Cold Weather Terrors Need Not Exist

with an ILINOY HEATER. It is heater perfection. It supplies super-heated air to fire-box, burns all the volatile gases and carbon, cokes the unburned coal, prevents loss through imperfect combustion; keeps up perfect circulation of warm air in room—draws air from floor and discharges hot air from top. Burns all fuel perfectly; therefore burns less coal. Don't pass judgment on your heater problems till you have seen the handsome, durable, low-cost, long-lived ILINOY HEATER

BISHOP AND TOBACCO

Bishop E. E. Hoss of Oklahoma City presided at the general conference of Methodist ministers at St. Charles, Missouri. Bishop Hoss, though he used to, does not either chew or smoke and created a sensation by declaring that no gentleman would smoke or use tobacco in any form. Undoubtedly he soon felt that his bishopric was in the balance and liable to go down the other way so he qualified his statement by saying that he did not believe a gentleman would smoke in the presence of any one to whom smoking or chewing was offensive. He served notice that at the next general conference in Oklahoma he would take the initiative with those who cared to follow up his wishes in the matter and make the question one of debate before the gathering. Evidently the distinguished minister made his declaration prematurely for he failed in his attempt to raise $300 which he desired to distribute among mission points in south Missouri for with all his most extracting efforts he succeeded in getting but $100 a part of which he himself contributed.

While the Bishop was denouncing tobacco users there were a number of ministers on the lawn out side who were smoking and chewing, and from their action according to the account, they were badly "skeered." The Bishop said that he used to smoke and while in Chicago some years ago he visited a prominent Methodist there and both feeling an urgent desire for a smoke and wishing to conceal it from the other, each got a cigar and hid out and enjoyed himself but presently discovered that they were sitting on the opposite side of a bench in a summer house and each had found the other out. He says that they pledged each other then and there never to play the hypocrite in that respect again. The Bishop has a decided advantage in this question over others for in addition to not being disposed that way, a hoss ought not to chew, smoke or drink but should confine himself to hay.

Mother of Eighteen Children

"I am the mother of eighteen children and have the praise of doing more work than any young woman in my town," writes Mrs. C. J. Martin, Boone Mill, Va. "I suffered for five years with stomach trouble and could not eat even as much as a biscuit without suffering. I have taken three bottles of Chamberlain's Tablets and am now a well woman and weigh 168 pounds. I can eat any thing I want to, and as much as I want and feel better than I have at any time in ten years. I refer to any one in Boone Mill or vicinity and they will vouch for what I say." Chamberlain's Tablets are for sale by all dealers.

Rotten Eggs

The state commissioner of food and drugs has been investigating the eggs situation in Kansas City and he says that the bakers, confectioners, etc., of that city have been using a ton of rotten eggs a day in making their cakes, pies, etc. He has thus far candled about a million eggs at the plant of the Mid-Continent Refrigerating Co. where a million dozen eggs are in storage. He says 90 per cent of this million eggs are rotten and of the others, many have commenced to decompose being subject to the processes of rot and spots common to bad eggs.

No Trouble

"Life" print the following: "They're six fine sons you have, Casey", said Dennis Flaherty to his friend. "They are," said Casey. "Do ye have any trouble with them?" "Trouble," said Casey, "I've never had to raise my hand to one of them—except in self-defense." "It is said when crops are short that the silo proves most helpful," said a prominent Nodaway county, Mo. farmer at Kansas City the other day. "It will make the same amount of food go more than twice as far as when fed any other way."

More Interurban Talk

An agent of the McKinley lines has asked and received permission of the state authorities for the McKinley interurban interest to buy the street railways line and bridge over the Missouri at Jefferson City. This revives the talk of the connecting of St. Louis with Kansas City by electric line and the last deal confirms the belief. This is a characteristic deal of the interurban people. It is believed when they do decide to build across the state they will go out of St. Louis south of the Missouri up to Jefferson City and from there they will cross the bridge to reach Columbia and thence west to Kansas City. If they do follow the westward line there will be two routes open to them, one through Sedalia, Moberly and then west through Salisbury, Keytesville, etc., or the more direct western line through Glasgow, Fayette and Brunswick. It begins to appear that the interurban people really mean business and that this town seems to be on the line of the improvement.

Attending Presbytery

Rev. Franc Mitchell left Monday for Williamsburg, in Calloway county to attend a meeting of the presbytery of Missouri which convened Tuesday night and remained in session two days. Rev. Mitchell will be home to conduct services at Indian Grove church next Sunday, this being an incident a little out of the ordinary as it finishes the pastor's first year as pastor of that church.

The Reason Why

"Every law protecting the women of America from insults should be repealed until the women learn to dress modestly enough not to invite insult," a Chicago Judge declared to fellow jurists recently, according to Miss Mary Bartelme, assistant Judge of the Cook County Juvenile Court.

"Men and boys who insult women are being let off with lighter sentences by the judges, because of woman's suggestive dress," Miss Bartelme said.

"A short time ago a judge said to a boy who was brought into court: 'How dare you insult this girl—one of the best girls in the community?'"

"How was I to know she was a good girl?" the boy answered. "She dressed like a tough."

"And investigation showed that the girl did dress like a tough, which influenced the judge to be more lenient."

"Girls don't realize the danger to which their immodest clothes subject them. Grown women don't seem to realize it."

"Mothers allow high school girls to wear transparent and slit skirts, and all manner of other suggestive clothes. Girls, who are thieves are brought before me at every session of the juvenile court."

"Those who have stolen to buy candy are in the minority. The greater number have stolen to buy clothes. They become thieves so the could drape themselves in diaphanous gowns and slit skirts."
