NAMBY PAMBY

By JUDGE WILLIS BROWN

WANTED.—A BOY; GOOD POSITION for a boy who can do a job; no namby pamby boy need apply.

NOW, if any boy or young man should read a sign like the above and know that the first question which would be asked of him would be "What have you ever done?" would he apply for the job?

What would you call a namby pamby boy? I think you would immediately say, "Why, a fellow who did nothing worth while."

Some would say, "Oh, a namby pamby boy is one who never knows just what he thinks or what to do."

No boy wants to be called a namby pamby man when he grows up, and yet the boy who has never accomplished anything worth while is going to be that namby pamby man.

It's a good thing for every boy to find out now that he is going to grow into the man who does things. This means success.

Guessing About Future. Too many boys and girls are guessing what they will be in later years. Mr. Carnegie claims that he made his fortune because in the beginning of his business career he would not employ a man who was not conscious that he had done something.

Some years ago a young fellow made a bet that he could start out in this world without a thing, not even clothing, and make his way across the country, paying for his expenses, and have a thousand dollars to the good at the end of his journey.

A Paper Suit of Clothes. He was placed in a room in a hotel and his clothes taken from him. In a short time he appeared dressed in a suit made of newspapers. So neatly was this suit made that great crowds followed the man, and he earned enough money by exhibiting the suit in the window of a clothing store with which to purchase a suit of real clothes.

He was offered over fifty positions the first day, these representing every line of business. He accepted a position as traveling salesman for a large concern, which wanted a man to travel to the Pacific coast, stopping at the largest cities en route. His salary amounted to enough to give him the thousand dollars profit when he landed in San Francisco.

This man won his bet in one day, not because he made a suit out of newspapers, but because he did something and proved that he was confident he could succeed. Many boys and girls and parents—yes, and teachers—imagine that a young person should not begin to do real things until he knows just what kind of work he expects to follow. So boys and girls wait around, and some of them even go to a specialist in endeavors to find out what they are best fitted for.

The emblem of achievement which you are entitled to wear is the best recommendation for employment and for recognition in all walks of life which you can possibly have.

Schools to Give Credit. By and by the public schools will recognize and give credits for the things a boy and girl can do outside of school hours.

We mark the division between the boy who is paid for work in prizes of all kinds and who stands around waiting for some one to entertain him and the boy who has good red blood, who gets there on his own effort and who wants no one to kiddle him and patronize him and hire him to be something worth while.

Brings Out Good Qualities. THIS picture shows one of the bright high school lads of the country holding a model aeroplane which he constructed himself, from propeller to rudder.

The building of the little machine is an evidence of the spirit which means achievement, for it stimulates to bigger, more useful things in the world life which follows school days. The lad cannot fly in his aeroplane, but he can produce it as testimony to his willingness and ability to do worth while things when the proper time arrives.

PROUD OF HIS MODEL AEROPLANE. means achievement, for it stimulates to bigger, more useful things in the world life which follows school days. The lad cannot fly in his aeroplane, but he can produce it as testimony to his willingness and ability to do worth while things when the proper time arrives.

LIBERAL PRIZES FOR ROAD PHOTOGRAPHS

NAT'L HIGHWAYS ASS'N WANTS PICTURES SHOWING CONTRASTING CONDITIONS

Washington, D. C.—A nation-wide photographic contest in the interest of the "Good Roads Everywhere" movement, with cash prizes of $2,600 open to everybody, was announced at the National Highways Association headquarters here.

Purpose of the Contest. The photographs selected in the competition will be used to establish in Washington a national exhibit on the good roads problem designed primarily to promote a nationally conceived scheme of highways.

In connection with the pending legislation in Congress to have the federal government shoulder a part of the task of "good roads" construction, the National Highways Association, it is explained, desires to have adopted a plan for a system of national highways, surveyed and located by expert engineers, so that federal funds will not be spent in a hit or miss "pork barrel" fashion, but in accordance with a scientific plan as any railroad is built or as the Government itself did in the case of the Panama Canal.

By means of the photographic contest it is proposed to gather a complete picture of the good and bad road problem as it exists in every section of the country, and this the Association will use in its effort to obtain scientific "non-pork" legislation from Congress.

