Expecting an insane man to go crazy is like expecting Germany to go into bankruptcy.

The ex-Kaiser lost his royalty but he saved the royalties, proving that the pen is more powerful than the sword.

"Drive slow; two fools might meet," would make a better highway sign than "Drive slow; you might meet a fool."

Step on the gas eight hours, and work eight hours is probably John D. Rockefeller's, Jr., idea of an eight hour day.

Unless the good intentions used for paving last longer than they do here, the streets in hell must be in a frightful shape.

The Bible appears to have survived the experience without visible injury from the ex-Kaiser being brought up with the Bible.

It is said that a man in Chicago was arrested for speeding with a coffin on his truck. Well if they're bound to do it that's the thing to carry.

Every car Henry Ford turns out means more money for Rockefeller, consequently Ford cannot be expected to ever have more money than John D.

Making a good impression on the Eve of election proves that when it comes to voting—with the women holding the balance of power, it is wise to make your peace.

By the time that three year old infant in New York City, who is reported to be speaking five different languages, grows up he'll probably be able to get around his home town without an interpreter.

And in these wonderful days when a woman is actually brought to justice for murder she is showing a wonderful adept habit. In recent cases they report: "my mind is a perfect blank." It may be noted, however, that the cartridges in the gun were not blanks.

Do not worry. If that woman in Michigan state succeeds in getting an amendment making kissing unconstitutional, some by-law will undoubtedly be found to legalize it. The law of average it seems, tries to make all things equal in these days of specialized laws.

France announces that she will not be in a position to pay any part of her debt to the United States for four years. If the matter could be turned over to St. Louis wets, it would be easy for France to pay at once. They would cancel the debt for two kegs of beer.—Brookfield Gazette.

Word comes to the public at large that amendment No. 3 carried by large majorities. This means that after the legislature meets in January and passes certain measures that one million dollars will at once be available for keeping up roads in all parts of the state. Not only for new federal projects but also in dragging and otherwise keeping up the new roads but in taking care of the dirt roads everywhere.

The ex-Kaiser places much stress upon the fact that he finally permitted his country to disarm and withdraw from the war, and the metropolitan papers print that with much emphasis, not stopping to explain that the ex-Kaiser never hinted at withdrawing until he saw that he was whipped—long after the Big Berthas had ceased to frighten the French. Instead of assisting the ex-Kaiser to place before the people of the United States his disloyal utterances, he should be taken to task for such. If congress had the backbone of an eel it would suppress the circulation of all newspapers printing the stuff given out by the ex-Kaiser.—Fayette Advertiser.

It is high time for scribes chronicling the series of murders involving man-and-woman relationships now nauseating the public to revise their vocabularies—and cease abusing the word "love" that they so flagrantly misuse. The victim of a murder in the Middle West is dubbed the "perfect lover," because he numbered some half hundred female followers in his train. The victims of a double murder in the East are termed the principals in a "love tragedy" by careless makers of phrases. A man slain in the West is called the ideal lover by those who write the story of his Don Juan experiences. This is sheer libel of "love." Those victims were in no sense lovers. They were merely the victims of crimes of sordid passion and lust and treacherous lechery. There was no element of love in their undoing. They simply followed the illicit trail to its turning—and paid the price. Love is clean and holds its votaries above the reach of harm—if it is true enough. The passion that fired the victims of the foul tragedies under relation was muddying, damning, leprously unclean.—Washington Post.

The proposal of Dr. John H. Finley, editor of the New York Times, that the allied debts instead of being paid, be converted into a trust fund, the interest of which should be devoted to the primary education, first of the children of those who were killed or rendered unfit by the World War, and later for the education of all children the world over, is receiving much favorable consideration from legislators and educators in the National Capital. It has been repeatedly said by those in authority in Congress that no proposal by which the United States would "forgive" foreign debts would ever pass the electorate of this country. At the same time many economists and financiers see no way, in this generation, at least, by which Europe can possibly pay anything on the principal of the huge sums owed, even if they pay the interest. Dr. Finley's proposal recalls the Boxer Indemnity Fund, which, instead of being turned back into the Treasury of the United States, has been used ever since the Boxer uprising to educate selected Chinese students in American schools and universities, with the result of spreading the gospel of western civilization and ideals throughout all China. Just how much this generous use of this fund has been responsible for the awakening of China, it is not possible to say, but it is unquestionably very large. Should it be possible to work out a practical plan by which Dr. Finley's proposal could be put into effect, the cause of education and Americanization would receive an impetus such as it has never had. The interest payments of the allied debts would doubtless reach the huge sum of five hundred millions yearly, which, devoted to the children of the world, would have an effect on the next generation impossible to calculate.

WHAT DOES HE DO?

