be said, as it has already been intimated, that Baton Rouge cannot furnish comfortable accommodations to the General Assembly.

It must not be said either that Baton Rougeans have seized the opportunity of a short extra session to gouge those whose duty or business calls them here. We feel confident that Baton Rouge will come to time creditably as she has never failed to do, when her good name has been in question.

Major S. L. James. We were pleased to welcome the intrepid Major in our sanctum, on Wednesday morning. He has just returned from a trip to Europe, which had been necessitated by his impaired health. He looks as sound as he ever was. He told us that he had made every arrangement with a stanch firm of Eastern Manufacturers to start the Cotton Factory, at the Penitentiary on or about January first. We are anxious to see this enterprise put in operation, as its success will doubtless induce many more to be established in our city and State. If manufactures can be added to agriculture, Louisiana will boom ahead of her Southern Sisters in a very short time. The Major is a liberal, public-spirited citizen, whose only great fault is that he isn't worth $10,000,000.

Major's Court Proceedings. [OFFICIAL.] Tuesday, Nov. 1, 1881. Aaron Johnson, colored. Disturbing the peace. Fined ten dollars or five days jail.

Mike Abern, white. Disturbing the peace, and carrying concealed weapons. Owing to previous good character, fined only in the sum of twenty-five dollars, or sentenced to imprisonment for fifteen days.

Missouri Finlay, colored, and William Jones and wife, white. Disorderly conduct. Discharged with a reprimand and due warning.

Aaron Johnson, colored, alias Pound Cake, charged with frequent acts of disorderly conduct. Disturbance of the peace, and evading arrest and trial by running away from the police. Sentenced to all the penalty authorized by the City Charter. Fifty dollars fine, or twenty days jail and twenty days jail.

LEON JASTREMSKI, Mayor.

Saturday's Edition.

The Capitol Commissioners.

The Commission was called to order by Gov. McEnery at 5 P. M.

Present.—Messrs. Munday, Robertson, Richardson and Buffington.

After their correction, so as to embody Mr. Buffington's enquiry, whether the services of the Superintendent or Architect could be dispensed with, the minutes of last meeting were adopted.

Mr. Hagan reported himself present.

The Governor stated that the meeting had been called for the purpose of looking into the feasibility of placing the Capitol in a condition to comfortably accommodate the General Assembly and Constitutional officers, in time for the Extra Session which he intended to call for the first Monday in December, prox.

He added that although he preferred that the session should be held in Baton Rouge, if it were possible, that in his and the opinion of distinguished jurists, the same could legally be held at New Orleans.

Mr. Buffington said that the question of the selection of the place where a session would be held was not before the Commission. It was as to the possibility of preparing for the reception of the Assembly and State officers by the time mentioned. In his opinion, it was impossible for the plasterer and other contractors to put the building in a sufficient state of completion by the date mentioned. No one desired the session held here more than he, yet, he felt constrained to make the above acknowledgment.

Mr. Munday, said that the lathing was progressing very finely. He had learned that the lime and sand for plastering was not at hand. He did not think that the Halls and rooms for the Constitutional officers could be sufficiently finished by the time specified.

Mr. Hagan, said that he had inspected the building closely and in his opinion, at this season of the year, the plasterer could not before the 15th of December give more than one dry coat to the Halls and officer's rooms.

here than in New Orleans. For one he could stand it here and be thought others could too. The Legislature had met in halls that were not more comfortable than they could be made here by the date mentioned.

Mr. Robertson, substantially, agreed with Mr. Richardson.

Mr. Hagan, said that the plasterer had the scaffolding up in the Hall of the House which he did not intend to remove, until he had finished it. Hence, he would have to be compensated were he instructed to move it.

The Governor stated that unless it was certain that the Capitol could be put in sufficient order, the State's interest would be jeopardized, by necessitating an adjournment to New Orleans or en sine die, if the building was not ready to receive the Assembly. He was anxious to see the building put in condition, as soon as possible to receive the State officers, when he would issue an order for their removal to Baton Rouge.

Gen. Munday, said that the contractors were all at work. Could they suspend the same without serious inconvenience and expense pending the meeting of the Assembly. He suggested that the contractors be consulted.

Mr. Richardson was of the opinion that the contractors after preparing sufficiently the Halls and rooms for officials, could go to work in the upper stories during the session. The furniture could easily be moved about when necessary. The removal of scaffoldings would cost very little. The building was enclosed and could be made comfortable.

