GENERAL LEE'S BIRTH-DAY IS CELEBRATED.

Daughters of the Confederacy Give Silver Tea and Reception.

In honor of the birthday anniversary of General Robert E. Lee, the South's greatest hero, the Dickinson chapter, Daughters of the Confederacy, gave a reception and silver tea at the hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon S. Scott, on Fort King avenue Friday afternoon and evening.

In the afternoon Mrs. Scott was assisted in receiving and entertaining by Mrs. Charles Rheinauer, Mrs. E. P. Moody, Mrs. W. S. Bullock, Mrs. E. L. Carney, Mrs. Fannie R. Gary and quite a number of the other members of the chapter.

The entire lower floor of this beautiful home was thrown open to the guests and all during the afternoon and evening large numbers were present. Mrs. Scott is a very happy hostess and her assistants were very affable, cordial and charming. The dining room was very beautifully decorated in red and white bunting, bamboo and on the mantel were quantities of red roses. On the serving table was a vase of beautiful red carnations, and Mrs. Herndon, of Washington, D. C., and Mrs. Reddick, of Chester, S. C. poured the chocolate and coffee and the following little girls passed the refreshments to the visitors: Nellie Gottlieb, Irma Blake, Lauragene and Florence Dozier, Lucy Moorehead, Sara Davis and Elizabeth Newsom.

During the afternoon a musical and literary program was rendered which was very enjoyable. Mrs. Handley and her music class played a number of selections on the piano and violins. Her violin class includes Miss Lillie Bailey, George MacKay and Charlie Fishel and they all play excellently well as do also her piano pupils, Daisy, Arthur and Cecil Handley.

Mrs. Sanders, Miss Sara Davis and Miss Elizabeth Newsom played piano selections and Mrs. E. H. Mote, one of Jacksonville's most talented and prominent musicians, who is the guest of her sister, Mrs. William Hocker, sang two exquisite little songs.

Mrs. Gary, the beloved president of the Dickinson chapter read a poem entitled "The Origin of the U. D. C." This poem was written by a Kentucky lady but was slightly changed by Mrs. Gary to suit the present day.

"After Appomattox" was splendidly read by Mrs. J. H. Livingston, Sr.

A handsome picture of General Lee occupied an important place in the dining room. This picture was presented to the Daughters by Mrs. Frank A. Teague and is a gift of which they are all very proud and which they greatly appreciate.

This pleasant reception was continued in the evening and from the beginning to the close it was a very delightful event.

In the evening Mrs. Scott was assisted in receiving at the door by Mrs. Gary and Mrs. Rheinauer while in the other rooms Mrs. W. K. Zewadski, Mrs. Albert Gerig, Mrs. N. I. Gottlieb, Mrs. Frank Harris, Mrs. C. R. Tydings, and Mrs. D. E. McIver received and entertained the ladies and gentlemen.

Mrs. W. H. Powers and Mrs. E. T. Helvenston, two of the season's popular brides, occupied the seats of honor at the table and assisting them in serving were a coterie of charming young ladies.

The special feature in the evening was the bagpipe music and the Scotch song and dances by Mr. Peter McIntosh and his talented young sons.

The Daughters' reception was a most memorable and delightful event in every way. A large silver offering was received and will be added to the fund for the Confederate monument that the Daughters hope at an early date to erect in Ocala.

The Meeting of the Rebekahs.

On Thursday evening of last week the Ocala lodge of Rebekahs held a very enjoyable meeting, at which time the officers for the coming year were installed. The officers are as follows: Mrs. C. L. Bittenger, N. G.; Mrs. Sanders, V. G.; Mrs. T. J. Owen, Secretary, Mrs. Jake Brown, treasurer.

Mrs. Clara Alberty, of Hutsonville, Illinois, who is visiting relatives in this city, is an enthusiastic Rebekah. She was introduced to the Ocala lodge and made them a most pleasing and felicitous speech. Her talk was thoroughly enjoyed and she was extended a rising vote of thanks.

Capt. Inglis Presented with a Silver Service.

Most of the readers of this paper are aware that Captain John L. Inglis, president of the Dunnellon Phosphate Company and president of the Port Inglis Terminal company, is building a city at Port Inglis, at the mouth of the Withlacoochee river on the Gulf of Mexico, which is destined to play a conspicuous part in the future history of Florida. It, perhaps, has been observed from an article printed in this paper a few days ago that the shipments of phosphate from the harbor at Port Inglis are larger than from any other point in the United States.