Every day I see some guy prowling around, dodging automobiles and baby buggies, and the thought comes to me "what does he do for a living?" At the same time I see a boy who thinks he is a fan sitting on the court house lawn bench, cigarettin and tobacco juicing and I instinctively ask myself, "what does he do for a living?" The first individual is unusually comfortably dressed and may be a business man on a business errand; a farmer arranging to sell some of his farm products or an automobile salesman looking for a victim. There are so many things people do for a living that the curiously inclined, like myself, always wonder what the stranger does for a living. The young man on the court house bench is not so hard to diagnose. The chances are he works for his father or mother for a living. He is probably the young man who early in his life had a quarrel with old honest toil and has been on a strike every since. He may write an occasional check once in a while and sign the name of someone else, but work he will not. He makes a living such as it is, but not by work. You may not know the young man I have tried to describe, but there are a number of him in town every day and the chances are you have met him. I have tried to describe a professional loafer, one who lacks the ambition and the manhood to do anything useful. He is entirely too numerous. He does not roost on the court house bench all the time. He is found much of the time in touring cars and sometimes occupies a front seat in our better clubs and lodges. A loafer is a social liability and I have never been able to figure out just how he makes his living to the end. At any rate I can't understand why is a loafer. A bed bug is a loafer but the world knows how he makes his living.—By B. F. Heinney in Kirksville Journal.

ANOTHER WARHORSE, 20 YEARS OLD, WINS HORSE SHOW CUP

New York.—Deceive, the second old warhorse to uphold the traditions of the army at the National Horse Show, is occupying the limelight today that Moses, also representing the cavalry school at Fort Riley, Kansas, enjoyed yesterday.

Deceive is a thoroughbred gelding and rivals Moses in age, being nearly 20 years old. His particular feat in the present show was the winning of the Beresford Challenge Cup, presented by Col. Lord Deceles. As a jumper Deceive is said to have no superior. He was bred by A. H. Reed in Lexington, Ky., and bought by the army for $165, and has won prizes in Stockholm and Antwerp. He is known in every American military post as "the best horse in the army."

HOW NOT TO TAKE COLD

Some persons are subject to frequent colds, while others seldom, if ever, have a cold. You will find that the latter take good care of themselves. They take a shower or cold sponge bath every day in a warm room, avoid over heated rooms, sleep with a window open or partly open, avoid excesses, over eating, becoming over heated and then chilled and getting the feet wet. Then, when they feel the first indication of a cold, they take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy without delay and it is soon over.

THANKSGIVING DAY PROCLAIMED BY HYDE

Gov. Hyde issued the following Thanksgiving proclamation today: "Whereas by the reverent custom of our forefathers, one day in each year has been set apart for, and dedicated to, public acknowledgment and thanksgiving to Almighty God for His many blessings and mercies to us as a people, and

"Whereas, the president of the United States, Warren G. Harding has officially designated and set apart Thursday, Nov. 30, as a day of Thanksgiving and devotion for the year 1922, and

"Whereas, in common with the people of the other states of the Union, the people of this state have been blessed with bountiful crops, with richness of natural resource and wealth of material possession during the past year; no war has disturbed us; no pestilence has afflicted us; no national disaster has overwhelmed us; peace and plenty surround us; it is therefore appropriate that, for one day, we lay aside our daily tasks, humbly and reverently, to give thanks to our Creator and Supreme Ruler for that He has showered upon us blessings and preserved us as people.

"Now, therefore, I, Arthur B. Hyde, governor of the state of Missouri, acting in conjunction with the president of the United States, do hereby set aside Thursday, November 30 1922, as Thanksgiving Day, and I earnestly urge the people of the state of Missouri to repair to their altars of morship and there render failing bounty. It is also appropriate that, having rendered thanks for our material blessings and possessions, each of us should give thought to the condition of unrest and class consciousness which is ominously growing among our people, and highly resolve that, through the regeneration of our own hearts, that we shall diligently and patriotically labor during the ensuing year for a broader justice and fraternity among all citizens of our state and nation."

THE KITCHEN CABINET

Life without hope draws nectar in a sieve; And hope without an object cannot live.

WAYS THAT ARE DIFFERENT.

To serve the common every-day vegetables in some new ways that will appeal to the housewife, these recipes have been gathered. Those who have never grown or bought the crisp white heads of celery cabbage or Chinese cabbage have something still to look forward to.

Shred the desired amount, mix with finely shredded red pepper and serve with a mayonnaise which has been mixed with a little whipped cream.

Concordia Salad.—Mix together two parts of shredded Chinese cabbage and one part diced pineapple, one part of orange pulp and one part of seeded white grapes. Lay on well-blanchéd lettuce and serve with mayonnaise. Garnish with a cherry.

Perfection Turnips.—Peel and dice fine-grained mild turnips and cook until tender in boiling salted water. Drain carefully and to each quart of diced turnips add two tablespoonfuls of butter. Let stand on the back part of the stove until the butter is absorbed. Just before serving pour over them one cupful of highly seasoned white sauce and serve very hot.

