There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and for years it was supposed to be incurable. Doctors prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Catarrh is a local disease, greatly influenced by constitutional conditions and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is a constitutional remedy, is taken internally and acts thru the Blood on the Mucous Surfaces of the System. One Hundred Dollars reward is offered for any case that Hall's Catarrh Cure fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio. Sold by Druggists, 75c. If the Grand River Valley low land farmers have not had a sufficient object lesson in the futility of working the vast majority of bottom lands during the past four years, then the lesson can't be learned. Losses have been very heavy on the bottom farmers. Many had visions of good crops year in and year out, only to receive a recurrence of crop failure with the year's labor and planting thrown to the winds. Bottom land frequently bring gray hairs prematurely when the floods strike the bottom farmer as the history of bottom lands go in the Grand River Valley. If the object lessons of the past do not awake the spirit of better days for bottom land owners thru the well known and available means or drainage, then the case would seem hopeless. The cost of it, whatever may be required to do a good job, will most likely be met by one good crop, and the farmers would have the future to draw from the improved conditions, plus a largely increased value of the lands affected. The cost of the improvement would be paid in twenty annual installments, bearing a small interest rate of 4 or 5 per cent.—Chillicothe Constitution.

The reason is, where students go out with bread and things in their hands they are likely to throw part of it away. By eating in the school room what they do not consume is returned to the bucket or basket and taken home, where it is of use in feeding the chickens.

He writes in part of his work: "I have never seen such eagerness for the blessings religion has to offer. The men realize that many of them will go on the 'great adventure' before the war is over. They long for Christian assurances. The Y. M. C. A. is doing a marvelous work along social and religious lines. Howard county never invested $6,000 in a better cause than when she gave it to the Y. M. C. A. Still there is plenty of work for an army chaplain."

Carroll County agent R. D. Jay has just made his annual report, a summary of 52 weekly reports. In a year he traveled 7000 miles, visiting 440 farmers, once or oftener, as necessary. He had 800 office callers, wrote about that many letters and mailed 2,500 circulars. He took part in 153 meetings, besides going to Sunday school. Some 12,000 people in all were met at these meetings. Assistance was rendered in eleven farm orchards, never sprayed until this year; result $6,000 worth of apples sold, most of which wouldn't have been sold but for this spraying. Got 50 farmers to put soybeans on 1500 acres, bringing $15,000. Some 1,500 acres of land were fertilized for about $1,500, bringing back, in increased yield, four times as much. He says this was "some" of the things done. It is evident he "had to hump himself." He concludes: "It is difficult to put a money value on many of the miscellaneous activities which we engaged in, but if we have caused people to think more about their farm business and have helped to establish a higher standard of farm success and created among the boys and girls of our country schools a greater love for the work in the country schools, a greater love for the work in the country, then we do not feel that we have labored in vain."
