

Does What Other Stoves Fail to Do

In almost every house there is a room that the heat from the other stoves or furnace fails to reach. It may be a room on the "weather" side, or one having no heat connection. It may be a cold hallway. No matter in what part of the house—whether room or hallway—it can soon be made snug and cozy with a

STANDARD OIL COMPANY

The Salisbury Press-Spectator declares that the traveling public suffer much inconvenience these days at the Wabash station which is usually in a state of total darkness. The Wabash furnishes only so much oil, which the employes have to eke out as best they can. Women, especially, who are traveling at night, find conditions very unsatisfactory, as the ladies' waiting-room is often not lighted at all, because, the employes say, there is no oil for the one lonely lamp which does duty in the way of illuminating the scene. The property for lighting the station is one lantern and two lamps. We wish the Wabash would see its way to furnishing a little more light.

A Western Wonder.

There's a Hill at Bowie, Tex., that's twice as big as last year. This wonder is W. L. Hill, who from a weight of 90 pounds has grown to over 180. He says: "I suffered with a terrible cough, and doctors gave me up to die of consumption. I was reduced to 90 pounds, when I began taking Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. Now, after taking 12 bottles. I have more than doubled in weight and am completely cured." Only sure Cough and Cold cure. Guaranteed by E. W. Herring, Druggist, 50c and $1. Trial bottle free.

The Press-Spectator sends the following wail concerning the mineral well at Salisbury: Our mineral well is in a deplorable condition. The arm is broken from the flow pipe, making it almost impossible to catch the water in any kind of receptacle, the sieve is destroyed which covered the top of the drain pipe and it is now choked up with osage oranges and other thrash, so that in a short time, it will be entirely filled and the water having no outlet will fill the basin; the floor of the basin is covered with dirt and filth of all kinds, making it almost unsanitary as well as unsightly. We hope those in charge of the matter will attend to this without undue delay as it is a menace to health.

The Original Porous Plaster.

It's Alcock's, first introduced to the people 60 years ago, and to-day undoubtedly has the largest sale of any external remedy—millions being sold annually throughout the whole civilized world. There have been imitations, to be sure, but never has there been one to even compare with Alcock's—the world's standard external remedy.

For a weak back, cold on the chest or any local pain, the result of taking cold or overstrain, there's nothing we know of to compare with this famous plaster.

The Brunswicker says that it is sorry to learn of a painful accident which happened to Mrs. Granville Kennedy Wednesday morning. Mrs. Kennedy was on her way to services at the Methodist church, and in ascending the steps, near the church, she slipped and fell. In attempting to catch herself, her weight was thrown on her left arm and the arm was broken just above the wrist. The injury will deprive her of the use of the member for several weeks. Mrs. Kennedy's many friends sympathize with her in the misfortune, and wish for her a speedy recovery.

Of course you pay your money, But you get your money's worth, For what does money mean to you When Rocky Mountain Tea's on earth? E. W. HERRING.

Harry Baker, a brakeman on the Columbia branch, and a son of George Baker of the 99-cent store in Moberly, saved a young girl, Miss Leonora Bradley of Columbia, from being run over and killed Saturday afternoon. Miss Bradley was crossing a trestle just in front of a Wabash engine, which was doing switching work, young Baker being on the front end of the locomotive. When directly in the middle of the trestle Miss Bradley saw the approaching locomotive and was so frightened she was unable to move. Just as the engine reached the maiden, young Baker grabbed her and dragged her over the side of the trestle. The two fell a distance of 10 feet, but neither was badly hurt.

What is said to be the greatest crow roost in the world is being demolished in Barton county. It is Haines' grove, eight miles northwest of Lamar. The countless thousands of crows that spend the fall and winter at this place are making their last stand in great numbers. One tree where heretofore but a dozen birds would have roosted is now black with them as night approaches. The birds have difficulty in obtaining roosting places. As a result the timber is the scene of innumerable battles at night. The crows keep up incessant calls and almost human screeches as fights for favorite limbs become desperate. The continual fighting causes flying from one part of the timber to another, and throughout the night one approaching the woods at a distance hears the thousands of wings beating the like the far away muffled roar of a whirlwind. As flocks pass overhead there is a noise as of thousands switches cutting the air. When daylight breaks over the woods the birds awaken simultaneously a mile away one can hear the united cries of the crows. The grove is being cut for telephone poles and the farmers are pleased.

The Salisbury Press-Spectator very aptly observes that the paper trust has its machinery working again screwing up the price of paper of all kinds. Every bill the country editor buys now bears the mark—"the price on this item has advanced." When the fight on the general paper trust was started price began to decline and when it was finally driven out of existence, as far as the organization and name was concerned, prices dropped to where they ought to be. All this happened early last summer. Of course these fat, rich, tariff-protected paper manufacturers could not be expected to sit idle and let prices remain normal. Election time was drawing near and there was much talk of tariff revision, so it would not do to put up prices immediately. But it's all over now. The powers that created and tolerated trusts are still on the throne unconcernedly watching these manufacturers screwing up prices. We will watch with interest to see if any Republican papers complain of this unjust advance. No, they won't complain, not publicly anyway. They advocated the election of a Republican administration and what the administration smiles at they must tolerate.