The company of which Capt. Inglis is at the head has just completed the largest chemical works in the south.

In addition to his other enterprises Capt. Inglis has recently had constructed at Boston a beautiful $30,000 yacht, which has just arrived at Port Inglis.

Capt. Inglis was in Ocala Friday and his friends here took the occasion to present him with an elegant five piece silver service, gold lined and with his name on every piece for his new yacht, the "Tuna." The presentation was entirely informal and took place in the office of Mr. D. W. Davis.

In presenting this beautiful service, Mr. Davis said: "Capt. Inglis: Several of your sincere friends thought on the arrival of your beautiful yacht, the 'Tuna,' at its point of destination a fitting opportunity to show their appreciation of a loyal and true friend, as they know you to be, and trust that you will accept this service as a slight token of their true friendship. May its acceptance give you as much pleasure, as they enjoy in its presentation."

With the service was a card containing the following words:

"Presented to John L. Inglis, who is held in sincere appreciation, for his loyalty to his friends, by those who know him best."

The following gentlemen, all staunch and loyal friends of Captain Inglis were the donors of this magnificent gift.

Otis T. Green, Louis R. Chazal, George MacKay, George Dittmer, James L. Wyche, A. G. Bigelow, D. W. Davis, Harry B. Clarkson, Don E. McIver, Robert A. Alfred, Edward Holder, Charles G. J. Tullis.

In accepting the service Capt. Inglis was so overcome that he could hardly find words to express his great appreciation and gratification. It was an occasion in which actions spoke louder than words and the Captain's visible effectation showed that no comment was necessary to express his feelings.

Capt. Inglis, though a native of Scotland, has been a citizen of Florida for more than fifty years and was an important business factor in the cities of St. Marks and Newport on the gulf of Mexico, now almost unknown to the present generation. He became such an enthusiastic lover of the south that, although not compulsory on his part (as he was a foreign subject), he shouldered a musket and gave valuable aid to the Confederacy during the whole course of the civil war. He is a grandly, lovable man and makes strong friends of all with whom he comes in contact, and on no occasion of his life was he more overcome or showed stronger appreciation than when this token of affection was presented to him.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark Return Home.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Howard Clark, who were married at Mexia, Texas, on the evening of January the eleventh, arrived in Ocala Friday afternoon over the Atlantic Coast Line.

A telegram received an hour or so before the train came in announced that they would arrive so a crowd of the young ladies and gentlemen assembled at the depot to meet and greet the bride and groom. As they stepped from the train they were simply deluged with rice and for a while it looked as though a snow and hail storm had struck the station.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark bore this trying ordeal with the utmost composure and good nature.

Mrs. Clark, who was Miss Lillian Bonner, is quite a charming young woman and was very attractive in her travelling suit of green, with which she wore a green silk blouse, green hat and gloves and she is being warmly welcomed to Ocala by the many friends of her husband, who is one of our most popular young business men.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark are staying for the present with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Clark, where they are at home to their friends.

SUIT STILL ON TRIAL.

Testimony Continues in Case of Mrs. Hooper vs Coast Line.

In circuit court, the suit of Mrs. Ella F. Hooper vs the Atlantic Coast Line, continues to be the case occupying the attention of Judge Wall. Yesterday a number of witnesses were examined. Today others will testify.

In the afternoon or early evening, it is thought, opposing counsel will present arguments. Mrs. Hooper is suing for $12,000.—Tampa Tribune.

Mrs. Hooper is a citizen of Ocala and is the wife of Mr. J. S. Hooper.

Miss Emily Ford Gives Dinner Party.

From Friday's Daily.

Last night Miss Emily Ford was the hostess at a very delightful dinner party, which she gave in honor of her brother, Mr. George Ford, who leaves next week for Alabama, and Miss Millie Nurney, of Suffolk, Va., who is visiting her sister, Mrs. Jack Camp in this city.

