

Rucker Endorsements.

President Wilson in his letter to the Missouri delegation says: "Nothing has been more gratifying to me during the arduous sessions of the present congress than the generous and disinterested support which you have given me. The paper which you sent is the sort that makes a man carrying the responsibilities of public life very proud and very grateful, and is in line with your whole conduct during the months that have passed."

Cordially and sincerely yours,
(Signed) Woodrow Wilson."

In his 4th. of July address at Philadelphia to further express his feeling, President Wilson said:

"The members of the House and Senate who stay in hot Washington to maintain a quorum of the houses and transact public business are performing an act of patriotism. I honor them for it and am mighty glad to stay there and stick by them till it is over."

William J. Bryan, over his own signature in the Commoner for June, 1914, said to the voters:

"The importance of electing a congress that will be in sympathy with President Wilson administration cannot be over-estimated. If your district is represented by a progressive democrat who has given President Wilson hearty support, it is the duty of all progressive Democrats to remain and elect him."

Champ Clark said:

"Men should not be sent hither simply to gratify their own personal ambition, but because they can be of service, and having proved they are of service, wisdom dictates that they should be kept here so long as they continue to be of service; and it may be confidently asserted that the value of the services of a man of capacity, character, industry and good habit increases in exact proportion to the length of his service. Now England understands this thoroughly, so do the cities of Philadelphia and Pittsburgh. When a representative from any of these places demonstrates his fitness here, he is retained until he retires, dies or is promoted. These facts should furnish much food for thought for every constituency in the land."

Ex-Governor Dockery, in a recent speech said:

"The Missouri delegation is one of the strongest in the House and they should be kept there in order that the state and nation shall have the greatest benefit of their services."

The St. Louis Republic, in its editorial of June 27, 1914, in paying a very high tribute to the Missouri delegation, said:

The fourteen Democratic members of the Missouri congressional delegation will remain on the job until the administration's legislative programme has been completed. Neither extreme heat, personal considerations nor the condition of their political fences will be permitted to interfere with what they conceive to be for the popular welfare.

Their political "fences" back home will be left to look after themselves till such time as Congress sees fit to adjourn. Of the fourteen members, ten have opposition in the primaries of Aug. 4. In certain cases the opposition is serious. These men who are staying in Washington and giving their opponents a free field are risking their political careers. Party loyalty is rarely called upon to make a greater sacrifice than this. Their constituents back home will hardly overlook this manly and courageous stand of their representative."

The Saturday Evening Post, a great nation paper, in its discussion of such matters recently said:

"This is a curious phase of our politics—the constant cropping up of new candidates. It should be printed in every newspaper in every state all the time that the only way for a state representation in Congress is to select good men, send them to Washington and keep them there. The new representative and the new senator get nowhere. Experience and length of service are the only things that count in Congress."

All that is needed is attention to business and an opportunity to serve, and the rewards will come; which rewards, by the way, are greater for the constituents than for the constituted. The representative or the senator has to work, and work hard; and the state, owing to the position attained, gets the results of the labor. And those results invariably are greater in direct ratio to the length of service allowed.

However, the ambitious boys back home do not think of this, and they are cropping up everywhere, while the men who want to be re-elected are tied up in Washington."

All this testimony proves that it is the judgment of these great witnesses that the nation needs the return of experienced, faithful congressmen and that it is just that they should not be defeated in their absence from their districts by new, untried and inexperienced men. 25-26

Hen Turns Suffraget

Salisbury has a hen that is rapidly becoming a rooster. She is about one year old and during last fall laid an egg each day but during the winter and spring she developed a rooster's comb and gills, quit laying and now crows as lustily as any rooster. Her effort is not a muffled, young rooster crow but a regular old fashioned adult crow—To all intents and purposes she is now a rooster. Can you beat it?

