When the Chicago and Alton limited passed about 10 a. m., displaying flags on the rear indicating that a special was following, the word was spread and a dense crowd of miners lined the station platform, while another crowd collected at the entrance of the stockade, a half mile north of the station. D. B. Kiley, a Chicago and Alton detective, stood guard at the switch at the north end of the station platform to see it was not tampered with. At 12:40 p. m. the train appeared at the north end and shots were fired from the south end announcing the special s arrival. Immediately shots were fired from the train and the battle was on. The negroes kept up a steady fire and the carnage of battle reigned. The miners and the train were enveloped in a cloud of smoke and the shooting sounded like a continuous volley. Engineer Burt Tigar received a bullet in his arm and dropped from his seat. His fireman seized the throttle, pulled it open, and with a jerk the train was under full speed, carrying the load of wounded negroes to Springfield. The tra'n stopped at the stockade only two minutes. Its departure did not cause the firing to cease. The tower of the stockade was filled with sharpshooters, armed with Winchesters, and they dead miners were killed after the train the cost of the Cuban and Philippine had deprated. BLAMES COAL COMPANY.

Governor Tanner's Statement Regarding the Virden Riot. SPRINGFIELD, Ills., Oct. 13.-In an interview with Governor Tanner regarding the Virden riot he said: Mr. T. C. Louck, president, and Mr. Lulkens, superintendent, of the Virden Coal company have made good their threats to land a trainload of imported laborers from the South and attempted to put them to work in their mines at the point of the bayonet and the muzzle of the Winchesters, such laborers being drawn largely, if not entirely, from the criminal class, ex-convicts who learned their trade while doing terms in the penitentiaries of Alabama, after having been fully advised and having full knowledge that the landing of such imported laborers would precipitate a riot. I had wired that if they brought these imported labor ers they did so at their own perll and under the circumstances would be morally responsible and criminally liable for anything that might happen.

THE MANAGER'S OPINION.

Governor Tanner Held Responsible by Mining Company Officials. VIRDEN, Ills., Oct. 13.—Manager Luikens of the Virden-Chicago Coal company in an interview says:

"The blood of these men lies on the head of the governor. He is without justification whatever. He should have sent troops. If these troops had arrived before the special train there would have been no bloodshed. Most of the men affect to believe that they are right to do as the governor said."
