THE BIG FIGHT WON AND LOST

Jeffries Knocks Fitzsimmons out in the Eighth Round.

By Union Associated Press.

San Francisco, July 26.—Jeffries knocked out Fitzsimmons in the eighth round of what was to have been a twenty-round fight. By this victory Jeffries retains the championship of the world. Ten thousand spectators were present. The men will probably divide $40,000 between them to-day.

The report that was circulated today and last night by some newspapers that the fight was a fake is absurd; it was a desperate battle, won and lost on its merits. Both are satisfied. Fitzsimmons said today: "I fought the best I could. The best man won. I shall fight no more."

Jeffries said: "Fitzsimmons gave me the fairest fight I ever had. He is the most dangerous man alive. I consider myself lucky to have won when I did."

An examination made by a surgeon disclosed the fact that Jeffries' nose was broken and the small bones badly shattered. His face is bruised and cut up, and the big boilermaker shows today many marks of his desperate battle to retain the title.

Fitzsimmons suffers much pain in the sides and chest, and is bruised, discolored and swollen so that he breathes with keen pain. It will be some time before he recovers from the effects of the battle.

The report of a fake fight is absurd.

Prize Fight in New Jersey.

By Union Associated Press.

Ashbury Park, N. J., July 26.—A lively prize fight was pulled off at Norwood Park, between Fred Gesner, station agent at Allenhurst, and Eddie Daly, of Baltimore. Daly fouled Gesner and lost the bout. There were 125 spectators. The grand jury will be asked to act.

Fairbanks vs. Hanna.

By Union Associated Press.

Washington, July 26.—The latest political gossip represents that Fairbanks is arranging his political lines so that if Hannah enters the convention in 1904 as a candidate for presidency he will do the same. This is based on the idea that what's fair for Ohio is fair for Indiana.

Hanna is not desiring the presidency for himself; his friends say he expects the nomination to go to Roosevelt, but is holding his peace now and awaiting developments.

Whitelaw Reid Coming Home.

By Union Associated Press.

London, July 26.—Mr. and Mrs. Whitelaw Reid sailed from Southampton for New York to-day on the American liner, Philadelphia. The royal equerry, by the king's order, accompanied the coronation ambassador to the station.

WATERWORKS COMING.

Chicago Syndicate Buys the Bonds at Face Value Including Interest.

The waterworks, sewerage and public building bonds have been purchased by a Chicago syndicate. The price paid is face value of the bonds and accrued interest to date of delivery. The bonds are now in the hands of Captain Sweet at Siloam Springs, Ark., for his signature as mayor, and as soon as returned to Jennings will be forwarded to Chicago with sight draft attached for $45,000 and interest. This is in accordance with the purchaser's instructions.

Work is expected to begin on the waterworks and sewerage at an early date and will probably be completed by Jan. 1, 1903. The contract is not yet let for the city building.

Lasting Peace Expected.

By Union Associated Press.

London, July 26.—General Lucas Meyer, ex-commander of the Orange Free State forces, arrived at Southampton on the steamer Briton, today, enroute for Dresden, Saxony, to visit his wife and daughter.

The general says the outlook for South Africa is decidedly favorable, and that he expects a lasting peace and steady return of prosperity.

Meyer expects Botha, Dewit and Delary to follow soon. He refused to state whether he will visit Kruger.

Meet on the Royal Yacht.

By Union Associated Press.

London, July 26.—Lord Devonshire and other members of the privy council left here on a special train this morning for Southampton to attend a meeting of the council aboard the royal yacht Victoria. It will be the first meeting ever held by the council in such a place under such a circumstance. The weather at Cowes today is favorable. The king experienced no ill effects from yesterday's cruise.

Charged With a Big Theft.

By Union Associated Press.

Philadelphia, July 26.—N. Hashim, late manager of an opera house here, was arrested this morning charged with stealing thirty thousand dollars worth of jewels, the property of Mrs. Constance Drexel Biddle, the divorced wife of Dr. Clement Biddle of the U. S. navy and formerly an actress.

Crazed with Drink

By Union Associated Press.

Brooklyn, July 26.—Mrs. Mary Mead, crazed with drink, today strangled to death one baby child by hand, another with a necktie and tried to kill another with a rope. Her husband, who is a watchman, was greeted by the ghastly sight on his return home this morning. The mother is a prisoner in the hospital and the physicians say it is impossible for her to live.

PLANNING FOR THE FUTURE.

An Event That Will Have a Bearing on the Policy of Russia.

St. Petersburg, July 26.—The Czar and Czarine are at present living at their favorite country palace, Tsarkoe Sel, in anticipation of a happy event. Russia is in eager anticipation also, for the expected event has a deep political significance that cannot fail to have a direct bearing on the empire's future policy. Should the looked for heir be a son, he will, should he live, in course of time become emperor of Russia, and will be reared under the political influence of the present Czar, thus practically insuring a continuation of the enlightened, progressive policy of Nicholas II.

The Czar has four children, all of them daughters. While the government of Russia is an absolute hereditary monarchy, and while the will of the Emperor is law, yet he cannot transfer his throne to his daughter. If Nicholas II. should die before a son is born to him, his successor would be his brother, the Grand Duke Michael, born in 1878. The latter is entirely under the influence of his mother, the Dowager Empress Marie Dagmar, widow of Emperor Alexander III, now in her fifty-fifth year. These few facts possess important political significance, which may change the future history of Europe to a marked degree, and as any radical change in Russian policy may vitally affect every great European power, all the world is naturally concerned.

There are now political parties in Russia, as the term is understood in the rest of the world, but there are rival factions at court which serve the purpose admirably. At present there are two of these rival parties or factions. One is headed by the Dowager Empress, and her influence is almost equal to that of the Czar. It embraces many of those highest in authority, including dignitaries of the church, the army and the schools. It is known as the reactionary party, and it represents all the despotism and illiteracy of Russia under the old Emperor.

The Czar's plans for more liberal education for the masses are not executed by his Minister of Public Education. His Minister of War is so firmly attached to the Dowager Empress that it is even doubted the Czar could count on the support of his armies. All efforts of the Czar for the amelioration of the agricultural classes have been as firmly opposed by his Minister of the Interior.

The situation, almost intolerable as it is to the present Czar, exists only because he has no male heir. Up to the present time his children are all girls and barred from the throne. All of his hopes center in the coming event, which he prays may add a son to his household and give to Russia a direct heir to the throne. Four times he has been keenly disappointed.

The reactionary party in his cabinet is able to flaunt his misfortune in his face, because it is well known that in the event of his death the crown will pass to his brother Michael, who is directly under the influence of the Dowager Empress. If the present czar dies Michael will be the nominal czar, but his mother will be the actual ruler. She is a woman in the prime of life, born to command.

Should a son be born to Nicholas II. the power of the Dowager Empress will be reduced to nothing in a moment. The czar will be a czar in fact as in name, and the ministers who now openly defy him, oppose his will and refuse to execute his policy, will be at his feet.

Various sensational rumors are current as to what will happen if the czarina again fails to give birth to male child, one being that the czar will abdicate. Another story is to the effect that the czar has been consulting Russian law authorities, and has come to the conclusion that he could legally alter the law of succession of Paul I., under which females are excluded from the throne until all males in the line of succession fail. That the czar would attempt anything of the kind, however, is regarded as highly improbable, as it would certainly result in civil war.