The able lawyer and versatile writer at the helm of the Hunsville Herald challenges our statements concerning Farmer Jones in six several instances, going so far as to say that the six were unjust, unfair and untrue, or either of the six. There are a number in Livingston who will state that Farmer Jones has repeatedly voted for other than the nominees of the democratic party. This is one. Number two is admitted by the Herald, but excused on the score that this is the first time Mr. Jones ever ran for office and therefore the first it was necessary for him to make speeches for the party, and further excused by the assertion that Rucker never made any speeches for the party except when he was running for office or holding one. Will the Herald stand on this last proposition, that is, that Rucker never made a speech in the interest of the democratic party and its nominees, except when he was a candidate, and agree to the truth or falsity of all he has said in his editorial of the 16th; as this proves true or false? His third in order is practically answered by number one, but we will add for the information of the Herald that there are as many in Farmer Jones county who will maintain that he has voted for others than the nominees of the democratic party as the Herald can find who will say otherwise. Will Mr. Jones himself deny that he has done so? The fourth objection pins the Herald to the cross without doubt, and the attempt to beg the question after it was raised, is not up to Bro. Hamiltons standard as an arguer of political questions. Surely in face of the every day facts, the Herald will not undertake to maintain that the principal workers for Farmer Jones are not Whitecotton, disappointed applicants for postoffice jobs and his brother-in-law. We will give the Herald another try at this fourth objection to our statements, if he desires to guess again, but warn it to get nearer to a good guess. The fifth, that Farmer Jones made the offer to a newspaper to announce in its columns if it would support him, was another bad guess by the Herald, for Farmer Jones never made any such offer or any other kind to the Courier, nor has the Courier solicited an announcement from Farmer Jones or any other candidate, nor will it ever do so, the Herald's high business methods as an example to the contrary notwithstanding. But will the Herald undertake to maintain that such a proposition was never made by its candidate to any paper? The sixth point, proclaimed the "unkindest cut of all" by the Herald, was that the greater number of papers supporting Farmer Jones were republican. We will ask the Herald if there has not been an addition to the number of papers supporting its candidate since the editorial in the Courier about which it complains appeared, and if some of those additions did not "lean strongly" towards Rucker at the beginning of the campaign. The fact that the opening of the Farmer Jones campaign, formally at Brookfield, was published in several republican papers with high endorsements of Jones and advocating his nomination, may not be known to the Herald, but that does not alter the fact. But what we intended to suggest is true and the Herald knows it, and that was, that with the exception of itself and the Paris Appeal the most ardent supporters of Farmer Jones among the democratic papers are those whose editors are disappointed applicants for postoffice jobs. But there were a number of other points made by the Courier which the Herald deigns not to notice, so far. Will it oblige us?

R. W. Benecke was here Saturday and drove to Salisbury and back home in his Maxwell car.

MAKES RHEUMATISM PROMPTLY DISAPPEAR

Chronic, Crippled-up Sufferers Find Relief After Few Doses of New Remedy are Taken

It is needless to suffer any longer with rheumatism, and be all crippled up, and bent out of shape with its heart-wrenching pains, when you can easily avoid it.

Rheumatism comes from weak, inactive kidneys, that fail to filter from the blood, the poisonous waste matter and uric acid; and it is useless to rub on liniments or take ordinary remedies to relieve the pain. This only prolongs the misery and can't visibly cure you.

The only way to cure rheumatism is to remove the cause. The new discovery, Croxone, does this because it neutralizes and dissolves all the poisonous substances and uric acid that lodge in the joints and muscles, to scratch and irritate and cause rheumatism, and cleans out and strengthens the stopped-up, inactive kidneys, so they can filter all the poisons from the blood and drive it on and out of the system.

Croxone is the most wonderful medicine ever made for curing chronic rheumatism, kidney troubles, and bladder disorders. You will find it different from all other remedies. There is nothing else on earth like it. It matters not how old you are, or how long you have suffered, it is practically impossible to take it into the human system without results. You will find relief from the first few doses, and you will be surprised how quickly all your misery and suffering will end.

An original package of Croxone costs but a trifle at any first-class drug store. All druggists are authorized to sell it on a positive money-back guarantee. Three doses a day for a few days is often all that is ever needed to cure the worst backache or overcome urinary disorders.

Roosterless Henneries Pay

There is something in the cry of "swat the rooster" is shown by the fact that Stamper says he is preparing to pay a cent a dozen more for eggs laid in a roosterless henneries than for those laid in a hen house where the roosters are permitted their own sweet and crowful way. Mr. Stamper says that the eggs that are coming in now are not as good as they should be as a rule. The usual "hot weather" eggs gathered at irregular times throw onto the market a large percentage of bad eggs and many dozens of eggs sent by him, are candled and rejected at the receiving point. For these he gets not a cent although he has paid for them. He says that the unfertilized eggs stand much more heat and exposure, to the elements than do those fertilized and that is why he can afford to pay more for unfertilized eggs as they bring him a larger return when placed under the careful eye of the candlers.

Cured of Indigestion.

Mrs. Sadie P. Clawson, Indiana, Pa., was bothered with indigestion. "My stomach pained me night and day," she writes. "I would feel bloated and have headache and belching after eating. I also suffered from constipation. My daughter had used Chamberlain's Tablets and they did her so much good that she gave me a few doses of them and insisted upon my trying them. They helped me as nothing else has done." For sale by all dealers.

