

KRUPP'S WILL MAKES HIS DAUGHTER THE WEALTHIEST HEIRESS IN THE WORLD.

The will of Herr Krupp, the great gun manufacturer, left the works at Essen to the testator's elder daughter, Bertha, to be administered by the widow until the daughter attains her majority. The great gun factory and subsidiary properties are estimated to be worth $75,000,000. This makes Fraulein Bertha Krupp far and away the wealthiest girl in the world, the next being Miss May Goelet, who was left $20,000,000 by her father. Frau Krupp, on behalf of her daughter, Bertha, has announced a gift of $250,000 for the improvement of the town of Essen. Frau Krupp and her other daughter, Barbara, will divide $75,000,000.

Royalty in Congress.
Prince Jonah Kunis Kalaulaule, who represents Hawaii in the next house of representatives, is the first royal person to enter the congress of the United States. Already there is much speculation as to just how he will be addressed. He is called at home "Prince Cupid." Those who want to avoid such familiarity designate him as Prince Kunio, which is correct. Some may insist on "Mr. Kalaulaule," but the name is so long and so intricate in vowels that it is feared few who are not acquainted with the Kanaka language will care to try it.

RIORDAN MAY GO TO CHICAGO
San Francisco Prelate Mentioned as Feehan's Successor.

Archbishop Riordan of San Francisco is being discussed at the Vatican as a possible successor to the archdiocese of Chicago, made vacant by the death of Archbishop Feehan.

The Archbishop of San Francisco has just successfully pressed the Pius fund case before The Hague arbitration tribunal.

After the decision in favor of this country he went to Rome and received from the Pope commendation for his masterly conduct of affairs in the California diocese.

Archbishop Riordan, his friends in San Francisco believe, would not like to leave his present post, where he has distinguished himself as an administrator, and where he is beloved and respected for his piety, learning and energy.

"New" Women of Old.
If the translation of the Babylonian tablets are to be believed, the "new woman" is about as old as the human race. Five thousand years ago she asserted her equality with man, carried on business on her own account, inherited property and made her will like man. There is a possibility that she anticipated the bankruptcy laws by having her husband's property "deeded over."

If her husband married a second wife in her lifetime—as he was entitled to do without fear of prosecution for bigamy—he had to return the first wife's fortune, and she was free to go where she chose and do what she liked, without troubling the divorce court. She went into the church and she practiced medicine and law.

HANDSOME ACTRESS SHOT DEAD BY JEALOUS LOVER ON PHILADELPHIA STREET

KATE HASKETT.
MURDERED BY AN ACTOR

Kate Haskett, leading woman in the stock company at Keith's Eighth Street Theater in Philadelphia, was shot through the heart and instantly killed by Barry Johnstone, late of Richard Mansfield's company.

Johnstone then turned the pistol upon himself and lodged two bullets above his heart that will probably cause his death. The motive for the crime was jealousy.

Johnstone lost his position with Mansfield a few days ago and went direct to Philadelphia. He lay in wait for Miss Haskett at the stage door of the theater and followed her a block after she left.

Suddenly he sprung upon her as she passed under an electric light, and shouting "You are not true to me," opened up a rapid fire from a revolver. The first shot must have pierced Miss Haskett's heart, and almost without a sound she sank to the sidewalk, dead. She was a remarkably handsome and clever woman.

When Johnstone shot himself he fell to the sidewalk almost upon the woman's dead body.

Kate Haskett was one of the most recent recruits to the stage, appearing prominently for the first time last season in Leo Detrichstein's "The Last Appeal." She was cast for the leading role, and though she did not score a hit it was agreed that her dramatic talent was unmistakable and experience alone was needed to make her an actress of more than ordinary ability.

Chipper at Ninety-Eight.
A marriage took place in Kansas City a few days since which had several circumstances of interest. The groom was P. W. Kenyon, a farmer of Osborne county, who came to the city to meet his bride, Mrs. Jane Earl of Saratoga county, N. Y., who arrived on the same day accompanied by two daughters and her mother. Mrs. Earl is the sister of the first Mrs. Kenyon, and her brother-in-law became her husband. Her mother, Mrs. Jones, who accompanied her, has 11 children, 41 grandchildren, 54 great grandchildren, and 8 great-great-grandchildren. She has reached the great age of 98, yet she was as chipper at the wedding service as her daughter and the long journey had not distressed her at all. —Kansas City Journal.

