SHE GOT WHAT SHE WANTED

This Woman Had to Insist Strongly, but it Paid

Chicago, Ill.—"I suffered from a female weakness and stomach trouble, and I went to the store to get a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, but the clerk did not want to let me have it—he said it was no good and wanted me to try something else, but knowing all about it I insisted and finally got it, and I am so glad I did, for it has cured me."

"I know of so many cases where women have been cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that I can say to every suffering woman if that medicine does not help her, there is nothing that will—Dr. J. C. Benson, 2963 Arch St., Chicago, Ill."

This is the age of substitutes and women who want a cure should look upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound just as fully as you would not accept a substitute for your own. The Gravelly can have a little more pain. Women who are passing through this critical period or who are suffering from any of those distressing ailments that their sex should not be ignorant of the fact that for thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which is made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills. In almost every community you will find women who have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

The End in View.

The mother of a child objected to a punishment given by the teacher to her boy, and calling upon the teacher asked, in tones that were icy: "Miss Harrington, I wish some information of this outrageous proceeding. Kindly tell me just what end you had in view in punishing my son?"

To which the teacher sweetly replied: "Why, Mrs. Grant, I had the same end in view that anybody would have in speaking a little boy."
