J. E. MARTIN DEAD Supt. of Schools F. J. Steffek received a telegram Wednesday morning to the effect that J. E. Martin, brother of County Surveyor and County Supt. of High-ways Charles R. Martin, had died at Hot Springs, Arkansas, Tutaday. The deceased is one of the pioneers of this part of the country, having filed on and proved up a homestead near Berg some ten years ago. Until he was taken to Hot Springs about two weeks ago he had been treated in Rochester and Minneapolis hospitals. His wife and father were with him at the time of his death. His brother, Charles, is in Williston with his wife who is being treated in a hospital there. The deceased will be buried in Spring Valley, Wisconsin.

Since the beginning of the year, the Martin family have had a series of sorrows. A brother died very suddenly about the first of the year and a week later the mother succumbed to a stroke of paralysis brought on by the shock of her son's death.—Schafer Record.

WHAT BROUGHT $100,000,000 DEFICIT In ten months of the current fiscal year, the United States Treasury deficit has passed $100,000,000. Extravagance beyond precedent and a reckless disregard of world conditions by our federal Administration have brot this country to the humiliating position of a wasteful and spendthrift. Any ordinary corporation which spent $11 when it had only $10 to spend would invite the charge of being grossly mismanaged. The Underwood tariff bill largely controls our customs receipts and they had fallen $73,000,000 up to the end of last week. It is estimated however, that the income and corporation taxes and the extraordinary tax disguised under the misleading name of a war tax will more than offset the decrease in duties paid by foreign merchandise. But that huge Democratic treasury deficit may be charged up against a willful derayal of the principle of economy which every sane person and well-regulated business must observe in times of financial stress.

The last Congress scattered money like the traditional drunken sailor. It failed to do what every business in the land was forced to do, which was to economize. And that is the true reason for the treasury deficit. A congress which enacted drastic laws and presumed to sit in judgment upon the integrity and management of every enterprise in the land was itself than a vast majority of all whose capacity it called in question. A deficit of $100,000,000 in time of peace is an indictment which the Democratic party cannot escape. It will return to plague it next year.—Philadelphia Ledger.

LIBRARY NOTES The library has received this week from the Panama-Pacific Exposition "An Announcement of Congresses, Conferences and Conventions" to be held in connection with the Exposition. It is a very convenient and compact book and has considerable general information, besides the conference announcements; as to rates and routes, hotel reservations, etc., all "official" information. "The library at the "Exposition" forms a separate pamphlet of considerable interest. The American Library Association is in session at Berkeley this week.

THE EDITOR Consider the editor. He weareth purple and fine linen. His abode is amongst the mansions of the rich. His wife hath her limousine and his first-born sporteth a racing car that can hit her up in forty flat. Lo! All the people breaketh their necks to hand him money. A child is born unto the wife of a merchant in the bazaar. The physician getteth ten golden plunks. The editor writeth a stick and a half and telleth the multitude that the child tippeth the beam at nine pounds. And the proud father giveth him a cremo. Behold, the young one groweth up and graduateth. And the editor putteth into his paper a swell notice. Yea, a peach of a notice. He telleth of the wisdom of the young woman, and of her exceeding comeliness. Like unto the roses of Sharon is she and her gown is played to beat the band. And the dressmaker getteth two score and four iron men. And the editor getteth a note of thanks from the S. G. G. The daughter goeth a journey. And the editor throweth himself on the story of the farewell party. It runneth a column, solid. And the fair one remembereth him from afar with a picture postal card that costeth six for a penny. Behold, the returneth and the youth of the city fall down and worship. She picketh one and Lo, she picketh a lemon. But the editor calleth him one of our most promising young men and getteth away with it. And they send unto him a bid to the wedding feast and behold, the bids are fashioned by Muntgummary Hawbuck, in a far city. Flowery and long is the wedding notice which the editor printeth. The minister getteth ten bones. The groom standeth the editor off for a twelve-month subscription. All flesh is grass and in time the wife is gathered into the silo. The minister getteth his bit. The editor printeth a death notice, two columns of obituary, three lodge notices, a cubit of poetry and a card of thanks. And he forgetteth to read proof on the head, and the darned thing cometh out "Gone to Her Last Roasting Place."

