The State Relief, or Millsaps, Committee has decided to invest the balance of the State donation of $65,000 in freights, so that the drought sufferers can secure corn at Western prices on which to feed their stock and bread themselves to make another crop.

An exception will be made in the case of Winn and Grant, where their portion of said fund will be invested in purchase of corn to be given to their sufferers.

The action of the State Committee is an indorsement of the plan of relief adopted by the Freeman committee in this parish, and is by far the most effective method except in cases of the most extreme destitution which must and will be provided for by private charity.

Mr. Freeman has ordered up to date 40 car loads of corn, about 24,000 bushels. He has received bills of lading on one or two of the first orders, and hopes to have some of the corn in for distribution in about a week.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 24, 1897.

Hon. H. L. Brian, Chairman State Central Committee:

All the rest of the six congressional districts having been heard from by "freight," I wish to answer for one of the many congressional districts that fail to respond to the Populist roll call when the smoke of the battle has cleared away.

It may be a clue by which the missing millions of honest voters can be saved.

The Weaver campaign was a dose of Republican fusion that nearly killed the People's party in the Second district.

All that could be done in my power, and that of a few others to resuscitate the patient, culminated in a Labor movement in '94.

With renewed effort in the State campaign, we were again disconcerted and demoralized by Republican fusion on a plan that intended the booming of the Populist ticket in North Louisiana, and the Republican ticket in South Louisiana, to that extent that with all the promises, there was not one Populist ticket to be had in this district, except at this single poll.

A final rally was made on Debs, or some other equally as good Populist. Then the St. Louis convention disgusted us all.

To save the wreck we run out two nomination papers for lists of names. I personally secured ninety-one in a week, and with fifteen on the other, the required one hundred, the registration officer politely sat down on it. "The insurgents again repulsed."

Very Respectfully,
BEN H. PEABODY,
Chairman Second Congressional District Committee.

A Good Man.

Gen. Wm. J. Behan of Iberville, was in our city Tuesday, attending the meeting of stockholders and officers of the N. and R. R. V. Railway, in which he is a large stockholder and Vice President of the company.

Gen. Behan has other large property interests in our parish, and is well and favorably known to many of our people.

Anent his visit here, we notice in a number of papers the strong advocacy of his appointment to the important position of Collector of Customs at New Orleans, by the incoming administration.

Because of his business identification with this parish and city, because of his wide experience in filling offices of great honor and trust, because of his personal worth and geniality, and because of his original and unswerving friendship for and support of McKinley for President, we would be highly pleased with his appointment, and believe it would redound to the advantage and honor alike of the State and the McKinley administration.

While we are not a Republican, we have been with them in a State fight, which was one of the hardest fought, most honorably conducted and most fairly won of any campaign ever waged in Louisiana. In this fight, Gen. Behan was one of the foremost leaders, remaining at the front until the crowning act of infamy was perpetrated at Baton Rouge last Spring, while other so-called Republicans, who now aspire to the same position as the General, were buried in oblivion and inactivity in New Orleans. But the man who beats Gen. Behan will "get up before day," and we wish him a long continuance his useful and honorable life.

Among the recent visitors to the city was Judge J. E. Breda of Natchitoches. Judge Breda is a gentleman who commands the respect of all who have the pleasure of his acquaintance. Of strict principles, great bravery and untiring energy, he is a valuable citizen. Judge Breda was accompanied by his two young sons. The three left for home yesterday.—Daily Item.

Rheumatism Cured.
Mr. W. E. Shepherd, of the dry goods house of Davison, Lowe & Shepherd, Athens, Ga., says of Royal Germetuer:
"For four long months I was flat on my back, unable to move a single limb of my body without assistance. Nothing gave me relief. I had given up all hopes of recovery until the great remedy was given me. The first week I began to improve, and in less than thirty ways was on my feet attending to my duties. I am now able to work twelve hours out of every twenty-four, and sell as many dry goods as any man in Georgia." d18.

I am applying for a pardon.
