Big crops, full stomachs and less cussing, is the prediction.

The man who never advertises is like the fisherman who forgets to bait his hook.

"Eat less and live longer," say the doctors. Better still, eat nothing and live forever.

General Villa insists that he was only a chicken bandit. Which may account for his ability to "feather his nest."

"My heart is too powerful, what shall I do?" complained a lady to a local physician, who promptly advised her to give it away.

Is President Wilson lacking in courtesy, or was he just flabbergasted? He neglected to invite the Suffragets to call again.

Although soundly swatted by the unfeeling senate, Mr. Thomas D. Jones has not lived in vain. He has qualified for the lecture platform.

If we thought the country would make half as much fuss over us as they are raising over T. R., we'd bribe some doctor to order us on a vacation.

Madame Caillaux avers she killed Calmette because she did not want to blush before her daughters. Possibly she is leaving the daughters to do the blushing.

Secretary McAdoo reports a treasury surplus of ordinary receipts for the year of $33,784,452. That's good—it's even a better balance sheet than the average country newspaper can show.

Mediation is good, even if it gets no farther than the A-B-C's. A couple of Denver "spoons" exchanged 1,460 love letters during a two years engagement. And still they were married.

Advice to Baldheads

There are so many disconsolate gentlemen with shining pates in this town that we are constrained to give free publicity to the following remedy, which is made public by one of America's famous baldhead specialists:

"Wash the scalp often enough to keep it clean. In the morning take a hairbrush and brush the bald scalp with one hundred strokes. Rub into the scalp a mixture of alboline and oil of capsicum, 16 to 1. Rub in just enough to cause the scalp to feel warm all day. Don't cuss during the operation."

Communities Have Character

Places, no less than persons, have characters and traits and habits of their own. Just as there are colorless people there are colorless communities. There are communities which are strong, self confident, aggressive; others lazy and inert. There are cities which are cultivated; others which crave "culture" but take "culturine" (like someone drinking from the wrong bottle); and still others almost unaware, as yet that esthetic things exist. Some cities seem to fairly smile at you; others are glum and worried like sick men or men with business troubles. And there are doudy cities, and fashionable cities—resembling one another as fashionable women often do. Some cities seem to have an active sense of duty, others not. And almost all cities, like almost all people, seem to be capable alike of baseness and nobility. Some cities are rich and proud like self made millionaires; others by comparison, are poor.

2,000 Silos

That is a decidedly important piece of information that comes from Bismarck says the Fargo Forum in which it is stated that there are 1,000 silos now in use in the state, while that many more are under construction or to be built this summer. A few years ago a silo was almost a curiosity in North Dakota and by the end of the year, according to careful computation and conservative estimate, there will be 2,000 of these symbols of prosperity.

Five years ago the farmers of North Dakota seemed to be wedded to the one crop idea and in many localities the advocate of dairying was laughed at. It was said and believed that the farmers of this state would not "tend cows" that they were well satisfied with wheat raising and would stick to it, at least for many years to come.

Today the names of fifty-one farmers from two North Dakota counties, including two or three from a Montana town, who are taking a trip on a special train through Wisconsin, Minnesota and the southern part of this state to study conditions and methods in states that are noted for dairying. These things prove the adaptability of North Dakota's farmers, their quick intelligence and willingness to take advantage of their opportunities.

Two thousand silos proves a revolutionary change has been accomplished in half a decade, and this is merely the beginning. The silo is the most scientific and economical way of preserving corn and other green foods for cattle. A silo on the farm means that the farmer is engaged, either in dairying or stock raising, generally the former. It means that there will be a big bi-product of food for hogs. It means that the farmer has a steady, all-the-year-round income. It means in short the sure foundation for prosperity.

Nothing has been published in North Dakota this year of greater significance than this statement; regarding silos.

Thought it is—days until the small boy is permitted to shoot his fingers off, burn out an eye and develop tetanus, celebrating the one hundred and thirty-eighth anniversary of this county, it is believed the number of fatalities and accidents will be considerably reduced on account of the sane and safety campaign that has been waged for several years. Safety first in the celebration of the Fourth of July is just as important as it is in the management of railroads, running automobiles, hunting, boating, etc.