And all that are akin to the deceased jumpeth on the editor with exceeding great jumps. And they pull out their ads and cancelleth their subscriptions and they swing the hammer unto the third and four generations. Canst thou beat it?

THE DOG I've never known a dog to wag His tail in glee he didn't feel, Nor quit his old-time friend, to tag At someone influential heel. The yellowest cur I ever knew Was, to the boy who loved him, true.

I've never known a dog to show Half-way devotion to his friend; To seek a kinder man to know, Or richer, but unto the end The humblest dog I ever knew Was, to the man who loved him, true.

I've never known a dog to fake Affection for a present gain— A false display of love to make, Some little favor to attain. I've never known a Prince or Spot That seemed to be what he was not.

But I have known a dog to fight With all his strength to shield a friend, And, whether wrong or whether right, To stick with him until the end. And I have known a dog to lick The hand of him that men would kick.

And I have known a dog to bear Starvation's pangs from day to day With him who had been glad to share His bread and meat along the way. No dog, however mean or rude, Is guilty of ingratitude.

The dog is listed with the dumb. No voice he has to speak his creed. His messages to humans come By faithful conduct; and by creed He shows, as seldom mortals do, A high ideal of being true. —American Field.

HUNDREDS VISIT GRAVES OF DEAD MEMORIAL DAY OBSERVED BY ALL—STORES CLOSED—AD DRESS BY REV. BATTEN

Memorial day was fittingly observed by Williston citizens Monday when hundreds turned out to pay homage to the living and dead veterans of the civil war.

The days ceremonies were begun at ten thirty in the Congregational church where hundreds were gathered in honor of the occasion.

Capt. Henry of the Militia company made a short opening address and the invocation was pronounced by Rev. Batten.

Miss Baldwin sang a beautiful patriotic song entitled "Land of Hope and Glory," by Edward Elgar, and every one hearing it was made to feel more patriotic and loyal to the flag and their home country.

The address of the day was delivered by Rev. Batten and was one of the best ever heard in Williston.

Music was furnished by the Williston Band. After the services at the cemetery where the graves of the veterans were decorated.

We had intended to print Rev. Batten's address in full this week but owing to lack of room we are compelled to leave it over but will be pleased to produce it in full in our next issue.

Muffins

By Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill, Editor of the Boston Cooking School Magazine.

When muffins are on the breakfast table, nobody cares for meat or eggs and they would be served more often if this meal were not prepared so hurriedly that there is no time to make them. If K C, the double-raise baking powder is used, the batter may be stirred up the night before, put in the pan ready for baking and nothing to do in the morning but bake them.

One-Egg Muffins 2 cups flour; 2 slightly rounded teaspoonsful K C Baking Powder; 1 teaspoonful salt; 1/2 cup sugar; 1/2 cup melted butter or lard; 1 egg; 1 cup water or milk.

Sift dry ingredients together three times. Add to this the unbeaten egg, melted shortening and water or milk. Then beat all together until perfectly smooth. Oil muffin or gem pans and have oven slow until the muffins come to the top of the pan, then increase the heat to bake and brown the muffins. This recipe makes 12 large muffins. Raisins or currants may be added if desired.

Graham Muffins 1 cup graham flour; 1 cup pastry flour; 2 level teaspoonsful K C Baking Powder; 1 1/2 level tablespoonsful sugar; 1/2 teaspoonful salt; 1 egg; 1/2 cups milk or water; 2 to 3 tablespoonsful melted butter; mix and bake as One-Egg Muffins.

Graham batter should always be quite soft to insure light and moist muffins. To get 88 other recipes as good as these, send us the certificate packed in every 25-cent can of K C Baking Powder, and we will send you "The Cook's Book" by Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill. Handsomely illustrated. Jaques Mfg. Co., Chicago.
