CAIRO BULLETIN.

AH MAUN TRIUMPHANT.

THE CELESTIALS IN ARKANSAS—TWENTY ACRES IN COTTON—TWENTY ACRES IN CORN.

(From the Memphis Appeal.)

Two years ago a number of Chinese arrived at our wharves were objects of great curiosity. They were, especially, gazed at them with wondering eyes, exclaiming: "Dem niggers, an mighty small sort; dey looks as ef swamp fever was bad whar dem folks come from." Some of these men settled near here, and among them a small colony found homes and cotton-picking in the neighborhood of Marion, Arkansas some nine or ten miles from this city. Among them were Ah Maun, who proved to be a Chinese of education, gathered up some knowledge of English rapidly, became popular, and was called by the country people John Ormond. He set to work at once. The first day his cotton picking amounted to twenty-two pounds. The negroes laughed at the small specimen with a pig-tail under his hat. In one year not a negro on the plantation could bring as much cotton to the gin-house as Ah Maun. Ah Maun took his triumph quietly, and kept his popularity. Last spring he and six of the fellow-countrymen rented a piece of ground near Marion. Twenty acres they put in corn, and forty in cotton. Seven times was the ground plowed over, until it was in complete order for a crop. Every bit of grass was obliterated, every weed exterminated, every fence corner made clean. The five men and appointed Ah Maun "boss," and Ah Maun allowed no slovenly ways. Early morn and dewy eve saw the six Chinese at their tasks; patient, plodding, unwearied industry that never lapsed, never intermitted, brought a crop of corn and another of cotton that are the admiration of Crittenden county. It is visited and gazed at as a wonder of skill, industry, and success. Another wonder was that Ah Maun and his men not only knew no such word as fail, but they knew no such English as "sick," well they were and well they remain through heat and cold, and swamp fogs and chilly mornings. When picking time came Ah Maun hired four more celestial compatriots, and all year the ten are said to have lived on rats. On Thursday they sent two bales for inspection to the city. It was received by Messrs. Keel & Co., and Mr. Keel says two better bales of well-grown, clearly picked cotton he has not seen this year. Ah Maun's energy and skill, and that of his hard-working companions is admired, and we hear it said that if the group choose to break up next spring, taking new farms and joining with them new hands, they will be liberally aided, and such money and supplies as may be necessary will not be withheld. Ah Maun is triumphant, the white folks regard him as a prodigy, but the negroes are not sure that there is not a little of the devil in him.

UNFADING LOVELINESS belongs only to the immortals, but who- ever uses the fragrant Scapolin can at least defy time to injure one of the elements of beauty, a good set of teeth.

AN ESSENTIAL OF LOVELINESS.
To the entirely beautiful the hair should be abundant and lustrous. This is absolutely essential to complete loveliness. The most regular features, the most brilliant complexion and pearl-like teeth fact their due effect if the hair be thin, dry, or harsh. On the contrary the plainest face, if it be surrounded by luxuriant and silken tresses, is apt to impress the beholder with a sense of actual beauty. That crowning ornament of her sex is, happily, within the reach of lovely woman, and being as discriminating as the lovely, she long ago discovered that Lyon's Kathairin was the sure means of securing it. No preparation for the Hair ever enjoyed a title of its popularity, and no wonder, since it produces such gratifying results. Applied to the waste and barren places of the scalp, it fructifies and enriches them with a new and simple growth. It is not, of course, pretended that it will do this if the capacity for reproduction is extinct, but so long as it remains that wonderful rehabilitant will assuredly propagate the germ of the hair into life and activity.

LOUIS BLATRAU, whom everybody knows, and who is the friend of every-body, is now fully installed in his new quarters, on Eighth street, between Commercial and Washington avenues. He offers to the public the best St. Louis hair the choicest brands of wine and the purest liquors to be found in the city, and hopes that these, civil treatment and a cordial reception, will insure to him a generous share of public patronage. Come and see Louis in his new home. He has a welcome for everybody, and for you, reader, a cordial one.