The table was beautiful in its appointments of cut glass and silver and scattered over the snowy white cloth were sprays of lovely ferns. In the center of the table was a beautifully embroidered red rose piece on which was placed a large bowl of red roses. Seated at the table besides the hostess and the guests of honor, were Mrs. Ford, Miss Stotesbury, Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Woodrow, Messrs. G. H. Harrison, Donall Ford, John Taylor, W. D. Taylor, J. H. Workman, Stephen Jewett, O. B. Howse, Misses Leafy Jewster, Sarah McCreery, Meta Jewett, Sara Harris, Hattie Dye and Esther Weathers.

The place cards were booklets in which were a group of original questions, the answers to all of them being names of the guests present. They were correctly answered by all and in drawing for the prizes they were won by Miss Nurney and Miss Jewett.

After the dinner, an auction sale of the "effects of Mr. George Ford," created lots of fun and enjoyment. The guests were provided with bags of money. Mr. Woodrow acted as auctioneer and Mr. Jewett as cashier and for an hour the bidding was very spirited and enjoyable.

After the auction Miss Nurney, who possesses a voice of rare sweetness sang several songs, thus adding a musical charm to an occasion that was altogether delightful.

Pleasant Dance at the Armory.

The first of the regular Friday night dances that will be given by the young gentlemen of the society crowd—took place last week and was a very pleasant one.

Music for the dancing was furnished by Miss Annie Mathews, Messrs. Hoffman and Frank Mathews and a program dance of sixteen numbers was enjoyed. The weather was more like June than January nights but in spite of the heat the young people had a very jolly time.

Those present were Misses Sue Barco, Mattie and Carrie Williams, Annie Davis, Valeta Potter, Sara Harris, Emily Ford, Grace Hatchell, Pauline Sullivan, Millie Nurney, Mary Anderson, Ethel Robinson and Annie Atkinson. Messrs. C. H. Lloyd, Harvey Clark, A. J. McLaughlin, Stephen Jewett, O. B. Howse, T. H. Harris, Osca and Guy Zewadski, J. H. Taylor, W. D. Taylor, James Taylor, Hampton Chambers, John Pelot, E. J. Crook, J. H. Workman and John Sullivan.

K. of P. Flourishing.

The Dunnellon lodge Knights of Pythias is in a flourishing condition and is doing good work.

At the regular meeting, Wednesday night, Messrs. Clarence Chitty and John Perry were initiated to the first degree. Mr. Snow was given second, and Messrs. Hill and Bryan were given the third.

The lodge is endeavoring to secure a suitable lot on which to erect a building of their own.—Dunnellon Advocate.

A Grim Tragedy.

It is daily enacted, in thousands of homes, as Death claims, in each one, another victim of Consumption or Pneumonia. But when Coughs and Colds are properly treated, the tragedy is averted. F. G. Hoffman, of Oakland, Ind., writes: "My wife had the consumption, and three doctors gave her up. Finally she took Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, which cured her, and today she is well and strong." It kills the germs of all diseases. One dose relieves. Guaranteed at 50c and $1.00 by Tydings & Co., druggists. Trial bottle free.

The Marion Farms Buys the J. R. Martin Stables.

The Marion Farms, under the direction of Mr. Samuel A. Rawls, is branching out in all directions, which is evidence that it is making a success.

The Marion Farms, it will be remembered, is the lessee of the state convicts and many of the county convicts and is doing a big business in naval stores as well as farming.

Monday it branched out in still another direction by purchasing the large and growing livery business of J. R. Martin and company, buying the real estate and personal property as well as the business.

Mr. Martin will have charge of both the stables and the stock department of the farms.

The farms proper will be run principally for the purpose of raising improved stock, cattle, horses and swine and to grow feed stuffs for the use of the same and for the use of the stables.

It is expected that the Marion Farms will develop into a great industry and will become as noted as the famous stock farms of Lexington, Ky.

Friday was a statutory legal holiday in Florida and was observed by all the banking institutions in the state. Mr. W. Albert Redding, cashier and secretary of the Florida Bank & Trust company of Jacksonville took that occasion to run down to Ocala for a brief visit to his mother and to greet his many other friends in this, his old home. Capt. C. E. Garner, president of the Jacksonville board of trade and one of the most popular men in Florida is now president of the Florida Bank and Trust Company, of which Mr. Redding is the cashier and secretary. Its first annual statement shows individual deposits of $1,275,272.22. The friends of Mr. Redding in this city and county are glad to know that he is so intimately connected with such a splendid financial concern.
