THE END OF TUBERCULOSIS

Consumption and Poverty.

By DR. OSCAR H. ROGERS.

Mr. Charles Booth in his notable study of poverty as he found it in the city of London estimates that 30 per cent of all chronic poverty is caused by ill health. It would be a most interesting study to determine by careful research how large a proportion of this ill health which causes poverty is due to consumption alone. If 30 per cent of the deaths among our adult population, taken as a whole, are due to tuberculosis may we not say that at least 50 per cent of deaths among the very poor are due to that disease? My own impression is that that estimate is not too high, that consumption and chronic poverty constitute a vicious circle, each reacting so as to produce the other, and that no real progress may be made in our campaign unless we somehow manage to break this vicious circle. I wish to strongly urge thi. point of view, that our campaign must be directed against the tuberculosis of the very poor. Poverty and ignorance unite to produce those conditions which favor the spread of consumption. Consumption contributes mightily to the poverty and ignorance among us.