Prizes to be Awarded. The cash prizes of $2,600 were subscribed by General Coleman du Pont, Chairman of the Board of National Councilors, and Charles Henry Davis, President of the National Highways Association. The competition will be known as the du Pont-Davis Road Photograph Contest.

The first prize, to be given for the most striking (good or bad) road photograph, will be a $500 cash prize awarded.

There will be 5 second prizes of $100 each, 20 third prizes of $25 each, 40 fourth prizes of $15 each, and 100 fifth prizes of $5 each, making 166 chances in all for each person entering the contest.

The competition will be kept open for eight months, closing at noon, Tuesday, November 7th. All photographs should be addressed to "Good Roads Everywhere" Photograph Contest, National Highways Association, Washington, D. C.

Discusses Photographs Desired. Discussing the photographic contest on Good Roads, General du Pont of the National Highways Association said today: "The purpose of our Association in this matter is to see to it that, when Uncle Sam enters upon this work of road building, he starts off on the right road. The 'good roads' issue is a national problem as well as a state and county problem. Whatever the federal government does in this matter should be done on a national basis—upon a plan nationally conceived."

"Every member of Congress knows the 'good roads' problem in his district or State, of course, but we want to have him know it nationally. We have inaugurated this photographic contest as a first step in this direction and we believe that with the assistance of all Americans interested in the good roads problem we can make it a very important step. An exhibit of photographs picturing the good roads problem as it exists in every section of the country will make a most graphic and forceful lesson."

"We want the subjects of the photographs in this contest to demonstrate not only how bad roads are, and how good they can be made, but also what it means to the welfare of every man, woman and child in the United States to have good roads. For instance, we all know that a country school house located in a district of good roads has a far better attendance of pupils than a school in a district of bad roads. Consequently it would be of great value in our contest to have photographs giving a picture lesson to the eyes of our law makers of what it means to children in our rural districts to have their school house located on good roads. This is only one idea that has come to me. There are hundreds of such lessons on the value of good roads which can be taught by photographs."

"Perhaps the best way to do this is through photographs contrasting good and bad road conditions. We will arrange out exhibit to do that, but in order to allow individual competitors to take advantage of some such striking contrast as may have come to their attention, the Association has not limited competitors to one photograph, or to one prize. Each competitor can send in as many photographs as he wishes, and he will get as many prizes as his work deserves."

"Photographs will be judged first upon their merit in strikingly emphasizing road conditions (good or bad), second in their pictorial interest, and third in their photographic excellence."

OLDER BUT STRONGER. To be healthy at seventy, prepare at forty, is sound advice, because in the strength of middle life we too often forget that neglected colds, or careless treatment of slight aches and pains, simply undermine strength and bring chronic weakness for later years.

To be stronger when older, keep your blood pure and rich and active with the strength-building and blood-nourishing properties of Scott's Emulsion which is a food, a tonic and a medicine to keep your blood rich, alleviate rheumatism and avoid sickness. No alcohol in Scott's.

HOW TO SECURE THE EMBLEM OF ACHIEVEMENT

Any boy or any girl under the age of eighteen years who has ever done anything worth while can send in a report of any achievement or achievements, together with proof of same. The endorsement of any reputable adult is required, preferably the teacher or principal of the public school attended if school is in session and the applicant for the emblem is a pupil.

The national committee has provided that certain papers throughout the country shall be the official representatives of the movement. Therefore this report of achievement can be sent direct to the paper in your community or district which represents the Achievement movement, to the principal of the school attended, to the business or civic organization interested in promoting the work in any local community, or direct to the national committee headquarters in Chicago.

If the Achievement is considered worthy of recognition a first certificate will be granted. This certificate is issued by the national committee and bears the signature of the president of the national committee, together with the Achievement seal. Accompanying this certificate will be the emblem of Achievement, which contains one star and places for four additional stars.

For the second Achievement a like report must be made, and the emblem must accompany the report. If this is granted a certificate will be issued. This certificate will be signed by the president of the business or civic or educational organization under whose auspices the movement is conducted in any community. Then an additional star will be permanently fastened in the emblem, and this, with the additional certificate, will be returned to the boy or girl to whom issued.

For the third Achievement, when the report is made and emblem returned for the additional star, the certificate will be signed by the mayor of the city. The fourth star is represented by a certificate called the governor's certificate and is signed by the governor of the state.

The fifth Achievement is represented by a diamond star and a president's certificate issued at Washington.
