31 YEARS AGO

The Threshing Machines then in use were almost wholly of the class known as the "Endless Apron" style. Then it was that Nichols & Shepard, of Battle Creek, Mich., invented and began to develop an entirely new and novel style of Grain Thresher and Separator, which they very appropriately named the "Vibrator."

It was a revolution in Threshing Machines, and from a small beginning of five machines in 1858 they soon reached a product of 1,000 yearly. Their Vibrator drove the "Endless Apron" machine out of market, and all other makers copied it as closely as they dared. Today all Threshing Machines of any reputation or merit use the principles of the old Vibrator. Nichols & Shepard have continued in the business without change of name, location, or management; and during the past three years have brought out and developed another new Threshing Machine for grain and seeds, as superior to all existing machines as their former was to the "Endless Apron." They name this new and improved Thresher and predict as great a revolution in the trade, and as complete success over all rivals as they had thirty-one years ago.

If you are interested as a Farmer or Thresherman, write for particulars, which they send free. Address:

CASTORIA for Infants and Children.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me." H. A. ARCHER, M. D., 111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

One of the strangest pieces of artillery in Europe is at Metz and is known as the "Griffin," from the figure of the fabulous animal which is to be found among the ornamental portion of its workmanship. The gun was cast in 1529 Ehrenbreitstein near Coblenz. It is 17 feet in length and 3 feet in diameter. The bore is 10 1/2 inches, weight 22,500 pounds. Its carriage is 21 feet in length and the weight of the ball it carries is 157 pounds; 12 pounds of powder is required for the charge. Napoleon intended it for the war department, Paris, but found difficulty in transporting it.

Hon. Wm. E. Chandler, is out with a denial of the story that Senator Blackburn thrashed him in a committee meeting last winter. This settles it. All that was needed to confirm the story was CHANDLER'S denial. But we wonder why Senator Chandler wanted until he had secured his reelection before denying the story that Blackburn had pulled his ears. Does it strengthen a man in New Hampshire politics to have suffered an assault at the hands of a Kentucky colonel.

CHIEF JUSTICE FULLER in a late opinion reaffirms a principle of law that has time and again been enunciated by the highest courts in the country as follows: "Combinations of companies to destroy competition and raise prices are against public policy, and therefore unlawful. This fits the Interstate Commerce Railway association. The members of the association should be regarded as conspirators. It is an inflexible principle of law that no man should be permitted to combine with others to injure the feelings or reputation, or which threatens him, is unlawful. It is allowable for a person to send a bill or request to call and settle, but anything further is liable to result in a heavy fine."

The Kansas City Globe says: The Australian ballot system, which goes into effect next fall, provides that no ticket shall have a place unless the party polled at least 3 percent of the total vote at the preceding election. The question arises, how is a new party to get its tickets on the legal ballots? There must be a way to break in, but we fail to detect it.

FINGER RINGS, ear-rings, bracelets, and all forms of jewelry worn on the person, are the invention of savages, as are also bangs, cosmetics, tight shoes, and the bustle, the latter being the fashion among the Indian tribes of New Mexico ages ago. The only barbarous invention in which civilized women have excelled the savage in barbarity is the corset.

SOME men who would never set a river afire make pretty good husbands, after all. The average wife doesn't care so much for a husband who would set the river afire as she does for one who will start the fire regularly in the kitchen stove.—Somerville Journal.

CLERKS in the postal service say: "Never use a square envelope. Women are more in the habit of using them than men. A square envelope, large or small, but especially large, is anathema in the eyes of a postal clerk."

Grain Inspection.

GOVERNOR FRANCIS has signed the grain inspection bill after holding it for nearly thirty days, the limit fixed by law.

This bill changes the system of inspection of grain which has heretofore been controlled by the board of trade at St. Louis. A strong delegation from the St. Louis board of trade visited the capital frequently during the late session of the legislature to lobby against the bill, and after its passage besought the governor to withhold his signature, that the wish of the people might be defeated.

