It is false economy that induces people to use cheap butter, cheap meat, cheap flour, and other cheap articles of food. In nine cases out of ten, cheap articles of food are either adulterated or damaged and are dear at any price.

If you want a prosperous town where people can come who are disposed to make homes, than do away with and bury from sight all jealousy and spite work, move for common prosperity and mutual benefit. Wake up, rub your eyes, roll up your sleeves and go to work.

No greater injury can be done a teacher than to condemn her at home in the presence of pupils. There are many—they usually allude to a teacher as a school marm—who persist in believing and encouraging that a school teacher is never to be regarded other than with suspicion.

Our public schools system is a grand one and one of which we may justly feel proud. The value of an education cannot be estimated and the apparent neglect of some of our people to avail themselves of the opportunities afforded for their advancement is a marvel to us. Parents and guardians, see to it that your children attend schools.

Back of the happiness of the season at Easter lies the hope of the soul, the augmenting certainly with which man answers this question. It is one of the oldest of all questions. In the morning glow of time, by the fields of Egypt and the plains of Chaldea, men sought to solve the mystery. The Indian talked of hunting grounds, and the man of business in Chicago and London drops his pencil wondering whether he will have any part of knowledge in the life that will go on when he is gone.

CANDY SALE

RELIGIOUS SERVICES

The services conducted by Rev. Sapp at the court house have been very helpful, a fine discourse being given in honor of the Masons Wednesday evening. The meetings will continue throughout the week excepting Saturday evening. On Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock and 8 o'clock in the evening Rev. Sapp will hold services in the Methodist church and announcements will be made at that time for the following week services.

NORMAL SCHOOL VALLEY CITY

The state normal school at Valley City will open on June 30, according to announcement made by the management this week. This will allow ample time for the students to take the special train which will leave Valley City on July 4 for the meeting of the National Educational Association at St. Paul. Several days will be devoted to the meetings and the many points of educational interest in the Twin Cities.

One of the more than usual features of the coming school will be the work to be offered in rural leadership by an expert of national reputation. While this will be a departure from what has been offered heretofore in this state the management aims in this work to be of immense value in North Dakota especially, where community leadership is considered in the class room. The summer school will also co-operate with the Valley City Chautauqua as in former years presenting each student enrolling for the six weeks with a full season ticket of admission to all of the seventeen days of programs.

It is cheaper to buy wholesome fruits than it is to pay doctor bills. A sweet, juicy orange or a slice of luscious pineapple is more pleasant to "take" than a dose of Calomel. Eat fruit and avoid irritating, weakening purgative medicines. Fruits are nourishing too, and easy to digest. It is absolutely necessary to eat them to "carry off" heavy meats. Our fruits are always the "choicest."

A White Peril in Alaska

Here is a chapter from real life that shows what the uncurbed liquor traffic will do for gain.

Archdeacon Stuck, the man who climbed Mount McKinley, who has made his headquarters at Fort Yukon, tells of almost unbelievable conditions in his big territory.

Dr. Grafton Burke was the most popular man in the Fort Yukon district, until he accepted the position of justice of the peace, an unsalaried position and a thankless one to boot; but since became an officer of the law, he has been the most unpopular.

The "low-down" white has made this district a hissing and a byword. Very soon Dr. Burke came into contact with this element. To give liquor to an Indian in Alaska is a felony. So says the United States Government. But how to punish the crime, which is common, is altogether another matter.

Last winter Dr. Burke bound over three men, one a dissolute youth, another an Indian trader who was accused of giving liquor to Indians, and yet another a white man accused of the same offense. Against the three the grand jury found true bills.

To attend the trial Dr. Burke remained in Alaska after he was entitled to leave of absence. The accused and witnesses were carried 250 miles by dog-sled to Fairbanks, and all three were acquitted.

"The chief commercial power in the land," writes the archdeacon, "is a company that has many stations on the Yukon and its tributaries, and is also the largest wholesale liquor-dealer in the country. It was the attorney of this company who defended the accused men from Fort Yukon; and indirectly and directly the liquor interests in the country, subordinates and principals, are opposed to the laws framed for the protection of the Indians."

The white man with his whiskey is debauching the Indians. At every mission-station for the last five years the death-rate has exceeded the birth-rate.

Liquor and disease—the two go hand in hand among the Indians—are working inevitable havoc with this gentle and kindly race.

We hear much of the vast treasures of Alaska. What of the human souls that are being destroyed by the liquor trade from which the Government draws revenue and for which it is responsible?

When will the people of the United States see that the liquor trade is evil through and through, an ulcerous mass that must be removed from the body politic?
