Little News-Fraphics.

From the Hamilton News Graphic.

The bloomers continue to bloom.

The days are becoming abbreviated.

Grapes and appendicitis are about due.

Some women can only be reformed by padding.

All women do not paint because they love art.

There is a horrible rumor that women's sleeves will be larger.

Keep your doors and windows locked, and be on the lookout for thieves.

Recent experiments indicate that sunshine is the best of all disinfectants.

It is calculated that one dozen hens are a better investment than $100 at 8 per cent.

If some men would keep their characters as bright as their shoes they would be shining examples.

It is claimed that nothing will make hens lay so well as seeds scratched out of a neighbor's garden.

We are warned to look out for canned horse meat. If not heeded you may find there's a horse on you.

It is said red ribbons stretched across an open window will keep out mosquitos. They do not like red ribbons.

The new woman in bloomers escaped can scratch a match on the seat of her unmentionable, because she is built that way of late.

Kites rise against the wind. No man ever worked his passage in a dad calm.

Many a man whose prayers are too long sells goods by a measure that is too short.

If some people worked at an insane asylum every visitor would take them for patients.

The only thing a man has to do to carry on a conversation with some people is to listen.

Some people haven't any more sense with schemes than the hen that takes a day off while setting.

The man who isn't religious enough to do right when he isn't watched, isn't religious when he is watched.

You will often find some of the poorest poultry on the top round. Chickens are not unlike men in this respect.

Many a man who now lacks shoe leather would wear golden spurs if knighthoods were the reward of worth.

Every man has a hope that some day he will be able to cut the strings that are tied to him and be able to do as he pleases.

It does not necessarily follow when a man has his picture taken with a guitar that he can play.

When a man gets religion, the first to find it out will be those who live nearest to him.

If you keep your husband constantly in hot water, madam, you alone are to blame if he gets soaked.

It is not until a man reaches thirty that he begins to wrap the small bills on the outside of his roll.

It is one of the worst of errors to suppose that there is any other path of safety except that of duty.

Many a man will fight for his creed, who never has a word of encouragement for his wife.

Children begin to worry at an earlier age now days than they used to, which is a sign of advanced civilization.

Plant a good man anywhere in this world, and the devil will immediately begin walking up and down in that neighborhood.

The life of more than one girl has been blighted because she had a mother who made her go to church in a faded gown and a last year's bonnet.

People intend to do their best, but somehow they do nothing during the day they think of without regret when they are alone at night.

When a girl uses a telephone she usually imagines her conversation to be highly edifying to those unfortunate enough to overhear it. And it generally takes her twice as long to "saw off" as a man.

The man who kicks most about the avariciousness of the clergy, is the same man who always puts a button in the contribution plate.

"Matron of a Benevolent Home and knowing the good Dr. Miles' Nervine has done me, my wish to help others, overcomes my dislike for the publicity, this letter may give me. In Nov. and Dec., 1893, The inmates had the 'LaGrippe', and I was one of the first. Resuming duty too soon, with the care of so many sick, I did not regain my health, and in a month I became so debilitated and nervous from sleeplessness and the drafts made on my vitality, that it was a question if I could go on. A dear friend advised me to try Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine. I took 2 bottles and am happy to say, I am in better health than ever. I still continue its occasional use, as a nerve food, as my work is very trying. A letter addressed to Milwaukee, Wis., will reach me." June 6, 1894. MRS. LAURA C. PHOENIX.

Dr. Miles' Nervine Restores Health

More hearts pine away in secret anguish for unkindness from those who should be their comforters than for any other calamity in life.

There is nothing which marks more decidedly the character of men and of nations than the manner in which they treat women.

DEMAND FOR HORSES.

L. H. Brockway, a prominent horse dealer, is reported as follows in the Boston Globe:

Since I have been in the horse business there has been a great many inventions, such as electric cars and bicycles, which one would think would stop the sale of horses, but I find my trade has increased more than 50 per cent. in the last three years, and there have been more horses sold in Boston in the last year than ever were sold in one year before. Why? Because horses have been sold more cheaply, and more have been used for pleasure, both under the saddle and harness, and for heavy draught work. And, in my opinion, good horses will be worth twice as much in two years as they are now, because the farmers in the West, where they are raised, have got the idea that they would not be worth raising.

"If the farmer paid as strict attention to business as railroad men have to," remarked a conductor to us the other day, "there would be less complaint of hard times and they would be one of our most prosperous classes of citizens." He said it was surprising the amount of farm implements that were standing out in the weather along his road, from one year's end to another. The machinery thus exposed is soon gone and has to be replaced with new, and the owners wonder why they are always kept with their noses to the grindstone. A merchant would not think of leaving a twenty-five dollar box of goods exposed to the weather for a single night. When the mechanic leaves his work to return home he oils and polishes his tools although they cost but a trifle and stow them away from moisture, yet there are many farmers who leave their mowers, binders, planters, cultivators and other implements standing in the field where last used until needed again, when the rust has destroyed them, necessitating the purchasing of new ones. Here is a curious item from a German exchange: Miss Mary Tate, an American girl and pianist of considerable merit, died a short time ago, only 21 years old. Her last wish was to be laid out upon and buried in her grand piano. She was laid upon the instrument, a choral being played upon it, while religious services were held over her body. After the ceremony the cover was raised, the strings taken from the piano and the body placed in it. Then the legs were taken off and the body of the piano raised upon the hearse. As she requested, her own piano was her last resting place.

Unless you wish to know that Beggs' Diarrhoea Balsam is the best medicine on earth for Summer Complaint. Never fails. Cures very time. Equally good for children. Sold and warranted by Sneed, the druggist.

An exchange says: Somebody who wants to explain what the editorial "we" signifies, says the meaning varies to suit the circumstances. For instance, when you read that "we expect our wife home to-day," "we" refers to the editor, when it is "we are a little late in our work" it includes the whole office force, even the devil and the towel, if "we are having a boom," the town is meant, "we received over 700,000 immigrants last year" and it embraces the nation, but "we have hog cholera in our midst" only refers to the illness of the man who takes the paper two or three years without paying for it.