Mr. Buffington, said the gas fixtures were not ready, staircase and fireplaces unfinished, and he could not see that the building could with certainty be made comfortable.

In reply to the Governor's inquiry said that it would be discreditable to all parties to hold the session in the present condition of the building, which could not be made comfortable in time. Its occupancy would be unsatisfactory to everybody and would interfere with the proper progress of the work.

The Superintendent coincided with the Architect.

The Governor then put the question as to whether in the opinion of the Commissioners the building could be made habitable in time for the first Monday in December. The vote stood:

Ayes—Messrs. Richardson and Robertson.

Noes—Messrs. Buffington, Hagan and Munday.

The Governor desired to learn from the Architect when the capital could receive the Constitutional officers. Could this be by January 1st?

The Architect could not say for certain, as the cold weather would delay the plasterer. The edifice would, beyond any question, be amply completed for the reception of the Assembly and officials by May 1st.

A resolution requesting the Chairman to insure the building to an amount not exceeding $100,000, was adopted.

Also a resolution recommending the employment of Mr. J. W. Brown, as foreman, by the joiner, Mr. Kiddell, in order to further his work. The workmen to be paid weekly on pay rolls certified to by the Architect and Superintendent, provided, Mr. Kiddell and his sureties agree to the proposition.

On motion of Mr. Robertson a committee composed of Messrs. Richardson, Robertson and Munday was appointed to frame a report of the work of the commission, same to be submitted to the Generally Assembly at its forthcoming session.

The Commission then adjourned till to-morrow at 10 A. M.

Why Not be Happy.

Would to God that the people who reside in East Baton Rouge and adjacent parishes, could pay a visit to "the new fields and pastures green," where emigration is going to. They would soon return and appreciate the great resources within their grasp, at home, which require just about one-half the work that is put in, in many parts of Texas, for instance, to bring to them an abundant share of the world's comfort and wealth.

Here they have all the timber they want for fencing, building and heating purposes. They have well watered pastures for stock and lands that will produce, fruits, vegetables, cereals of all kinds in great quantities, by the application now and then, of native fertilizers.

Compare these resources with those sections where settlers have to get at the railway station the lumber to build their houses, and to haul wood, fuel and even drinking water, over miles of the roughest kind of roads.

The people of Louisiana ought, to know, that they are located in a country where the Almighty seems to have taken a delight to place within their reach, the wherewith to excel in riches the famed fields of the banks of the Nile.

Concent of action and energetic work will bring astounding results, why not bring this about?

"The finest pecans in Christendom," gathered in East Baton Rouge, is the remark that accompanied the bag containing 250 of that fruit, which an esthetic young man presented to his "tootsie woosie," with his compliments, the other evening, right here in Baton Rouge. So says the boy who chased the lame cat.

The "Premier" is the name of a new cooking stove design, recently put on the market and advertised in this issue. It seems to be a perfect jewel in appearance, and embraces the latest improvements, some of which are patented. If this stove gives the satisfaction we believe its specialties indicate, we will in future give a review commensurate with its merits. Mr. Wm. Gasell, our active young dealer in stoves and tinware and worker in copper and sheet-iron, is the agent, and will be happy to explain its specialties to all who are desirous of purchasing a good stove.

Our young friend Simon Block, who has been engaged in business at Port Gibson, Miss., for several months past, returned home this week. We were pleased to greet him in our office, and more than gratified to record the fact that he has returned home to stay. In future he will found behind the counters of the mammoth dry goods establishment of A. Rosenfield, where he will extend a hearty welcome to his friends.

We are requested by Mr. L. Litty to announce that he will keep constantly on hand the best of salt oysters, which he will supply to families at the very lowest rates. Mr. Litty's well known taste and neatness in the conduct of his confectionery establishment will guarantee him a good patronage.

Lake Charles Echo: Jesse G. Gore, a resident of Vernon parish, while on his way home from the depot here, on the Louisiana Western road, on the evening of the 26th, about 10 o'clock, accidentally fell from the cars and was run over, killing him almost instantly. A coroner's inquest was held over the body, and a verdict rendered according to above statement. His remains were turned over to our city marshal, A. J. Ryan, who procured a coffin and had them brought and interred in the corporation graveyard.

Professor Lippard, the genial professor of "the poetry of motion," is in the city.

We are indebted to a friend for a few extracts from a letter written by a lady traveler in California. They will be found very interesting.
