Varied Mental Diet.
Monotony of thought is the destruction of the brain. Watch yourself and give your mind a varied diet. Force yourself to put away all thoughts of your life work for a few hours every day, and for a few weeks every year. Learn to be frivolous if you are engaged in serious work, and learn to be serious if your work is of a humorous or light character. The brain, like the body, needs more than one kind of food to keep in health.

Pen Point Material.
Iridium is a hard, brittle, silver-white metallic element belonging to the platinum group, discovered by Tennant in 1803. Sometimes found native and nearly pure, but generally combined with osmium. It is, with the exception of osmium, the heaviest metal known, and is used for pen points, contact points in telegraphy and points of scientific instruments liable to wear. Its specific gravity is 22.4.

May She Waken Him.
Maj. Young went to sleep Sunday in church just before the hat was passed. He dozed for awhile in a lady-like manner, but suddenly let out a link that sounded like a trombone solo. At that point in the program his wife jabbed him one in the ribs with her elbow which awakened him sufficiently to remark: "Get up and build the fire yourself."—Riverton (Wyo.) News.

Court Dress of Laureate.
Tennyson's court dress, when he received the laureateship, did not cost him much, for it was the same court dress worn by Wordsworth, who in turn had it from the old poet Rogers, and it is still in the Wordsworth family. It is a wonder how Tennyson and Wordsworth got into it, for Rogers was a little fellow. Tennyson had no passion for courts, and so he went in second-hand to save cost.

Pneumonia Most Fatal Disease.
Health Commissioner Ritchie, of Boston, declares that pneumonia is now the most fatal disease in his jurisdiction. According to the present figures of the board of health, pneumonia comes first, heart disease second and tuberculosis, which was first in 1900, third.

To Keep Lemons.
Lemons may be kept a long time, even months, under glass. If you are not going to use them immediately lay them on a flat surface and invert a goblet over each one. After six months' imprisonment in this way they will be found to be fresh.—Woman's Life.

Bad Taste.
We have quit objecting to anything on the ground that it is wrong. When we wish to be particularly unpleasant we say in a sneering way that a certain action or thing is in very bad taste.—N. Y. Press.

Poisoning by Inhaling chloroform or ether may be treated as for suffocation and artificial respiration should be induced. The great thing in all cases of poisoning is to get rid of the poison by purging or vomiting.

The Rare Gift of Courtesy.
Courtesy includes not merely social kindness, graces of speech, absence of rudeness, but honorable treatment of all business associates, and of all the fellow citizens with whom a man of affairs may have business to transact. It is not American to keep one citizen waiting all day at the door because he is poor, and to grant another citizen an interview because it is believed he is rich. Wisdom is not confined in a purse, and frequently much wisdom may be learned from a poor man.

The Wisdom of the Serpent.
The serpent tempted the woman not because she was the weaker, but because she was the leader; not because of her subordination, but on account of her superiority. She was the stronghold of the fortress, and to win her was to win all. She held the key to the situation. She was the keeper of the castle. Where she led for good or evil the man would follow!—From a Sermon by Rev. Mr. Kerr of Chicago.

Thirst for Novelties.
The curse of modern life—the thirst for the new, the rage to get out of the old skin—is the blight on our literature, our art, our drama, our manners—even our morals. It is passion without aim, or conviction, or feeling—a mere restless itch to get free from old habits and to get into something uncommon, it hardly matters what, if only it can announce itself as "unconventional."

Spot for Lady Godiva.
"Talk about vanity!" exclaimed the woman who keeps her eyes open. "I passed a big new building the other day—big enough to be a school or a theater—and what do you suppose it was to be devoted to? Hair—hair! Puffs and braids and swirls and switches and curls and rats and things for women to pin on their heads and make believe belong to them. A building full of hair!"

Eating Oranges on Trains.
If you take the children on the train and wish to feed them oranges, which tend to quench the thirst, prepare the fruit at home and wrap the sections in waxed paper. It is tedious to pare them on the train, and one is liable to soil the clothes in doing so.