It is said that the governor's financial interests would have been promoted by letting the bill fail to become a law, and possibly his judgment was against the measure, but as a man of the people he could not fail to give his sanction to a bill which received the votes of four fifths of the members of the legislature.

At the proper time the railroad commissioners will appoint one chief grain inspector in St. Louis. The chief inspector will appoint such assistants as may be needed. All these are to be grain experts. Illinois has had the same law for fifteen or twenty years. In that state there are about fifty employees, including inspectors and clerks. The railroad commissioners fix the salary of each employee and all are paid out of the fees charged for inspection. In Illinois the inspection per car costs 25 cents. There are two inspections if the grain goes into the elevator, one in and one out.

The state inspection law, in brief, provides that grain inspection shall be in charge of the board of railroad commissioners, who shall appoint a competent inspector, not a member of the board of trade or interested in any warehouse. All warehouses of more than 50,000 bushels capacity, shall be declared public warehouses and licensed and give bond in the sum of $2,500 for the smallest and $100,000 for the largest elevators. The rates shall be uniform and discrimination is strictly prohibited. All grain must be inspected out by the state inspector and mixing is not permitted nor is it allowed for a warehouseman to enter into an agreement with railroads to divert grain from the destination named by the owner. No receipt shall be given except upon actual delivery. To violate this is a felony punishable by imprisonment of from one to ten years. Warehousemen must publish a list of storage rates once a year. The maximum charge is 2 cents for ten days or less and 1 cent for each additional ten days. Reports of grain in stock must be made under oath every Tuesday and public notice must be given of grain deteriorating. The warehouse books must be open for inspection. Violations from $1,000 to $5,000. Dishonest inspectors shall be fined $500 to $1,000 or imprisoned from six months to a year. Bogus inspectors will be charged $100 to $500 or placed in durance for three to six months. A committee of three experts to arbitrate shall be appointed in each town. The commissioners are to fix the grades to conform to those of leading markets after giving twenty days' notice.

MR. GEO. W. WINANS, state superintendent of schools of Kansas, worked as a common laborer in excavating for the foundation of the building in which he now has his office.

KANSAS men who have been applying a solution of some kind to the horns of the calves, to make them "muleys," are wondering at the sudden deaths of the animals. Don't monkey with nature.

GALVESTON TEXAS.

Notwithstanding I have drifted away to the far South, and am now viewing the picturesque scenery of the Queenly City of the coast and enjoying the balmy southern breeze that gives vitality to all who dwell in this region, still the dear old COURIER, like a letter from home, finds me in its weekly visits, bearing the news so much appreciated by one all alone among strangers. It would take the pen of a "ready writer" to express the gratitude of one for such demonstrations and tokens of profound friendship.

I arrived in this beautiful city on the 13th inst., to remain several days, viewing the military tactics and artillery displays of the interstate drills of the organized detachments of Texas troops. The grounds arranged for this purpose are located about three miles west of the city on an elevated plateau of the island, and the grand-stand and amphitheatre are arranged sufficient to seat 50,000 people very conveniently.

We have witnessed several very interesting and exciting sieges of war, and for several nights they repeated the fall of Paris in which they seemed to act in the great contest with much dexterity and electrified force.

The Dallas boys, in their brilliant uniforms, elicited great admiration for the quick and prompt observance of the commands of their captain, A. P. Wozencraft.

After spending much time in this excitable place, we, in company with quite a number of new acquaintances, took passage on the sail vessel, known as the Gypsy Queen, on the 15th, and commanded by a captain evidently schooled in marine science.