WHEAT TAKES BIG JUMP

The European war scare sent wheat up about seven cents Tuesday and although it dropped over two cents yesterday prices are quite liable to remain up and even go higher if Austria and Serbia get into a real war.

WILL IMPROVE PICNIC GROUNDS

MEMBERS OF FARMERS CLUB HAVE SPLENDID PLAN FOR PICNICS EVERY SUNDAY

The name of Dahl's grove Picnic grounds has been changed to the Y. P. S. L. Park.

The people of Williston know that this Y. P. S. L. park is located just on the right hand of the road that goes to the Black Diamond coal mine. Any stranger can find the place by going east from Williston one mile, turn south one mile, then turn east three-fourths mile, then turn southeast through the brush and across a little creek and there you are at the Y. P. S. L. Park. This creek is about half a mile from the main road after you turn south-east through the brush.

The Y. P. S. L. Farmers' Club have planned to hold a free for all Picnic at that park every Sunday afternoon for the rest of the summer. They aim to assemble at Two p. m. and have lunch at Five p. m. All persons who wish to spend an afternoon with us and get acquainted with their neighbors are invited to come.

Some people think they cannot afford to go to picnics because it costs too much to prepare a picnic dinner. To overcome any such difficulty the lunch committee has prepared the following bill of fare: Sandwiches, which can be made of bread cut from the loaf and filled with butter and fried egg or pork or cheese or sliced bologna or weeny. Potato salad, baked beans, a few pickles and each a piece of pie and slice of cake, if you cannot find time to prepare the salads, etc., bring a couple dozen slices of bread and butter and the committee will fit you out for the rest. Each person bring his own tin plate and drinking cup. The league furnishes the spoons. One lemon to each person will make lemonade enough so that all may have plenty to drink during luncheon. If a house-keeper on the farm has no lemons they can be obtained by speaking to the lunch committee at the park. Each house-keeper is a table waiter at luncheon time.

All those who bring no lunch—the bachelor, for instance—need not feel that they are imposing on others by eating all they can hold, because a collection will be taken and all the money so raised that is not used for provisions will be spent for additional improvements of the park; which shall be: hammocks for infants, ropes for swings, croquet sets, tennis courts, etc., etc.

All those who want nic-nacs, such as peanuts, popcorn, ice-cream or lemonade before the luncheon can buy these at the refreshment stand. The profits from these things are also to be used for improving the park. If money enough could be raised a bowery floor might be built.

Base-ball, footraces, songs, recitations and voluntary speeches will be the attractions for the adults.

Do not forget the place; it is on the road to the Black-Diamond coal mine. Bring your family and have a good time.

C. D. Kauffman.

EXPERIMENTAL FARM PICNIC

Many farmers and citizens of Williston enjoyed the annual picnic at the Experimental farm Saturday. While the day was extremely warm it did not seem to prevent the people visiting the farm and enjoying the music and talks by Mr. Bruegger and others on the program. The farm is in excellent condition this year and is a place of beauty and a joy forever to Williston county citizens.

FARMERS CREAMERY MEETING

The Farmers Creamery and Produce Company will hold a general stockholders meeting at one o'clock p. m., Wednesday, August 5th at the Court House in Williston, N. D., for the purpose of adopting constitution and by-laws of the company and such other business as may come up before the meeting. It is imperatively necessary that all stockholders be present.

HACKS WAY TO FREEDOM Mandan, N. D., July 25.—Roy Williams, alleged horse thief, escaped from the Morton county jail early today, picking his way through a brick wall with the aid of a screwdriver. Jack Guyer, the only other jail occupant, said he was asleep when Williams escaped and that he had no knowledge of his fellow prisoner's plans. Williams was accused of complicity in the stealing of eleven horses at Cannon Ball.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Lowe left Tuesday morning for Forest River, N. D., to spend a few days with relatives. They went in their Maxwell car and expect to be accompanied home by their two children who have been visiting several weeks in that city.

Mrs. A. D. Paulson went to Culbertson last Friday where she met her husband with his car. They visited in Sidney Mont., with Misses Verna Sharp and Vera Major, and also in Moline with the family of Lem Burns and returned home Sunday.