To Add Interest.
A little boy was killed on a viaduct in a certain Texas city. A father was trying to describe him to his little son. The child tried to recall the dead child, and, failing, said sorrowfully to his parent, "I wish it had been Patty O'Hagan—I know him."—Delineator.

Life and Strife.
The law of the worthy life is fundamentally the law of strife. It is only through labor and painful effort, by grim energy and resolute courage, that we move on to better things.—Theodore Roosevelt.

Russian Mendacity.
Russian ethnologist concludes that "the highest type of humanity in the new world existed in northwestern America." No consolation in this for New England.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

"Listen at Him."
"Father's trip abroad did him so much good," said the self-made man's daughter. "He looks better, feels better, and as for appetite—honestly, it would do your heart good to hear him eat!"—Everybody's.

Uplift for Farmer's Daughter.
Writing names and addresses on eggs is a great pastime with country girls and just now is leading to many marriages in rich families.—Buffalo

The Diplomat.
"And, oh, mother," said the little girl, "Lucy Jones had such an awful hat on. So Annie gave her an 'int'; she said, 'I wouldn't wear a thing like that.'"—Manchester Guardian.

The Two Classes.
All the people are divided into two parts—those who wait for the mid-season bargain sales and those who can afford not to.—Life.

A Great Truth.
"Lots of men smoke the cigars their wives give them for Christmas," says the Philosopher of Folly, "and then laugh at the men who wear rubbers."

Gives It Another Aspect.
Enthusiasm often dwindles considerably when we try to convert it into hard cash.

A Way to Success.
You will succeed in life if you resist doing things you know you shouldn't do.—Atchinson Globe.

Love.
Love is the art of hearts and the heart of arts.—From "Festus," by Phillip James Bailey.

Law of Compensation.
That which we acquire with most difficulty we retain the longest.—Colton.

Easy Information.
If you would know just what people say of you behind your back, listen to what they say of others.

The real meaning of tact is thinking about others. It means considering what others will think and feel, instead of considering only what we ourselves think and feel.—Home Chat.

Still to Be Determined.
The dealer was busy filling bottles from a hoghead of wine. "What kind of wine is that?" queried an innocent bystander. "Don't know," answered the dealer. "I haven't labeled it yet."

Unsanitary Headress.
In eighteenth century England the fashionable woman's headress often had to be left untouched for weeks at a time.

Seems a Law of Nature.
Pauperism, destitution, ought to become extinct; but the poor, the wretched, the bereaved, the mutilated, we shall always have.

Self-Made.
A large majority of the good and respectable women in this world have succeeded in being so without the assistance of chaperons.

Guests Carved for Themselves.
It was the custom in medieval times to serve roast meat on a spit, and to pass it round the table for each guest to cut off what he liked.

Compulsory Reading.
Some of the ministers are asking again why the church attendance is small. Perhaps it is because the Sunday papers are so large.

Italian Method of Taxation.
Italy levies a graduated income tax as well as a direct tax on land and houses. Small incomes are exempt from taxation.

The Philosopher of Folly.
"The man who throws money to the birds," says the Philosopher of Folly, "has a lot of nerve to pose as a lover of dumb animals."

Back on the Job.
Where are the undesirable habits of the yesterday?—Washington Herald.

H AND M

A True Paint Story that Touches Your Pocketbook

Two houses were built side by side in a little Michigan town. The owner of one bought H and M paint. The other thought he had saved 30c a gallon by buying a mail order paint. The H and M man bought only 12 gallons. The mail order man had to send for two gallons more. At the end of three and a half years the mail order man's house looked so miserable it made every passerby feel sorry for him. And he had to paint again and yet again. It is now at the end of fifteen years and the H and M man is just needing to repaint.

The pocket books of the two men told the story this way:

	Mail Order Man	Hardcore Man
Original paint cost	$18.90	$22.00
Labor	48.00	45.00
Repainting end of 3 1/2 years	18.90
Labor	51.00
Repainting end of 7th year (used good paint this time)	22.00
Labor	45.00

15 years, Total cost,	$203.80	$67.00
Paint cost per gallon	$1.35	$1.85
Cost per year	$3.59	$4.47
