Philosophy About Women.

When a woman gets cross she gets cross at everybody. How soon a girl's capital becomes a little after marriage.

Smile at some women and they will tell you all the troubles they ever had.

That for which a woman should be consoled she is most often ridiculed—her homeliness.

When a woman can wash flannels so that they will not shrink she knows enough to get married.

A woman is never so badly in love that she does not try to find out the cost of her engagement-ring.

One of her delicate women will never admit that she is hungry; she will say that she is feeling a little faint.

As soon as a man gets the fire built and the room warm, his wife comes along and wants to "air the house."

The devil has a particularly hot fire for the mother who wants to send her daughter husband-hunting at sixteen.

You occasionally find a woman who thinks she is intellectual because she has a large number of correspondents.

There is only one thing that pleases a woman more than to be referred to as a dove, and that is to hear a man referred to as the hawk.

A woman never becomes so intelligent that she learns that it is no pleasure to others to hear her coax her children to speak a piece.

The question with the women: "Is it better to marry a man who is thoughtless and leaves the door open behind him, or to marry a man who thinks to close the door, but forgets to leave out the slam?"

In a Nutshell.

Never meet trouble half way. It will reach you soon enough. Reading maketh a full man, and liquor drinking a fool one, too.

The man who is given to sober reflection seldom gets into a tight place. "Variety is the spice of life."

The variety-show certainly is to the bald man.

It is when a man is in the iron grip of poverty that his clothes begin to get rusty.

The only office that has to seek the man is the unsalaried one and which brings no perquisites.

A man who has a cent left after all his debts are paid is like a theatrical advance agent—one sent ahead.

"Love levels all things." Perhaps so; but it has been noticed that its tendency is not to make the head level.

Missouri's Wealth.

The state auditor has submitted to Gov. Francis the subjoined statement, which is a summary of the money held by the state treasurer as indicated by the auditor's books:

Balance on hand March 1, $1,566,941.69; receipts during March, $212,060.20; disbursements, $93,772.23; balance April 1, $1,685,729.66.

The pentenary earnings for March aggregated $14,803.38, all of which went in the necessary expenditures for the maintenance of the institution.

"You're man," said the banker, "I've decided that it's about time for me to put a check to your aspirations toward the hand of my daughter." Ob, thank you, sir. But wouldn't it be better to wait until after we're married. Then the check would come as a wedding present. It would save my feelings a great deal.

THE Mexico fair shies its ester into the ring this year with the largest speed program of any fair, in the state. St. Louis alone excepted. There are two purses of $1,000 each, and eight of $500 each. The smallest aggregate purses for any single day is $1,100. The management proposes to make the situation exceedingly interesting for the horsemen, and to see that the patrons of the fair witness a magnificent display of speed. The Mexico fair of 1890 will overshadow all former meetings.—Mexico Intelligence.

A SPOKEN word can never be recalled; and the world is oftentimes cruel and unforgetting. Lifelong enemies may be made by the utterance of a thoughtless remark, and friendships that have become irrevocable may be suddenly rent asunder. On the other hand, kindly words, like kindly deeds, are never thrown away, and bring unlooked for comfort when perhaps most needed and least expected. Our voices should be used for the good of ourselves and our fellow creatures; and the more earnest we are to remember this injunction, the more we shall increase our power of influence over

Dumas' Latest Maxims.

Whatever is useless is dangerous. Brunettes deceive; blondes betray. What is duty? It is what we exact of others.

It is easier to be good to everybody than to somebody. A suicide is a victim who meets his executioner and kills him.

There are many people who really repent only their good deeds. Those who do not know how to profit by misfortunes deserve them.

Life is the last habit that we wish to lose, because it is the first one that we form. Never lend money; give it. To give makes only ingrates; to lend makes enemies.

The chain of marriage is so heavy that it takes two to carry it—sometimes three. Often woman, who inspires us with great things, prevents us from accomplishing them.

Never argue; you can convince no one. Opinions are like nails, the harder you hit them the deeper they go.

Let us begin by admiring what God shows us, and we shall have no time left to hunt for what He hides from us.

There are a number of people, especially in politics, who are like bottles; they have no value except that which is poured into them.

If men expended in doing good to others a fourth of what they expend in doing evil to themselves, poverty would disappear from the world.

Of all the stupidities of which man is capable, marriage is that which I would soonest advise him to commit. It is at least the only one which he can not commit every day.

If you wish to become acquainted with Divinity, do not seek it in the society of the illustrious but in the intercourse of the good. Goodness proves God; genius cannot explain Him.

PASTURE.

For Horses, Mules and Cattle, Two Miles Southeast of Bynumville.

My pasture will be ready for stock about the 10th of April. Persons desiring to hire pasturage will do well to apply at an early date. Stock will grow and fatten as well in my pasture as in any other in Chariton county. Plenty of good grass, water and shade.

TERMS:—Yearlings, 25 cents; two-year-olds and over, 30 cents per month. LUCIUS SALISBURY, 9 16 Salisbury, Mo.

There comes from Kentucky a really charming story. Early last spring a turkey hatched a large brood of young. The farmer, who owned the hen, placed a bell upon the mother, and the young, after they had ceased instinctively to follow their feathered parent, by force of habit, continued to follow the bell. The farmer, observing this, took the bell from the hen, and when he heard his tobacco, tied it around his own neck. The young turkeys then followed him up one row and down the other, eating the worms from the plants. They did the work of five men and saved the crop.

A Grateful Man.

Rheumatic Syrup Co., Jackson, Mich. I owe you an acknowledgment at least for your kindness in sending the medicine. I have used the syrup and pills and have procured more of our great change in my feelings, and in my back and in every portion of my body. My sufferings were terrible and affected me from the crown of my head to the soles of my feet. For four months I was most of the time in bed; I could find no rest day or night, appetite gone, food would not digest, terrible soreness across my stomach. But I feel like a new man and shall keep on using your remedies and am sure that I will become entirely cured, although I have been a sufferer from rheumatism for thirty years. My faith is strong, and as I said before, I thank you, gentlemen, for your kindness. Others shall know of these results. With best wishes, I am ever yours, G. A. MANSBURY, North Liberty, Johnson Co., Ia. Dec. 1, 1889.

NATHAN STANFORD, a colored man living near Hannibal, was gored to death, Wednesday, by a maddened bull. When found the body was literally mashed to a jelly, and the man had been dead probably two hours.