Mr. K. Lindseth has returned from a three weeks vacation spent with relatives and friends in Bemidji, Minn., and is again in charge of the shoe department at Hedderich's store. Mr. Lindseth reports a pleasant trip, but fishing very poor as the lakes are too high.

Master Leon Woodrow Settle celebrated his second birthday yesterday when an elaborate dinner was served at the home of his grand-mother, Mrs. Mary Leonhardy. Only the relatives were present to enjoy the occasion. The dinner was served on the front porch and was up to high standard. The birthday cake contained two lighted candles which made a pretty addition to the table. Several useful gifts were presented to Leon by the guests present. It was a very pleasant event.

DANCING PARTY

One of the most enjoyable events of the season occurred Tuesday evening at the I. O. O. F. hall when Miss Alice Borden entertained in honor of her friend, Miss Helen Elkin of Mayville and cousin, Mr. Thos. Borden of St. Paul.

Dancing was enjoyed by about 75 guests to the delightful strains of music rendered by Prof. O'Hanlon's orchestra.

Sweet peas and nasturtiums were used to decorate the hall and a very pretty effect was secured.

Refreshing frappe and wafers were served throughout the evening by Mesdames Borden and Hardaway.

Miss Elkin gave two vocal selections: "The Japanese Maiden" from "The Toy Shop," by Jessie L. Gaynor, and "From the Land of the Sky Blue Water," by Chas. Wakefield Cadman, which were most heartily appreciated. She was accompanied by Miss Snell of Miles City, Mont.

Mr. Thos. Borden was not present, having been suddenly summoned home.

The evening was indeed a pleasant one and Miss Borden proved herself a charming entertainer.

A party of thirty-four young ladies took their dinner baskets and went to the country club house Sunday afternoon, for an outing, and from all reports they surely enjoyed it. They made the trip on a hay wagon and the time was spent in bathing, wading and other sports too numerous to mention. They enjoyed a big dinner and returned home in the cool of the evening very much refreshed.

The Rebecca's meeting last Wednesday evening was highly enjoyable. Mrs. E. Lewis Wall rendered a solo, and the Halvorsen sisters sang a duet. Light refreshments were served. The installation takes place at the next meeting.

HELPING HAND CLUB DANCE

The Helping Hand Club of the Muddy Valley will give a barn dance at the Axel Carlson farm four miles up the valley on the evening of August 6th. Ice cream and cake will be served. The price of admission will be fifty cents. Williston people who have attended barn dances given by this club remember them as most enjoyable evenings and will be glad of the opportunity of taking in another dance.

MARRIED

A very pretty but yet a very unostentatious affair took place at the M. E. parsonage Saturday afternoon, July 25th, when Herbert Musgrove and Helen Watkins both of this city were joined in the holy bonds of matrimony by the Rev. E. Lewis Wall. The couple was attended by C. W. Hawkins and Miss Mabel Westgard. Mr. and Mrs. Musgrove will reside in Williston where they are so favorably and popularly known.

Good Suggestion To Williston People

It is surprising the amount of old, foul matter the simple mixture of buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., known as Adler-ka, drains from the system. This remedy became famous by curing appendicitis and acts on BOTH the upper and lower bowel so thoroughly that ONE DOSE relieves sour stomach, gas on the stomach and constipation almost IMMEDIATELY. We are mighty glad we are Williston agents for Adler-ka. The Williston Drug Co. 6.

T. R. Reads PENROD IN SPITE OF REPORTERS AND DIPLOMATS

Col. Roosevelt on his way to Washington Engrossed in Penrod

Says the New York Times Editorially: "That Colonel Roosevelt, on a day crowded with so many activities as was Tuesday for him, should yet have found it necessary to fill in with reading the few minutes when there were no demands upon his attention or energy, is perhaps more illuminating as to his mental traits than is the periodical yearning for some big thing like a hunt in Africa or the exploration of the Amazon Valley. The book into which he plunged when opportunity offered, and emerged when necessity compelled, was Mr. Tarkington's 'Penrod.' Perhaps he thought that he was getting exact information about boys, a not unimportant subject, from Mr. Tarkington's amusing narrative. All the accredited critics seem to have taken the same view, and of course the critics must be right."

T. R. understands boys among other people, and we'll wager he enjoyed
