

A WOMAN WITH A DOLLAR

Can do a whole lot at this store, during this great fall clearance sale, for it is THE STORE for women, and the dollar goes a long way and gathers much in return. Women find here all the newest creations gathered from the world's famous fashion centers. Coats, furs, fur sets, suits, dresses, skirts, waists and furnishings, in fact everything in ladies and misses ready-to-wear apparel, at prices that are making this the most popular sale ever held in Williston. Women are the shoppers of the family, and upon them devolves the responsibility of economic buying, and that is the reason of the success of this sale.

"Militarism" is influencing the styles, and it will interest women who want suits priced between $15 and $30 to learn of some last minute arrivals at this store. They are fresh from their New York makers, and quite the prettiest models we have had at these prices this season.

The new suits are in broadcloths, serges, garbarines and diagonals, and the colors are dark—African brown, black, Russian green and the universally becoming navy blue.

Ladies and Misses Exclusive Outfitters
Union Block, Williston, N. D.

Smart coats in new snug models in Scotch and English tweeds, novelty plaids, broadcloths, chevots and zibelines. Loose flare coats; semi-fitted, or straight line coats—with novelty side and all around belts. Self materials or velvet shawl collars. Not often found at $18.50.

"Smaller waists—yes, but never the old-fashioned 'wasp' again. Modern women are much too sensible," said one of our corsetieres, while discussing the rumor that this season would see the return of the "little" waist.

HALLOWEEN PARTY

The B and T Club celebrated Halloween Friday evening by having an elaborate supper in the Library hall. The hall was decorated for the occasion and the room looked like the "Haunt of the Witches" for witches were everywhere even to on a broomstick over the fireplace.

The table was appropriately decorated and the entertainment committee proved their originality in the many and varied Halloween decorations. After supper the music and card playing until home going time.

OFFICERS ELECTED

The new organization of the Kappa Sigma Pi among the boys met at the Pastor's Study of the Congregational Church and elected the following officers for a term of six months: Chaplain Rev. E. S. Shaw; Assistant Chaplain Howard McDonald; Chancellor Hubert Jaynes; Vice Chancellor Robert Milloy; Scribe Harold Keyes; Purser Maurice Van Derhoef; Constable Clifford Gordon; Sentinel Leslie Woodworth. The organization starts out with nineteen charter members. The officers will be installed at a public service in the near future. Next Monday night will be initiation night and as all the members have to be initiated the officers will be initiated by E. R. Brownson, A. J. Field, Howard McDonald and Rev. Shaw and then they will initiate the rest of the charter members.

Cheer Up!

There may be no hell—after all. Besides, if you live well and dress well now you will have less to regret in the "future." A man ought to aspire to be a decent looking corps no matter where he was found dead. We not only make good clothes, but we make them a little better than the other fellow, and we use the only process in the northwest for French Dry Cleaning—and know how to do the work—and that's the reason we not only do a "little better" job but a GREAT DEAL better job.

Let us fix you up before it is too late for you to appreciate it. You'll think a whole lot more of yourself now than you will after the undertaker has shot you full of preserving fluid.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

"Our Trip to Sidney"

The trip to Sidney was made in Autos which helped to make it more pleasant than if it had been made by rail. We met at the High School building at eight o'clock in the morning, and after five or ten minutes of leading and placing, were soon on our way. Three members of the faculty went along, Miss Roe, Mr. Vettle and Mr. Wait. Nothing unusual occurred until we were somewhere between Buford and Mondak, when a blowout from the head car caused a few minutes delay. We were soon on our way, and in a short time arrived at the ferry. The boat was just large enough to accommodate the five cars we had so we had an even start from the other side of the river. We noticed that as soon as we struck Montana the wind started to blow and it kept up until we returned.

We arrived in Sidney about 11:30 and enjoyed looking over the town until noon. After a good dinner we went to the field for a little work out. The game was called at 3 and everything went off well our opponents never scoring on us. The trip was as pleasant going back as the one going up. We all arrived safely in Williston in time for the Halloween party.

The party given by the High school faculty was well attended and every one seemed to have a splendid time. The library hall was beautifully decorated with pumpkins, black cats, witches and things of that sort. At the door we were met by a witch and we had to jump over a broom and then the Ghost greeted us. At first we were told we could have some popcorn if we would speak four lines of poetry without laughing and, of course, all could do that when they heard about the corn. After that we met the Fly family and had our fortunes told which caused considerable excitement. The Fishing pond and blowing out of candles were enjoyed by every one. We then sat down and listened to several reports of the game between Sidney and Williston. After a delicious luncheon and the Grand march we departed.

Mr. Todd was a visitor at the high school all day Friday and Mrs. Townsend Friday afternoon.

RECLAMATION EXTENSION ACT

WATER USERS AND OWNERS GIVEN CHOICE OF PAYING ACCRUED CHARGES OR TERMS OF NEW LAW

It is generally known that since 1910 the farms under the Williston and Buford-Trenton units, known as the North Dakota Pumping Project, have been on an operation and maintenance basis; that is, practically none of the construction costs have been collected.

From year to year terms have been made by public notice setting aside the date of cancellation of water rights, for non-payment of charges and those availing themselves of these terms have signified their willingness to accept an increased building charge to be announced later.

During the past year owners and occupants of irrigated lands on all the projects and in all parts of the country, with the co-operation of the Secretary of the Interior and Reclamation Service officials, have been working to secure the passage of legislation to relieve conditions on all projects. These efforts have been rewarded by the passage of the Reclamation Extension Act, which provided for the repayment of construction charges in twenty years instead of ten years as required by the original act.

Based upon the new law, the Secretary of the Interior issued a general public notice setting forth the general terms applicable to all projects, and has sent the following letter to all water users of the Williston and Buford-Trenton projects:

Washington, D. C., Oct. 6, 1914.

Gentlemen:

There is enclosed to you herewith a copy of the first public notice issued under the terms of the Reclamation Extension Act. The terms of this notice are such as to dispel any fears that may have existed concerning the intent of the Department relative to the so-called increased construction charges on Reclamation Projects. It is not a condition of the extension of time that you shall agree to pay a higher construction charge. You are entitled to the extension of time on the charges at present fixed. It is required, however, under the terms of the Reclamation Extension Act, that you shall sign an acceptance binding yourselves to pay an increased charge only and when a majority of the water users on the project shall, after that increased charge has been determined upon, agree that the increased charge shall be paid.

It is desired to have a review of the expenditures made on the project and this review may result in a lower construction charge or it may result in a higher construction charge. Your representative on the board will be there to protect your interests. The charge which this board may determine is a proper charge will not be binding upon you under the terms of the public notice herein enclosed until it has been submitted to you and to all the water users for their consent and agreement. If and when this increased or lower charge is submitted to you the majority of the water users shall agree that it is a just and proper charge, which they are willing to pay, then all will be held for it.

The local board of review which it is my purpose to appoint will consist of an accountant and an engineer whom I shall appoint and a member whom I shall appoint and a member (Continued on page 11)