After boarding the white winged queen, she spread her sails to the high winds, then blowing from the south, and quietly sailed across the placid bosom of the gentle bay until we were brought in contact with the turbulent and terrific waves that leaped and rolled ten feet high in the opening of the briny gulf. At times it seemed to us impossible for our little queen to ride the boisterous and bounding billows before us but on she pushed in the broad expanse of the gulf until we reached a point fourteen miles from land, and where we had an unobstructed view of the white caps of dashing waves, and the immensity of the great gulf. The day was said to be remarkably windy and hence the waters were piling up continuously in heaps of foaming billows threatening, as we thought, devastation and destruction of life and property. It was our first sail on the sea and you may well imagine our fright when our little vessel was sailing on one side a portion of the time at an angle of 45 degrees, nearly, and rocking to and fro over the high waves in her path. We plowed the terrific waters for three or four hours, when we were landed again in perfect safety. In our sea voyage we passed the great Jetties, or deep water works, the terminus of which is five miles east of the coast on the eastern side of the city. The railroad is built on a solid foundation of heavy stones in the water the full five miles, and along which are life saving boats and houses, and at the end of which there is a light house, 200 feet in height, 36 feet in diameter at the bottom and tapers to the top, it is octagon in shape and is a very sublime object to behold in the midst of the great waters.

It will be remembered by some at least that our government has made several appropriations to build this road and other improvements to secure a deep water passage to this island city. Thus far the work has been completed.

In our strolls along the beach and through the city we noted many large buildings of solid granite viz.: the Tremont hotel, five stories high of solid stone and which has 300 rooms in it. The Ball university, a very fine stone edifice sufficiently large to accommodate 800 or 900 students, the custom house, six stories high and many other commercial buildings and private residences of white granite. On the beach at the south end of Beach avenue there is erected the finest frame hotel in Texas, which is indeed a magnificent structure, where may be witnessed every night the display of fireworks and where the band dispenses rich melodies of voluptuous music from their stand directly in front of the building. It is here that the bath houses are located, and we have seen 300 and over, both ladies and gentlemen bathing in the briny gulf under the electric lights and during the daytime the beach is teeming with hundreds engaged in the pleasurable exercises. Now, Mr. Editor, we could not make our letter shorter and do our notes justice and we hope you will again favor us in your columns. We are very content should your readers find any news in our scribbles. The want of space has compelled us to omit some matters of interest, but we will close by asking your pardon again.

Very respectfully A CHARITONITE.

The effect of using Hibbard's Rheumatic Syrup is unlike all medicines containing opiates or poisons, it being entirely free from them. It cures rheumatism by purifying the blood. Sold by W. C. Gaston & Co.

"I ONCE met a thoughtful scholar," said Bishop Whipple, "who told me he had read every book he could which assailed the religion of Jesus Christ, and he said he should have become an infidel but for three things: 'First, I am a man. I am going somewhere. To-night I am a day nearer the grave than I was last night. I have read all such books can tell me. They shed not one solitary ray of hope or light upon the darkness. They shall not take away the guide and leave me stone-blind. Second, I had a mother. I saw her go down the dark valley where I am going, and she leaned on an unseen arm as calmly as a child goes to sleep on its mother's breast. I knew that was not a dream. Third, I have three motherless daughters. They have no protection but myself. I would rather kill them than leave them in this sinful world, if you blot out from it all the teachings of the gospel.'"

It is its treatment of rheumatism and all rheumatic troubles. Hibbard's Rheumatic Syrup stands first and foremost above all others. Learn their medical value of the remedies which enter into its composition. Sold by W. C. Gaston & Co.

An exchange remarks that scarcely a week has passed since March 30th in which there has not been serious reductions in the wages of workingmen. During the campaign many of these men were deluded into voting the Republican ticket under the plea that they were "protected" by the tariff, and that Democratic success would be followed by low wages. The Republican party was successful, and now the manufacturing barons feel strong enough to show their hands and reduce the wages of the men whose votes gave them a victory.

THE negro politicians are abusing Harrison like a pick-pocket, because of his refusal to dish out fat offices to the negro vote by his course, and they are already looking to the Democracy for bids for support. If Harrison succeeds in the work these negroes have mapped out for him he will deserve the gratitude of the American people, even if his party does not.