Society at Leavenworth.
Under the headline, "Better Class of Convicts Coming," the Leavenworth Times proceeds to rejoice at the betterment of the tone of society at the federal prison. Bootleggers and horse thieves from Oklahoma will not be so common, while grafters and smooth sharks from Wisconsin and Indiana will be more numerous. Congressman Scott adds that "hell probably has its 'smart set.'" —Kansas City Star.

SCIENTISTS OF ENGLAND AND GERMANY GIVEN THE NOBEL PRIZES

The Nobel research prize of $40,000 has been awarded to Maj. Donald Ross of the Liverpool (Eng.) school of tropical medicine in recognition of his investigations into the mosquito malaria theory. Major Ross will go to Sweden next month, when King Oscar will present the prize to him.

To Dr. Emil Fischer of the Berlin university, is awarded the prize for natural science and chemistry, while the prize for physics and medicine is divided between Dr. Arrhenius of the Stockholm High school and Dr. Finsen of Copenhagen. Each whole prize is worth $40,000.

Maj. Donald Ross, who is awarded the prize for original research, is an English medical officer who has seen long service in the East Indies. While there he was impressed with the ravages of malaria among white men and set about learning the cause.

In one year out of 178,197 men in the Indian army over 75,000 were sent to the hospital with malaria. Major Ross began his investigations and soon concluded that mosquitoes had some association with the prevalence of the disease. His theory was investigated and proved to be correct.

Dr. Emil Fischer of the Berlin university, who was awarded the chemistry prize, is noted for a number of valuable discoveries in synthetic chemistry.

Prof. Finsen of Copenhagen, is the discoverer of the "light cure" for lupus. Although a doctor, he does not practice medicine, but confines himself to pathological research.

THE FIRST WOMAN JUSTICE.

Mrs. Garrett of Wyoming Is to Don the Judicial Ermine.

Woman has entered many spheres formerly considered suited only to man, including even the legal profession, but it has remained for Mrs. M. Agnes Garrett of Garrett, Wyo., to be the first to don the judicial ermine.

Mrs. Garrett was chosen by the voters of Garrett precinct at the late election, and she will assume her judicial duties the first Tuesday following the first Monday in January. The more strenuous duties of the constable, however, have been left to one physically capable of executing the orders of Mrs. Garrett's court, Elmer E. Slothower having been elected to enforce the commands of the female judge.

Mrs. Garrett is evidently a woman of advanced education. Being a practiced penman, or rather penwoman, she will keep her own dockets, and, possessing some knowledge of legal forms, she will use that knowledge to acquire more. A number of cases, small but important to the litigants, have already been continued from one docket of the retiring justice to that over which Justice Garrett will preside, and it is apparent she will have the opportunity very frequently to bring into play any of Portia's qualities she may possess.

Real Hard Work.
While down in Oklahoma not long ago Senator Beveridge of Indiana met Delegate McGuire of that territory, whom he complimented on his fine physique. "Oh, yes, hard work made me a strong man," said McGuire. The Indiana man replied with a touch of scorn: "If you had toiled in a sawmill, as I had to do, you would have had a right to talk of hard work." "You never earned your bread as a section hand and pumped a handcar, did you? No, nor you never did any steamboating. More than that, you have not punched cattle for four or five years, and, senator, when you have had a whack at these occupations you will regard work in a sawmill as a box at the opera."

RECALLED FROM THE CAPITAL.

Colombian Government Withdraws Its Washington Representative.

Senator Jose Vincenti Concha, who has been recalled by his government from his post of minister from Colombia to Washington, has had a short stay in the American capital, owing to his persistent tactics as an obstructionist to the negotiations for the isthmian canal. Concha arrived there last spring, and was well received. He came with a good record as a diplomat and master of international law. He had been attorney general and minister of war in the cabinet of the United States of Colombia, and is also said to have been an excellent soldier.
