ANTHONY M. AND JIM HALLEY.

We are glad to see Alfred Brown, mine host of the Brown house, up and about again after quite a tussle with rheumatism.

Garhart and Jaco will have one of the largest public sales of the season at the John Garhart farm, four miles north of Salisbury, Wednesday, March 5.

Mrs. C. P. Vandiver went to St. Louis Tuesday to post up on the latest styles in millinery and to make her purchases of spring and summer adornments for lovely woman.

Mrs. L. E. Cook of this place received word Tuesday announcing the death of her youngest brother, M. O. Hurt, in New York. His remains will be shipped to Glasgow, whither Mrs. Cook went yesterday to attend the funeral. No particulars concerning his death were learned.

Our esteemed fellow-citizen, J. L. Cropper, has been suffering with gall-stone, but is now improving nicely, we are pleased to learn.

Fourteen new subscribers this week. We can't keep sensible folks from taking the COURIER, and are not going to try it. Besides we don't want to. That's what we are here for. Come in and subscribe.

Chapman Bros., Keytesville's hustling harness dealers and boot and shoe firm, plant an "ad." in the COURIER this week. These gentlemen are strictly reliable, and are selling their goods at the right prices.

A young lady, who lost her telescope, and Judge J. M. DeMoss' gallantry in assisting her to recover it make a right good story, as well as a good joke on the judge. Get Judge DeMoss to tell you about it.

Thos. Pierce, who is among Chariton county's pioneer sawmill men, now has his sawmill located south of the Wabash railroad bridge across Palmer's creek, 2 1-2 miles east of Brunswick, and is cutting all sorts of native lumber as well as cutting many capers over his low prices.

The re-appointment of W. C. Gaston as Postmaster at Keytesville for a term of four years from March 3, 1902, was sent to the United States senate by President Roosevelt last Thursday for confirmation. This will make 12 years for Mr. Gaston as Keytesville's postmaster, consequently he and his friends are in high feather.

Judge Samuel Davis of Marshall, Saline county, candidate for judge of the supreme court, was circulating among our people Saturday. Judge Davis made a very favorable impression upon those who had the pleasure of meeting him. He is an able jurist, an accomplished gentleman and a very interesting conversationalist.

H. C. Atterbury, the wide-awake agricultural implement dealer of Mendon, has an "ad." in this issue of the COURIER. Don't fail to read it. Mr. Atterbury will make a special sale of farming implements, wagons and buggies during the month of March. Farmers who are in quest of bargains in these lines would do well to see Mr. Atterbury.

Rev. L. D. Lamkin of Little Rock, Ark., a half brother to our affable circuit clerk, Z. T. Lamkin, has just closed a wonderfully successful protracted meeting at De Soto, Mo., during which there were 130 conversions, 91 of whom have united with the Baptist church. Rev. Lamkin is now engaged in holding revival services at Bosworth, Carroll county.

J. W. Ellis of near Pee Dee had a cow drop a calf Monday that was a decided monstrosity. It had two heads and four jawbones, and it was doubled up in such a way that its brisket had grown to its belly. It was dead, and Mr. Ellis tried to take off the hide so as to have it stuffed, but the job was too difficult to accomplish successfully, owing to the many deformities of this curious specimen of the bovine family.

D. A. Pierce of Armstrong, Howard county, was here the first of the week in quest of mules. He succeeded in purchasing 12 head from A. L. Welch of Keytesville out of the lot that were shipped to Jefferson, Iowa, by Al Wilks and John E. Chrane, but who shipped them back to Keytesville because of their failure to find a profitable market in the Hawkeye state. In addition to the dozen mules he bought of Mr. Welch, Mr. Pierce also purchased two from A. C. Phillips of Keytesville and two from Edwin Grotjan of near Dalton. Mr. Pierce's prices ranged from $125 to $150.

I will, Saturday, March 1, 1902, sell to any customer any goods in my store consisting of groceries, racket goods, notions, etc., at actual cost. One day only. ANTHONY M. HALLEY.

Not having heard from our old scribe at Triplett for several weeks, and having concluded that he is either lost, strayed or stolen, we have arranged for a new correspondent from that place, who sends us quite a newsy and spicy communication this week. Keep 'em coming.

Mr. and Mrs. Warner Ford of Keytesville went to Glasgow Saturday, from which place Mr. Ford left for Chicago to take treatment for a cancerous affection of the face just in front of his left ear, and which has troubled him for the past year or more. We sincerely hope that he may be successful in obtaining a perfect cure. Mrs. Ford will remain in Glasgow with her daughter, Mrs. W. R. Hawkins, during her husband's absence, which will probably be about three weeks.

The blunder of a resident of the Magic city has caused the Moberly Democrat to conclude that telephone mistakes are dangerous, and cites an instance wherein a Moberly man, wishing to communicate with a Mr. X, looked at the directory and then called up a number. Presently there came through the receiver a sweet feminine "hello," and he said, "Who is this?" "This is Mrs. X." "Have you any idea where your husband is?" He couldn't understand why she rang off so sharply until he looked at the book again and discovered that he had called up the residence of a widow.

Prominent among Keytesville's social institutions is the "Almeria Miller club," so named in honor of its beloved founder, the lamented Mrs. John C. Miller. Regular meetings of the club are held at the homes of its members in rotation the third Thursday in each month. With proficiency in the art of embroidery as its chief object, the club disposes of a literary program at every meeting, and an elegant luncheon besides. Its membership being limited to 25, applicants for admission become as clamorous as French authors are for place with the immortals, or Missouri Republicans for government office.

The editor of the COURIER made a very pleasant and profitable trip to Brunswick Saturday afternoon, and while there added eight new names to our subscription list. We like to go to Brunswick for the people of that city and vicinity hold our paper in lofty appreciation, hence when we are in their midst we realize that we are among our friends, and the kind, too, that we are proud to call friends, for they are always glad of an opportunity to speak a good word for the COURIER. Long may the denizens of Brunswick and surrounding country live to enjoy the Great Favorite Weekly. May their tribe continue to increase and other good things of life be theirs in abundance.

Dr. J. C. Staubus and wife are visiting old friends and relatives at Brunswick. Dr. Staubus has been practicing dentistry at Ft. Madison, Iowa, for the past 12 years, and is a fine specimen of physical manhood, but he is in poor health, he says, and is either going to locate in Colorado or California. A fine-looking man doesn't get much sympathy when he gets sick, as his commanding appearance always belies his complaints. The editor of the COURIER had the pleasure of meeting Dr. Staubus while in Brunswick Saturday. We were cautious not to say anything to the gentleman to offend him, for had we done so he would have likely sat upon us, and then we would have been flattened out like a pancake and completely, utterly and effectually squelched.
