Opera House Crowded
Prof. G. W. E. Hill gave his lecture in the Congregational church Friday night on "The Highways and Byways of Europe" and there was a very good attendance. Everyone was very well pleased with the lecture and when it was announced that he would deliver his lecture on the Passion Play Sunday night in the opera house all those attending Friday night decided to be there. The opera house was crowded, this meeting being one of the largest ever held in this city. Mr. Hill's talk was extremely interesting and instructive. He is an able speaker as shown by the attention given him during his two hours talk.