Had the Wrong Hunch.

A local business man was approached by a negro last week who asked for change for two dollars, one dollar to be in dimes and the other nickels. In a joking way the business man remarked to the colored fellow, "what is it, craps or poker," and grinned at the manner in which he thought he had called the turn. The colored brother remarked, "I am the minister of a colored church here and I needed the change for church purposes."

Mrs. David Barnett

Mrs. David Barnett of Twin Falls, Idaho, who was called to Sumner several weeks ago by the death of her sister, Mrs. J. C. Barnett, died Tuesday afternoon of last week at the home of her parents at Sumner. The husband and family at Twin Falls were notified of the death and came to Sumner where the funeral was held the latter part of the week.

Does Advertising Pay?

Ask the proprietor of the J. A. Harper shoe store at Triplett. Two weeks ago the Harper store advertised that they had a big stock of good shoes for sale at bargain prices. The rush began early. Someone came to the store during the night and finding the doors locked and no clerks there to wait on them, entered and helped themselves. They got about 18 pairs of the best shoes in stock and forgot to leave names, addresses or cash. It is thought the fortunate man must have had a skeleton key in his possession as the doors were locked as usual and the robbery was not discovered until a search was made for the shoes they thought they had in stock.

John M. Dawson of Kahokia, candidate for U. S. Senator for the seat assigned to Senator Stone and from which is heard the ablest support of the administration and the purest oratory, opened his campaign at St. Louis Friday week before last. He intends to spend considerable of his time in the cities. He appears to hold that the cities have been sadly neglected by Senator Stone, and that if they will elect him, he will see to it that they get theirs, whatever that may be. Mr. Dawson says nothing about Senator Stone overlooking the country. Just why Mr. Dawson waited so long before opening up his batter- action and why he will operate practically all the time in the cities, is perhaps known to himself and a few others, but it has not been made public. But that doesn't matter. Hon. Wm Joel will continue in the seat he has distinguished Missouri from, for another term. It would be much to our credit to replace the leader of the senate with a man unknown to almost everybody and whose chief concern appears to be for the big cities, but we are willing to sacrifice some of the interest of the cities and the benefit of the whole state and the distinction of having the greatest statesman and best orator in the senate.

There are some people going good roads crazy, education wild. The action by the house of representatives appropriating $25,000,000 for improvement of mail routes and country roads generally exclusive of state and county highways will be approved by the country. The appropriation of ten times as much to include state and county highways would not have met with the endorsement of the public. Some of the schemes proposed by visionary pedagogues and demagogic aspirants for office would put the common school out of commission.

A proposed bond issue for the Moberly schools was beaten last week by a vote of 795 to 371.

IN SUCH PAIN WOMAN CRIED

Suffered Everything Until Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Florence, So. Dakota.—"I used to be very sick every month with bearing down pains and backache, and had headache a good deal of the time and very little appetite. The pains were so bad that I used to sit right down on the floor and cry, because it hurt me so and I could not do any work at those times. An old woman advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I got a bottle. I felt better the next month so I took three more bottles of it and got well so I could work all the time. I hope every woman who suffers like I did will try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. P. W. LANSING, Route No. 1, Florence, South Dakota.

Why will women continue to suffer day in and day out or drag out a sickly, half-beat existence, missing three-fourths of the joy of living, when they can find health in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?

For thirty years it has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has restored the health of thousands of women who have been troubled with such ailments as displacements, inflammation, ulceration, tumors, irregularities, etc.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

Several of the papers opposing Rucker's return to congress make frequent reference to Hatch and Bland, yet neither of them have ever mentioned the length of time these splendid men were allowed to remain representatives from their districts. Why is this? Why the answer is easy. They were there so much longer than Rucker has been, and the principal objection they urge to Rucker, in fact about the only one, being that he has been in congress so long, the truth about Hatch and Bland would react on them.

Pale Children

Ayer's Sarsaparilla helps nature to make rich, red blood. No alcohol. Sold for 60 years. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass. Ask Your Doctor.

The Higbee News has graciously published one apology for what it erroneously said about Judge Rucker and gracefully retracted its assertion, based on what it at the time considered authority. Why did not the News say it was Whitecotton who told it, and ease its conscience fully—the public understood where he got the "information" all the time. And why not voluntarily do some more apologizing and retracting—not wait to be convicted, Mr. Welch & Son, for practically all the News says about Judge Rucker appears to have been collected from the same informer.
