Obituaries

Henry Goll, president of the Bank of Dalton and one of the wealthiest and most prominent farmers in the southern part of the county died suddenly Thursday evening April 4, 1912.

His death was so sudden and so unexpected that when it was known over the county Friday it astonished as much as shocked his numerous friends and acquaintances. He had been in apparent good health though suffering from heart trouble of which very few had knowledge, and when just a few days before he and his wife were in Keytesville not one whom he met had a thought of any affliction which might remove him from among us so soon.

The parents of Henry Goll were born and reared and married in Germany, but yet while domestic life had not been fully entered on by them they came to the land of the free to enjoy greater scope for their energies and settled in Ohio at New Brainer.

At that city July 13 1856 Henry Goll was born, and after ten years in that section the family came further west and purchased land on the Missouri river in this county opposite New Frankfort.

There on the farm the old folks and a family of seven children devoted their lives to each other and their neighbors until the boys and girls married and acquired property for themselves and located in the neighborhood or in a more distant country. The seven children were Minnie, who died in Brookfield several years ago; Judge Jno. A. and William who live as they have always, on splendid farms near the old home; George of Farmington Ark., Mrs. Mary Botts and Mrs. Melinda Williams, together with the deceased Henry Goll.

On Sept. 27, 1887 Henry Goll wedded Miss Maggie Shively and their children were Jay W. who died about 17 years ago and Brick P. The widowed mother and son will find solace for the loss of so excellent husband and father and companion in the consciousness of his upright, charitable and christian way and the assurance for such for all eternity. Henry Goll aspired to the place of a friend and citizen and to no public office. His position for ten years as president of the Bank of Dalton, since the day of its organization could not have been filled with a more conscientious and more greatly trusted man. His devotion to and regularity on the farm or any other matter with which he was connected was the copy which all knew him endeavored to follow.

When a boy of sixteen he was confirmed in the Lutheran church and he lived and died a devoted constant and thorough christian life, striving to improve himself daily in the elements which not only constitute the principal part of true greatness but which disseminate an influence beyond normalizing and all else of human endeavor. His life was calculated to prove that unobtrusive, constant and loving devotion to faith, family duty and friends is of much more consequence than high place, loud protestation and vehement exhortation: that the following of the meek lowly Nazarene could best be achieved with modesty and mentality rather than with ostentatious display meaningless mummery. Not faultless, perhaps, but blameless to a degree is the life, character and religion of such a man. If providence in its wisdom could favor humanity by leaving to the world such estimable character and splendid examples of valuable citizen-ship instead of gathering them into eternity in the prime years of their lives, what devout thanks we could add to those due from us already for blessings.

"Our dim eyes seek a beacon and our weary feet a guide, And our hearts of all lifes mysteries learns the meaning of the key,

And the cross gleams o'er our pathway—on it hangs the crucified

And he answers all our yearnings with the whispered "Follow me."

Followed to the cemetery at Dalton last Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock by one of the largest congregation of friends which could be collected to pay the last tribute of respect to any man in the county, Henry Goll was interred. Rev. Franc Mitchell pastor of the Presbyterian church of Keytesville delivered, under the inspiration of the scripture, the life and character of the deceased and the deep sorrow of the congregation, most impressive, touching and penetrating eulogies.

The Courier joins the family in their feeling of deep sorrow.

Mrs. Florian Budel an account of whose death was given in the Courier last week, tho an error in name crept, in was born in Germany June 26 1849 and died at her home in Keytesville April 4, 1912. She was a widow with one child, Mrs. August Harms when she came to this country about 1893 and married her old friend and acquaintance who had sent for her after the death of his former wife.

Mrs. Katherine Budel was noted for her untiring energy. She never seemed to tire of work nor ever unable to find something to do. She was most devoted to her daughter and grandchildren and never relaxed in her efforts to be of service to them. Together with all the balance of the family she was a Catholic.

Mrs. Budel was buried at the City cemetery Friday afternoon April 5, Rev. Franc Mitchell of the Presbyterian church conducting short but impressive ceremony.

The Courier extends sympathy to the bereaved family and joins friends in their sense of her loss to it.

Pinegar-Hughes

Ray Pinegar and Vera Hughes joined their futures early in the lives of each by being united in marriage at the home of the brides aunt, Mrs. Rosa Jenkins in this city Sunday evening at 9:30 by Rev. J. A. Snarr, Miss Ida Lillian Lewis and Frank Brake of Brunswick being the only friends of the juvenile contracting parties present except homefolks of the bride and groom.

Soon after the ceremony the happy couple boarded a Wabash train for St. Louis where they will take in the sights and spend the first week of their honeymoon, after which they will return to live with the parents of the groom on their magnificent farm a mile west of this city.

Miss Vera Hughes that was, Mrs. Ray Pinegar that is, is a graduate of K. H. S. and one among the very pretty and amiable girls who have attended this school, and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hughes who lives on their farm northwest of this city. If she don't make the young man she has chosen for a life partner a good wife, it won't be her fault.

Ray Pinegar is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. M. Pinegar who have one of the most attractive places in the County and who are as popular among all who know them as any people in the County. Mrs. Geo. Pinegar is most highly esteemed on account of her zealous charity and self sacrifice for her faith. Ray has the right kind of ancestry, it remains only for him to apply his mental and splendid physical powers properly, and he will soon become among the most useful and influential citizens. Too young yet to have developed the good there is in him, he still has shown perception and energy which, balanced by an affectionate, indulgent and sensible helpmate will place him on the pinnacle where fond relatives and friends have pictured him.

The Courier's heartiest congratulations all around.

Linen Shower Party

Fire At Dalton

The Colored Industrial school at Dalton caught fire about 4 o'clock Tuesday morning and came very near being completely destroyed. The manager with his assistance with boys bucket brigade got the blaze under control by heroic efforts and lots of water, and ended the catastrophe with about a $400 loss. The smokehouse containing a lot of meat and other provisions, and the buggy house with its contents were burned. The teachers residence made a very narrow escape and together with several thousand dollars of other property was saved.

All Boys Invited

Next Sunday morning at 11 o'clock, a service will be held at the Presbyterian church especially for the boys of Keytesville and vicinity, who are all heartily and urgently invited to be present. The boys of the church and their friends will have entire charge of the music for the occasion, and a sermon, peculiarly theirs, will be delivered by the pastor.

The assessor for Keytesville township has returned his books, tho his assessment is not yet complete as to final figures. Exactly what the total will be for all property assessed, will not appear until the board of appeals meet. It is stated that the gain in the assessment as it now stands over that for 1911 is $93,998. Money is needed and taxes have to be raised somehow, but when you pay $10 on the same property that a few years ago you only paid $5 tax on, don't say taxes are no higher and fail to wink.

Last Saturday began to look a little like the roads were passable. There were more vehicles in the city than all put together for two months. The Commercial clubs attention to the roads thru President Bennett and Genl. Supt. Shannon is challenging the pride and spirit of farmers and they are showing as much public spirit as the club. Thats right. Work the roads before farming can be done, then you can go some when coming to town.

Walter Friesz gathered up some specimens of rock and took them to the State University with him for analysis last Monday. Walter believes there is fine rock for road and concrete work here, and will take pleasure in ascertaining if he can get specimens. Any one wishing rock tested can have it done free of expense by sending him a hundred or more pounds—the state pays the freight.

John C. Miller, Walter Friesz and Dempsey Anderson all from the State University at Columbia were enjoying a visit with home people and Easter services at home from Friday to Monday afternoon.
