GRAPHIC STORY ADVERTISES WILLISTON

Quoting from the columns of the Graphic the story of the No-Vary banquet given for Williston's pennant winning ball team by the Williston Grocery Company, No-Vary Vim, the sparkling little trade magazine that spreads the news of the popularity of No-Vary products all over the Northwest, gives Williston a neat piece of advertising. A good picture of the Williston Opportunes calls attention to the story and to the fact that the City of Opportunity has the enterprize to support the best ball team in the state.

LOHRKE & MURPHY

Thos. B. Murphy who has just completed a term as register of Williston Land office has entered into partnership with E. A. Lohrke for the practice of law. Within a few days they will establish themselves in offices in the Union Block. Mr. Lohrke has been practicing in Williston several years and for a time was in partnership with Wm. G. Owens. Mr. Murphy during his registership in the land office has become widely acquainted in the community and made many friends. The new firm will undoubtedly receive a liberal share of the local practice.

MARRIAGE LICENSES

The following marriage licenses have been issued from the probate judge's office:

Elmer M. Targeson of Epping and Miss Anna L. Lewis of Spring Brook were united in marriage by Judge A. L. Butler at his office September 25. Sept. 30—Thos. E. Gordon of Floweree, Mont., and Miss Mary May Hartsock of Hofflund.

Oct. 2nd—James L. Putman and Miss Annie E. Walla, both of Tioga.

IN CLOVER

Clover is a wonderful word. Besides being the name of one of the most useful of plants it is, without the final letter, the name of an aromatic bud that keeps peace in some of the best regulated families. Without the initial letter the word becomes the leading character in many a story. Leave off both the first and second letters and this story is over.
