CHICAGO LYCEUM PLAYERS TO BE HERE
 IN 3-ACT COMEDY, "SARAH SIDESTEPS"
 Very Popular Number on Local Lyceum Courses—Musical Program Included—Packed House Expected.

CHICAGO LYCEUM PLAYERS.

The Chicago Lyceum Players are an all-star group of professional dramatic entertainers and musicians. They will be seen here soon on the Lyceum course in the popular farce-comedy, "Sarah Sidesteps."
 "Sarah Sidesteps" is one of the cleanest and best comedies of recent years. It is especially adapted to lyceum conditions. The plot is so full of amusing situations and surprises that it is one gale of merriment from first to last. Sarah is the young, irrepressible daughter of an absent-minded professor, and is being reared by her aunt, a prim society lady. Sarah keeps the household in an uproar with her scatterbrained ways and her amazing genius for doing the wrong thing. Musical numbers are introduced by way of variety.

are covered with stringy grimy soot hanging down like great tropical formations. Furniture, draperies, library, pictures, rugs, cushions, clothing, bedding, in fact everything in the beautifully appointed home is blacked and ruined.
 Mr. Taylor said he would have deplored the loss of home by fire, but this is far worse. As yet Mr. Taylor has not discovered what can be salvaged, but in any event, his home is ruined until he practically refurnishes and rebuilds. The entire house must be redecorated to again become habitable and every crack and crevice cleaned of the soot which has accumulated.
 Mr. Taylor immediately opened up the house, upon arriving, and as soon as possible entered the basement to shut off the burner. This was a very dangerous undertaking and he was fortunate in not becoming asphyxiated owing to the dense gas fumes.
 Mrs. Taylor was away spending the Christmas holidays or she would have made the discovery at the very start.
 The many friends of the genial Senator and his estimable wife are extending their sympathies and doing all possible to help them reestablish their home.

METHODIST CHURCH NOTES

What do you say, let's go to church the last Sunday and the last of this grand old year? If you are not going to any other church services we would be mighty glad to have you at the Methodist church.

Sunday school at 9:45; Epworth League at 6:30; Morning worship at 11, text, "Where art thou?" Evening worship at 7:30, subject, "A new resolution." The church with a welcome.
 O. L. HUNT, Pastor.

Chas. Parks and son of Kansas City came Tuesday to visit Mr. Parks' two brothers.

M. W. Heuchan was called to St. Louis this week by the serious illness of his father.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Carlstead returned the first of the week from a visit at Cario, Mo.

Mrs. R. D. Jay is enjoying a two weeks visit from her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Greene of Wilmington, Ohio.

The merchants of Keytesville are sanguine over the results of the Christmas trade this year, many expressing themselves that business was far better than that of a year ago.

The Courier is omitting several stories in this week's issue that might make interesting reading to some, but we do not care to litter up the columns of the paper with the sordid details. We merely mention this that the parties involved will not imagine they have "slipped" something over on the reporter. One of these days murder will follow as a result of the activities of the manufacturers and sale of moonshine. In the meanwhile the Courier man manages to keep pretty well posted and hereby serves notice that everyone who wants to can proceed to drink themselves to death just as fast as they please—it's perfectly O. K. with us. However, we shall attempt to keep the Courier clean of the details which, while news, does not make a paper the kind many folks like to read in the home. We want to look on the bright side.

The Friendly Path

HAVING FRIENDS

Be bright and jovial among your guests, Shakespeare.

AT THIS season visiting around is a popular diversion. And it is well. Most of the pleasure in life comes through associations of one kind or another. Without real friends to greet or to welcome one, no person could find much enjoyment in life. But it is essential that our guests be the proper kind and that those whom we visit welcome us because they like us and not because an ulterior motive is back of the hand they proffer us.

Unless those we would welcome to our hospitality are those we can welcome to our respect and esteem, if not our friendship, it is far better that the latchstring be not left out for them. We cannot be false in our greeting without feeling a keen resentment against ourselves.

And the same rule applies when we go visiting. For our own happiness and self-respect it is far better never to visit with people at all than to realize the welcome given us is hypocritical.

Someone has said: "First day, a guest; the second, a burden; the third, a pest." Do those you invite to enjoy the hospitality of your own roof come under this category; or do you fit in to it when you accept the invitation of so-called friends? It is well carefully to consider this question before trying to be one of the jovial throng in your home or elsewhere. There must be sincerity or false greetings are certain to find one out.

Just as one's sins will find him out, will false friends deceive him and will his own hypocrisy lead him to a sorry route.

THE NEWS

Mrs. Christine Henneberg of Brunswick came Wednesday for a visit with her daughter, Mrs. L. Owens.

Mrs. Jno. D. Taylor returned from her Christmas visit in Brookfield, Tuesday evening. She was terribly shocked upon learning of the terrible state of affairs in her home. Mr. and Mrs. Taylor have not yet made arrangements in connection with the salvaging of the contents of their household effects.

A TALK WITH A KEYTESVILLE MAN.

Allen Michael, Farmer, of Keytesville, Tells His Experience.

There is nothing like a talk with one of our own citizens for giving hope and encouragement to the anxious sufferer from the dread kidney disease. We, therefore, give here an interview with a Keytesville man:

"I had a bad attack of kidney trouble which came on through being exposed to damp weather," says Mr. Michael. "My back was lame and sore and everytime I moved a sharp pain shot through me. When I stooped to lift anything, my back caused me a lot of trouble. I was often dizzy and my sight was blurred by black specks floating before my eyes. The kidney secretions were scanty and highly colored and too frequent in action. I read how Don's Kidney Pills were helping others, so I started using them. A few boxes entirely cured me."

The sympathy of the people of Keytesville is extended to Mrs. Hugo Bartz, upon hearing of the death of her mother, Mrs. Allen of Kansas City. The funeral was held at Fulton, Mo., Thursday, Mr. Bartz left Wednesday to attend the funeral.

Rev. R. E. Graham presiding. The church was filled to overflowing and the remains were taken to Elliott Grove Cemetery at Brunswick.

Besides the members of her own home, she leaves a brother, Harry Warren of Dalton, father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Warren of Kansas City; a sister, Mrs. Anna Minton, of Zeigler, Ill.

Mrs. Julia Neidholdt, nee Julia Warren, was born in the immediate vicinity in which she lived here Feb. 20, 1881. Her parents, after moved into the home occupied by Oswald Stomach, home she was married to the same house she was to die.

Mrs. Neidholdt was universally loved by her, a kind, sacrificing mother whose chief aim was to provide a christian home for her children, to bring them up respecting the good in all things.

The sincere sympathy of the community is extended to the bereaved ones.
