DISAPPOINTED

Congress is Not Doing

Things to Suit the Gentleman.

By Union Associated Press.

Washington, June 30.—Roosevelt's first experience with congress is not bringing good results. His pet, Cuban reciprocity notwithstanding his urgent efforts upon congress, was refused for first time since the McKinley administration party divided over the question of tariff. The result is a complete revision of the tariff will be forced upon the next congress. The present session has been disappointing, not only to the president, but to the country. After a session of seven months, only eight important bills has been passed. The republicans are greatly handicapped by division and dissension, and it is said that the president is anxious about the situation.

Passed a Good Night.

By Union Associated Press.

London, England, June 30.—10 a. m.—King Edward passed a good night and slept well. Dressing the wound gives his majesty much distress, but there are no symptoms of any sort.

Steadily Improving.

By Union Associated Press.

London, June 30.—It is officially announced at 3:35 this afternoon that the improvement in the king's condition is being steadily maintained.

Senator Foreaker Ill.

By Union Associated Press.

Washington, D. C., June 30.—It is reported today that Senator Foreaker, who was taken home ill from the White House, Saturday, has peritonitis. Much mystery is being thrown around his condition. Mrs. Foreaker said today that her husband was entirely out of danger, and has been able to sit up a short time.

Business Leaving Cuba.

By Union Associated Press.

Havana, Cuba, June 30.—The failure of the United States to grant reciprocity with Cuba, has driven practically all the large business houses out of the island, which were established during the intervention. Even such strong houses as Armour & Co., and Swift & Co., quit this week.

Elkins For Annexation.

By Union Associated Press.

Washington, June 30.—Elkins spoke today in the senate of the resolution heretofore offered for the annexation of Cuba. He says that now is the time to carry into effect the well defined wish of the people of Cuba and America. No reason can be urged against it, as it is asserted that annexation is inevitable under existing circumstances.

Carrington, state superintendent of public schools of Missouri; President George P. Denny of Washington and Lee University; Superintendent J. H. Hineman, of Pine Bluff, Ark.; J. B. READ IT IN HIS NEWSPAPER.

George Schauf, a well known German citizen of New Lebanon, Ohio, is a constant reader of the Dayton Volks-Zeitung. He knows that this paper aims to advertise only the best in its columns, and when he saw Chamberlain's Pain Balm advertised therein for lame back, he did not hesitate in buying a bottle of it for his wife, who for eight weeks had suffered with the most terrible pains in her back and could get no relief. He says: "After using the Pain Balm for a few days my wife said to me, 'I feel as though born anew,' and before using the entire contents of the bottle the unbearable pains had entirely vanished and she could again take up her household duties." He is very thankful and hopes that all suffering likewise will hear of her wonderful recovery. This valuable liniment is for sale by all druggists.

JENNINGS NO. 2

IS A GUSHER.

Well Breaks Loose—Shoots

Stream of Oil Fifty Feet

Above the Derrick.

One of the most welcome pieces of news that has come from the Jennings oil field in a good long while arrived this afternoon when T. C. Mahaffey phoned to the Record that Jennings well No. 2 had come in a first-class gusher, and was shooting oil fifty feet above the derrick, which means 125 feet above the ground.

One reason why this is welcome news is that it belongs to the Jennings Oil company, who had the pluck to put thousands of dollars into development of the Jennings oil field when all others had given it up, and while this company deserves great praise and all the credit for proving the Jennings field a paying one, this is the first gusher the company has produced, and which no other parties has any interest whatever. The well will be a money maker for the stockholders and will begin to bring in good returns at once.

This is the third high gusher brought in, and three more are looked for in a few days. The news of these great oil strikes has spread until Jennings is becoming famous, and the field is known the world over as the Jennings oil field notwithstanding attempts by some of our neighbors to run away with the prize.

Special to the Record.

Sad Death of Mrs. Harris.

On Saturday morning Mrs. E. Harris started from her home on East Third street, telling her two little children that she intended going to the bayou, about two miles distant to fish. She told the children that if she did not return they should go to their aunt's, Mrs. John Zabolio, jr., for dinner, and that she would be back home at night.

Mr. Harris works in the Jennings Woodworking company's establishment, owned by H. F. Jaenke, a brother of Mrs. Harris. He had gone to his work early in the morning and did not return home until 7 in the evening.

Mrs. Harris had not returned when he arrived, and after hearing the story of the children, Mr. Harris began to search for his wife and at 8 o'clock informed her brothers, E. R. and H. F. Jaenke of the condition of affairs, and a systematic search was begun, but no trace of the missing woman was found during the night.

On Sunday morning Rev. Z. C. Barker discovered a body floating in the bayou a few rods above the McFarlain saw mill, which on examination proved to be the body of Mrs. Harris. Mr. Barker at once communicated with the relatives who came and took charge of the body.

Mrs. Harris had been in very poor health for several years, which had affected her mind and made her despondent at times, and it is supposed that in one of these despondent periods, she had tired of the trials and sufferings of this world and decided to take her own life. A bottle nearly filled with carbolic acid was found in a basket she had left on the bank of the bayou. She had probably taken some of the fluid which prevented her from sinking. The funeral was attended only by the relatives, and burial was made in the Jennings cemetery, Sunday afternoon.

500,000 Immigrants.

Special to the Record.

New York, June 30.—There is no truer indication of national prosperity than the volume of immigration. As the conditions of prosperity in this country have become more and more pronounced during the last few years there has been a steady increase in the number of immigrants. Figures for the fiscal year ending today at Ellis Island show that nearly 500,000 aliens have landed at this port, the present month alone bringing more than 50,000 from the various countries of Europe. A noticeable fact is the increase in the number of Italian arrivals.