Cauliflower With Mushrooms.—Break into flowerets one head of cauliflower and cook in boiling salted water until tender. Prepare rounds of toast, butter and heap with the cauliflower. Pour over them the following sauce: Chop one cupful of fresh mushrooms and put them with their juice and two tablespoonfuls of butter into a saucepan. Use a cupful of the juice if canned and add some of the cauliflower liquor if fresh mushrooms are used. Simmer until the mushrooms are tender, then add one cupful of cream or top milk, boil, thicken with two tablespoonfuls each of butter and flour cooked together, add one teaspoonful of salt and pepper to taste.

Celery With Pigs in Blankets.—Cook celery in one-inch lengths until tender, season well with a white sauce and place in the center of a deep platter. Around this serve oysters wrapped in bacon and cooked until the bacon is crisp. When oysters are not to be had, serve veal birds in the same way.

BAPTISTS REPORT $35,000,000 CASH

CAMPAIGN HAS MADE POSSIBLE VAST ENLARGEMENT OF EVERY PHASE OF GENERAL WORK

GAIN 500,000 NEW MEMBERS

Effort Will Be Made to Enlist These and All Other Baptists in Share in Forward Movement During November

Total cash collections on the Baptist 75 Million Campaign up to May 1, 1922, had reached the sum of $35,152,211.69, according to the general Campaign headquarters. This represents an advance of nearly $20,000,000 over what Southern Baptists did for their general missionary, educational and benevolent work for the three years preceding the Campaign.

The contribution of larger gifts to religious work has been accompanied by larger spiritual results in the local churches, it is pointed out. For instance, Southern Baptists baptized 150,000 more converts during the first three years of the Campaign than they did in the three years before, gained 3,000 new Sunday schools and 400,000 new pupils, enhanced the value of their local church property by $32,000,000, enlarged their contributions to local causes by $22,390,000, and increased their contributions to all causes by $45,480,490.

Baptist Institutions Grow
Some other phases of denominational progress made possible by the Campaign include increasing the number of Baptist hospitals in the South from 12 to 19, with three others under construction and four more definitely planned; strengthening of 17 Baptist orphanages and the establishment of two new ones, lifting $3,000,000 indebtedness on 119 Baptist schools, colleges and seminaries, completion and projection of permanent improvements there in the sum of $4,000,000, and the addition of substantial sums to the endowment funds. Over 2,500 ministerial students are enrolled at Southern Baptist schools.

Church Loan Fund Raised
Among the outstanding accomplishments in the work of the Home Mission Board are the aiding of 1,000 churches in building new houses of worship, the completion of the million-dollar Church Building Loan Fund, strengthening the work among the foreigners and Indians and the 38 Mountain mission schools. The Board has employed an average of 1,495 workers during the Campaign and reports for that period 134,833 baptisms, 218,371 additions to churches, 2,376 Sunday schools and 759 churches organized, and 3,402 houses of worship built or repaired.

On the foreign field the equipment for mission work has been practically doubled, more than 250 new foreign missionaries have been sent out, more than 400 new native workers have been employed, and the Board has entered the new fields of Spain, Jugoslavia, Hungary, Roumania, Southern Russia, Palestine and Siberia. The Board reports for the period of the Campaign 117 new churches on the foreign field, 21,723 baptisms, 211 new Sunday schools, gain of 17,578 pupils, native contributions of $1,903,390.63, and $29,642 treatments administered by medical missionaries.

Another result of the Campaign is that the Relief and Annulment Board, which is seeking to care for the aged dependent ministers and their families, has been enabled to double the number of such persons helped and the amount that is given these beneficiaries. Last year the Board was able to dispense $128,266 among needy ministers. It has invested assets of $1,149,088.

Receive 500,000 New Members
More than 500,000 new members have been received into the local Baptist churches of the South since the Campaign began, and in the hope of enlisting all these in the Campaign, as well as reaching the older members of the churches who have not shared in the forward movement heretofore, the month of November 5-December 3 has been designated as Re-enforcement Month by the Campaign Conservation Commission. During this month it is planned that every Baptist church in the South will call upon all its members who are not already participating in the Campaign and secure subscriptions from them covering the two remaining years of the movement, and cash offerings to the Campaign from all the members. Dr. L. R. Scarborough, of Fort Worth, Texas, who was general director of the original Campaign, has been elected to serve in that capacity for the Re-enforcement program, although the details are being worked out in the various states under the leadership of the secretaries of the state mission boards. It is hoped to secure several million dollars in additional subscriptions and several millions in cash as well by December 1.

THE heavy twelve gauge Keystone "copper-bearing" steel used in the Clark Grave Vault is the most perfect rust-proof steel or iron known. The protection is absolute, because the Clark Grave Vault is built on the "diving bell" principle, the only scientific way of sealing a vault water-tight and air-tight. It is guaranteed for fifty years and will undoubtedly last for centuries. (Stone, brick and concrete vaults allow water to seep in and hold it.)

The supplying of the Clark Grave Vault is typical of the conscientious service rendered to the public.
