A Deep Laid Scheme.
St. Louis Chronicle.

Hon. U. S. Hall, member of congress from the Second district, was in St. Louis last Friday on his way to Washington. He was interviewed by a reporter and talked as follows: "I am spending a day with my brother on my way to Washington," said he, "and I hope to find time to call on some of my old friends in the morning. I leave to-morrow night for Washington in order that I may be there a few days before congress meets. I go there to do my duty, as well as I know how to do it, to the people among whom I have lived all my life and whom I now represent in congress. I have been attending to my farm in Randolph county. It takes me almost all my time, and I have hardly formulated any positive opinion as to what will be the outcome of the special session. I have never countenanced the Sherman bill. I have always regarded it as an iniquitous Republican measure and am now as ever in favor of its repeal or suspension. At the same time I shall certainly ask that some measure of relief be passed in its stead. There will be lots of free coinage bills on almost every conceivable basis. I regard it as a golden rule of finance that every debtor should be allowed the privilege of paying his debts with the same volume and value of currency as when the debts are contracted. My course will be guided by this belief. The proper attitude to take just now seems to me to stand between the two extreme elements, the mine owners of the West on the one hand and the Wall street men on the other.

THE Valley of Hyeres, on the south coast of France, is probably the most fragrant spot on the surface of this planet. For the last hundred years the little town of the same name has been engaged in the manufacture of perfumes and essences, and the "flower farmers," who supply the raw material of those extracts, have covered some forty English square miles with thickets of roses and jessamines, alternating with fields where mignonette and heliotrope flourish like clover. If the wind is from the west the perfume of the flower plantations is plainly perceptible on the hills of Toulon, a distance of nine miles.

Labour's Condition.
Lincoln County News.

The industrial class of the United States are confronted by conditions that are deplorable indeed. The moment that a mine, shop, mill or factory closes its doors and ceases work for a brief period of time, hunger and want are brought to the home of the day-laborer and many are turned out upon the world as tramps and vagabonds of the earth. They have no permanent residence, no fixed aim in life. Their minds are unsettled. They may be happy and prosperous one day and the next discontented, financially embarrassed and reduced to a condition of beggary. Why is it that such a deplorable condition of affairs is prevalent in this free republic? There are two causes that are plausible to a thinking and reasoning mind. One is our country has a surplus of day toilers which makes him unable to get a job of work immediately after being thrown out of employment and the other one might be properly attributed to individual extravagance. It is admitted by those who know what it takes to reap success that economy in private affairs is as much necessary as economy in the home means prosperity to the individual by the government to the nation. It is not the making of money, but the accumulation of it by the habit of saving that leads man to wealth, prosperity and independence. If the day-laborer would cast aside his prodigal habits, the wolf would not be at the threshold of his home like it is at untold thousands in Colorado and many other states.

Tackled the Wrong Family.
Constitution.

Thursday of last week was red-letter-day with the Ledbetter family, father and son, living in Chillicothe township, Livingston county. The family reside in the wilds of the Grand river and Medicine Creek hot spots, and their neighbors are somewhat like the surrounding country. William Lankford and Sam Anderson have had a grudge against young Ledbetter for some time, and Thursday of last week went to his home to do him up. The Ledbetters retreated to their house, which they barricaded, when Lankford beat in the door with an iron pot which he found in the yard. As he entered the door Ledbetter, junior, fired both barrels of a shotgun at him, sixty-four of the No. 8 shot striking him in the breast and forty-eight lodging in his left arm. Lankford and Anderson left for the former's home and a doctor was sent for. Young Ledbetter mounted a horse and went to town, gave himself up and was committed to jail.

Half an hour later Anderson returned to the Ledbetter home and renewed the fight, using a knife on old man Ledbetter, but the latter got in his work with a revolver and shot Anderson through the body. He will probably die. The Ledbetters were released on a bond of $200 by Justice Barkley the next day to appear August 1. Public opinion justifies the Ledbetters.

WHILE at Moberly early Tuesday morning waiting for a train we witnessed a magnificent run by the fire department of the Magic City. An alarm was sounded from the city hall and in a few moments every locomotive in the Wabash yards began to whistle and made noise enough to arouse the dead. In something less than half an hour after the first alarm the department got itself in shape and started to the fire with the horse reel hitched on behind a two horse wagon. The fire was in the southeast part of the city, and before the department reached the scene of the conflagration the building was in ashes and the owner was coming up town to claim his insurance money. It was a great run of the department and reminded one of a slow mule race at a country fair.—Richmond Conservator.

The success of Mrs. Annie M. Beam, of McKeesport, Pennsylvania, in the treatment of diarrhoea in her children will undoubtedly be of interest to many mothers. She says: "I spent several weeks in Johnstown, Pa., after the great flood, on account of my husband being employed there. We had several children with us, two of whom took the diarrhoea very badly. I got some of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea remedy from Rev. Mr. Chapman. It cured both of them. I knew of several other cases where it was equally successful. I think it cannot be excelled and cheerfully recommend it." 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by all druggists.

Aristocratic Toughs.
St. Louis Chronicle.

The conduct of ruffians attending Kahoka, Clark county, college in assaulting and "hazing" one of the professors will afford a fair chance to test the efficacy of the laws of Missouri.

Such cases are plentiful enough in Eastern colleges and we know of no case in which the young blackguards engaged in them have been properly punished. But this is the first case of any moment in Missouri for many years and an example must be made of those who are guilty, unless the educational institutions of the state are to be turned over to the control of "toughs" and education is to consist of inculcating the idea that blackguardism is manly.

It is said in extenuation of such crimes that "boys will be boys," but they will certainly be scoundrels unless they are compelled to respect the law of the land and punished when they violate it.

These young criminals at Kahoka took an unpopular professor prisoner at the muzzle of their revolvers and left him tied in a graveyard. Every one concerned in the outrage should be sent to jail for at least a year. It is the spirit of lawlessness that makes the lynching mob; that substitutes the band of masked white-cappers for the sheriff's posse; that tramples down all law and replaces it with the license of ruffians, each one of whom claims the privilege of doing as he pleases, regardless of what it pleases him to do for the injury of others.

The educational institutions of Missouri have been free heretofore from manifestations of this spirit and they must be kept free. These ruffians must be punished. The state can better afford to turn out any dozen horse thieves in the penitentiary than to allow a single one of these blackguards to escape punishments.

Democratic Silver Platform.

The financial plank of the Chicago convention of last year in its entirety is as follows:

"We denounce the Republican legislation known as the Sherman act of 1890 as a cowardly makeshift fraught with possibilities of danger in the future, which should make all of its supporters, as well as its author, anxious for its speedy repeal. We hold to the use of both gold and silver as the standard money of the country and to the coinage of both gold and silver without discriminating against metal or charge for mintage, but the dollar unit of coinage of both metals must be of equal intrinsic and exchangeable value or be adjusted through international agreement or by such safeguard of legislation as shall insure the maintenance of the parity of the two metals and the equal power of every dollar at all times in the markets and in the payment of debts; and we demand that all paper currency shall be kept at par with and redeemable in such coin. We insist upon this policy as specially necessary for the protection of the farmers and laboring classes, the first and most defenseless victims of unstable money and a fluctuating currency.

We recommend that the prohibitory 10 per cent. tax on state bank issues be repealed."
